Dedication

Dr. Howard Shimer Seip, A. B., A. M., D. D. S.

THE Junior Class of 1927 is very proud to dedicate this Ciarla to a most worthy, honorable and loyal supporter of Muhlenberg College. Not only has he endeared himself to the hearts of those who have the "Muhlenberg Spirit" within them, but also to many people of Allentown and we may well say to not a few people of far distant cities.

Dr. Howard Shimer Seip, the son of Reverend Theodore Lorenzo Seip, D.D., the third president of Muhlenberg College, and his wife Emma E. Seip, was born at Bath, Pennsylvania, September 17, 1866. He received his early education in the Academic Department of Muhlenberg College. His education in later youth was received at Muhlenberg College, from which he graduated June 25, 1885. He divided the Sophomore botanical prize with D. E. Brunner. He was a member of the Euterpean Literary Society. Dr. Seip also took a course in the Dental Department of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, and graduated in 1887 with the degree of D. D. S.

Dr. Seip opened an office in Allentown, Pennsylvania, and in the course of a few years succeeded in establishing an excellent practice. He married Anna E. Anewalt of Allentown, Pennsylvania, April 15, 1890. To this union two children were born, namely, Theodore Anewalt Seip and Hilda Seip, now Mrs. Robert W. Trexler. The son, Theodore A. Seip, was a member of the class of 1918 in Muhlenberg until Christmas of his senior year, when ill health compelled him to relinquish his work. He had inherited his father's and grandfather's deep interest in Muhlenberg College in full measure and up to his last hour, Muhlenberg was always his favorite topic of conversation. He died October 24, 1925, age 29 years.

Dr. Seip was president of the Alumni Association of the Dental Department of the University of Pennsylvania, 1889-90. He read a paper entitled "Dental Association" before the Alumni Association of the University.

He was elected president of the Susquehanna Dental Association May 1892.

The other associations and connections which name Dr. Seip as their member reveal the high esteem in which he is held by a host of friends, for whom he in turn holds the same regard. Dr. Seip is a member of the Lehigh Valley Dental Society; the Pennsylvania State Dental Society and served as its president in 1914; the American Dental Association; the Allentown Dental Society, and an associate member of the First District Society of New York City. He is also a member of the Stomatological Club of Philadelphia, a member of the Art Club of Philadelphia, a member of the Livingston Club, Allentown, and a member of St. John's Lutheran Church.

Dr. Seip is best known by the students of Muhlenberg College as the president of the Athletic Association, which position he has held since its organization. He has been a member of the Board of Trustees of the same institution continually from the year 1904 until now.

Therefore, the Class of 1927 of Muhlenberg College, deems it fitting and proper that this book be dedicated to such a true and loyal son of its Alma Mater.

H. Goldstein - 27

*"Beautiful art thou, when blossoms of Springtime
Perfume the air;
Bright are thy lawns after showers of summer
So bright and fair."*

*"And life just slips its tether,
When the boys here get together."*

*"Here Mublenberg spirit shall forever reign,
And may her sons ne'er bring on her disdain,
But honor ever and ever."*

*"And yet amid the swelling stream of fond desire
My heart still ever turns to thee."*

*"And dreaming, as it were, beld brotherly speech,
With those whose thoughts we had not hoped to reach."*

*"Trees that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in their hair;
Upon whose bosoms snows have lain;
Who intimately live with rain."*

*DECEASED

EADULLY

REV. JOHN A. W. HAAS, D.D., LL.D.

President; Professor of Religion and Philosophy

Born at Philadelphia, Pa., August 31, 1862. Prepared at Parochial School, Zion's Church and Protestant Episcopal Academy. A.B., University of Pennsylvania, 1884. Mt. Airy Theological Seminary, ordained 1887. Phi Beta Kappa. University of Leipsic, 1887-88. D.D., Thiel College, 1902. Fourth President of Muhlenberg, 1904. LL.D., University of Pennsylvania, 1914.

The expression of Dr. Haas's personality has imbued Muhlenberg College with that spirit which was made for progress and the establishment of intellectual prestige. Muhlenberg is proud of the honor in having Dr. Haas as its intellectual and spiritual leader as well as its efficient administrator.

Our president's idea of a Greater Muhlenberg is rapidly approaching its culmination, caused largely by his arduous labors in the recent Million Dollar Drive. Through Dr. Haas's efforts Muhlenberg has last year been admitted to the Approved list of American Universities and has widened and strengthened its influence in its plan of the education of its share of American youth.

The Author's Club of London has recognized Dr. Haas's eminence as a philosopher and author by making him a member. He is also a prominent leader of the Lutheran Church. His facile and prolific pen has recently given birth to a new book.

Dr. Haas, through his vivid repartee in personal conversation with "the boys," has a deep sympathetic understanding of student difficulties on the campus. He has won the confidence and affection of the student body. Recalcitrant students are swept into willing submission by his persuasive admonitions in the Chapel.

Dr. Haas's intimate association with the men of Muhlenberg has assisted in the formation of that morale so essential to the smooth working of an institution. May Dr. Haas remain with us long and continue to give renown to Muhlenberg College.

GEORGE T. ETTINGER, Ph.D., Litt. D.

Dean; Professor of the Latin Language and Literature

Born at Allentown, Pa., November 8, 1860. Prepared at Private School and the Academic Department of Muhlenberg College. A.B. (Valedictorian), Muhlenberg College, 1883. Principal of the Academic Department, 1884-92. Ph.D., New York University, 1891. President of the Muhlenberg Alumni Association. Professor of Latin and Pedagogy, 1898-1917. Professor of Latin since 1917. Litt.D., Muhlenberg College, 1920.

Our beloved Dean, as he has been so aptly called, is the living emblem of what Muhlenberg stands for. He exemplifies and upholds the worthiest traditions of the college. His long association with the institution, as a student a half century ago, and later as a professor, gives to his opinion the authority and prestige that is essential to the paternal guidance of the students.

The Dean extends his influence particularly to the lower classmen, in the realization that they are the ones later to determine the student body policies.

Dr. Ettinger's principal scholastic interest is Latin and there has been many a race between the refractory student's Latin Horse and the Dean's Goat.

The Dean is much in demand at college functions, where he enlivens the occasion with his Pennsylvania German stories and his aphorisms.

May he influence another generation of Freshmen at Muhlenberg, and help to graduate many more seniors fortified with his concepts of learning.

REV. WILLIAM WACKERNAGEL
D.D., LL.D.

Professor of Modern Language and Literature, Emeritus

Born at Basel-on-the-Rhine, Switzerland, September 25, 1838. Missionary in the Holy Land eleven years. Ordained a minister of the Lutheran Church, 1880. D.D., University of Pennsylvania, 1883. Acting President of Muhlenberg College, 1903-04. LL.D., Muhlenberg College, 1918.

Dr. Wackernagel has the honor of being Muhlenberg's first Professor Emeritus and truly deserved it after having taught for a long period of time. For several years Dr. Wackernagel was acting President of Muhlenberg and after that Professor of modern languages. Dr. Wackernagel is one of the foremost scholars, and during his lifetime has won a name of great renown not only in this country but also in Europe. He has been a regular contributor to the Lutheran magazine and his articles are always very much in demand.

It has been the custom of the freshman class to present Dr. Wackernagel every year at Thanksgiving with a large turkey and he returns his thanks in many different languages. We hope that we will be able to continue this practice for many years.

Dr. Wackernagel has missed very few chapels on the fall opening days and it is the wish of the class of '27 that he may be privileged to visit the college many times more. It is indeed a pleasure to speak to Dr. Wackernagel because his wide experience has enabled him to relate many interesting things.

Dr. Wackernagel has done an inestimable amount of work for Muhlenberg and the college acknowledges with pride the great debt which it owes him. The class of 1927 sincerely wish him many more years of good health and happiness.

REV. JOHN A. BAUMAN
Ph.D., D.D.

Born at Easton, Pa., September 21, 1847. A.B. (Valedictorian) Muhlenberg College, 1873. A.M., Muhlenberg College, 1876. Ordained a minister of the Lutheran Church, 1876. Professor of Latin, German, and English at Gustavus Adolphus College, 1881-85. Asa Packer Professor of Natural and Applied Science, Muhlenberg College, 1885-99. Ph.D., Muhlenberg College, 1894. Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy 1897 to 1924. D.D., Muhlenberg College, 1920.

During the past two years the freshmen have often wondered just who was the gentleman of advanced years, kindly eyes and a good natured laugh who makes almost weekly visits to the Ad. building and especially that part which is occupied by the library. He is always greeted very respectfully by the upperclassmen and members of the faculty and with a tone of great pride in their voices. It is no other than our old friend Dr. Bauman, old in years but not in mind and spirit.

If asked just why he comes out here we will be informed that he is doing research work because it is one of Dr. Bauman's principles to keep up with the age in all departments, especially math.

The class of 1927 was the last to enjoy working under him and he will never be forgotten by any member of it who took his courses.

Dr. Bauman is one of the foremost mathematicians of today and can always be relied upon to show some new tricks in Geometry or Calculus.

Muhlenberg owes much to Dr. Bauman and is proud to acknowledge the debt she owes him. The class of 1927 sincerely hopes that Dame Fortune will continue to smile on him so that he will be able to enjoy many more years of good health and continued success.

ROBERT C. HORN, A.M., Litt. D.
Professor of the Greek Language and Literature

Born at Charleston, S. C., September 12, 1881. Prepared at Charleston High School. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1900. Graduate work at Johns Hopkins University, 1900-01. A.M., Muhlenberg College, 1903. Professor of the Greek Language and Literature since 1905. Alpha Tau Omega. Litt.D., Muhlenberg College, 1922.

"Why the Greek anyhow?" This semi-annual inquiry will be answered when Dr. Horn returns from his Mediterranean travels. He is at present engaged in archeological research in Egypt and Greece. His explanations of the contributions of Greek life to modern civilization will create a lifetime interest in cultural activities.

"Bobby" is assistant to Dr. Haas and as capable administrator has insured the smooth working of the scholastic departments of the college. He was always a busy figure in the Administration Building in his effort to perform his duties. We regret his absence and eagerly look forward to the time when he will be with us again.

Dr. Horn's specialty is Greek. He not only imparts a knowledge of the Greek language, but frequently draws vivid pictures of Grecian life and contrasts their civilization with ours. He always receives the best of attention because of his pleasing personality. His return, with all the additional information he is now gathering, is awaited in the hope that we may once more benefit by his interesting discourses.

REV. ROBERT R. FRITSCH, A.M.
Chaplain, Professor of Religion

Born at Allentown, Pa., September 10, 1879. Prepared at Allentown High School. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1900. A.M., Muhlenberg College, 1903. A.M., Illinois Wesleyan University, 1907. Instructor of Greek, Muhlenberg College, 1907-08. Instructor of Modern Languages, 1908-15. Graduate Work, University of Pennsylvania, 1910-13. Instructor in Religion and German. Ordained a minister of the Lutheran Church, 1915. Elected Professor of Religion, 1921.

To Rev. Fritsch Muhlenberg owes much of its Christian atmosphere. Daily, as College Chaplain, he leads the students in divine worship to the glorification of their Alma Mater. As professor of Religion he instructs erring lower classmen, and illustrates to them the beneficence of a moral life. He also prepares students for Sunday School work by offering the Oliver's Teacher Training Course.

Professor Fritsch is actively and extensively engaged in religious work outside of the College and is pastor of St. Joseph's Lutheran Church in East Allentown. He is constantly in demand as a speaker at religious functions and has contributed largely to the growth of church work in and about Allentown.

Professor Fritsch's hobbies are gardening and radio, and as an accomplished musician often "tunes in" on the best music.

HARRY D. BAILEY, A.M., D.S.

Professor of Biology

Born at Easton, Pa., January 14, 1881. Prepared at South Easton High School. A.B., Lafayette College, 1904. A.M., Lafayette College, 1909. Phi Beta Kappa. D.S., Muhlenberg College, 1923. Attended Biological Laboratory at Cold Springs Harbor, Long Island, in the summer of 1903. Appointed Instructor in Biology, Muhlenberg College, 1909. Elected Professor, 1910.

Dr. Bailey has charge of the biological department at the College. He entertains a profound interest in the natural sciences and his enthusiasm is contagious to his students. He conducts an annual Botany trip thruout Lehigh County, and in conjunction with his classes studies the flora of the community.

Dr. Bailey is chairman of the Faculty Committee on student activities and has always worked for the best mutual interests of the faculty and the student body. He is constantly considerate of student activities.

Dr. Bailey is inclined to tennis and chess as a relaxative from his arduous duties as Professor at the College and his other numerous activities.

STEPHEN G. SIMPSON, A.M.

Professor of English

Born at Easton, Pa., May 4, 1874. Prepared at South Easton High School. A.B., Lafayette College, 1896. A.M., Lafayette College, 1898. Phi Beta Kappa. Summer Courses at Columbia University, 1903-04. Instructor in English, Muhlenberg College, 1911-14. Elected Assistant Professor, 1914. Elected Professor, 1921.

Professor Simpson has been characteristically called "a friend to the senior and a razzar of the Frosh," not however that either cannot be said of all classes. All freshmen make his early acquaintance in English I, who entertain "Teedy" with their variegated themes. Everyone comes under his quizzical looks when the library is one's objective for he is custodian of that storehouse of knowledge and dispenses choice morsels of literature to those who are interested.

Although Professor Simpson may be mostly found hard at work in the Library, still he often enjoys a good game of quoits with the upperclassmen in the grove. And if you want to see a real pleasant smile, hand him a good cigar.

Professor Simpson's forte is English and his understanding of life "as she is" soon convinces the students of the humor in much of it. "Teedy's" special interest is contemporary literature and his stick of poems, and witticisms are a delight to all who are privileged to hear them.

REV. JOHN D. M. BROWN, A.M.

Professor of English

Born at Lebanon, Pa., December 2, 1883. Prepared at Lebanon High School. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1906. A.M., Columbia University, 1907. Ordained a minister in the Lutheran Church, 1910. Elected Instructor at Muhlenberg College, 1912. Assistant Professor in 1915. Professor in 1920.

Drama is Dr. Brown's forte. The men who have never had the opportunity to enjoy his English Drama are missing one of the vital courses in College. Previous to the extension of the department of Romance Languages, he taught these subjects. At present he is engaged exclusively in the various phases of English literature.

"Johnnie" has contributed materially to the growth of Muhlenberg by his unstinted efforts in developing the department of oratory, and has succeeded in placing Muhlenberg in an enviable position in the Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Union. As dramatic director of the Glee Club, Dr. Brown has enlarged its activities. Muhlenberg has had some notable men competing in oratorical contests; men who have been advised and prepared by Dr. Brown.

In addition to his work at the College, Dr. Brown has many ministerial duties. He is pastor of St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Allentown, and in this capacity has performed a commendable service for the welfare of Allentown as well as for Muhlenberg.

ALBERT C. H. FASIG, M.S.

Professor of Chemistry

Born at Reading, Pa., September 18, 1888. Prepared at Reading High School. B.S., Muhlenberg College, 1909. Alpha Tau Omega. M.S., Muhlenberg College, 1910. Chemist in the Department of Meat and Milk Inspection, Reading. Elected Instructor of Chemistry. Assistant Professor, 1917. Elected Professor, 1920.

As Faculty representative to the Muhlenberg College Athletic Association, Professor Fasig is always considerate to the best interests of sport at the college. He constantly endeavors to further the growth of legitimate athletics at Muhlenberg.

However, perhaps the most influential of "Toots's" athletic activities are unofficial. When the boys are somewhat jaded by too much chemistry, "Toots" expatiates upon the desirability of true sportsmanship at Muhlenberg, the advantage of team work, and the necessity in applying these ideals to one's activities in life.

Prof. Fasig is the exponent of Chemistry and Geology at the College. Those who are fortunate enough to work under him acquire his clear-cut way of attacking a problem, and imbibe his ideas of good sportsmanship.

HOWARD K. MARKS, A.B.

Instructor in Music

Born at Emaus, Pa., May 12, 1886. Prepared at Allentown High School. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1907. Alpha Tau Omega. Studied Piano Theory and Composition under the direction of various musicians. Elected Instructor in Music at Muhlenberg, 1913.

Professor Marks is one of the votaries of the aesthetic. He presents music at Muhlenberg; music to soothe the harassed students. He inculcates some of the fineness of spirit and culture that is compatible with the ideals of such an institution. Professor Marks' activities include responsibilities as teacher of History of Music, and of Music itself, instrumental and vocal; Instructor of the Glee Club, and Organist of St. John's Lutheran Church in Allentown. He also leads the chapel singing and his frequent song fiestas there delight the students who are all participating. As Instructor of the Glee Club, his personality has inspired the members to give their best, and under his successful leadership the Club has achieved unprecedented recognition, and its tours greatly extended.

Harold has a reputation as a great joker and believes in humor as a panacea for all human ills. For he always has an appropriate pun or witticism for every occasion. We herald greater laurels in the future for the Glee Club under Professor Marks' capable leadership.

ISAAC M. WRIGHT, Ph.D.

Professor of Philosophy and Pedagogy

Born at Scio, N.Y., March 7, 1879. Prepared at Belmont High School. B.S., Alfred University, 1904. Pd.M., New York University, 1914. Pd.D., New York University, 1916. Elected Professor of Philosophy and Pedagogy at Muhlenberg, 1917. Phi Kappa Tau. Phi Delta Kappa. Director of Extension Courses.

Dr. Wright believes that where there is a will there is a way. He has proven this by his organization of the Extension School, which has since had a phenomenal growth. He has ascribed to the ideals of a Greater Muhlenberg. Many of the Doctor's educational theories have been put into practise at Muhlenberg to the furtherance of an already efficient administration.

Dr. Wright holds that the proper mental attitude, and how to use what you know, are the pre-requisites for success. Anyone who has taken his Logic and Psychology will agree that his system of inculcating these principles into thousands of his students has not failed. The Doctor is conceded to be an authority on everything and heartily recommends specialization.

Dr. Wright prepares those who desire eventually to become professors and imparts to them the necessary pedagogical foundation.

WILLIAM S. RITTER, B.S.

Born at Allentown, Pa., May 17, 1892. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School. B.S., Muhlenberg College, 1916. Alpha Tau Omega. Elected Director of Physical Culture at Muhlenberg, 1919.

"Bill" is the bouncer on the faculty. He is the exponent of physical culture at Muhlenberg and woe to the incorrigibles. Bill has an enviable position as well as an enviable record at College. In athletics he has shown prowess unexcelled and at this time it is still his specialty. During the time that he was an under-graduate several years ago he became prominent in football, basketball and track. Muhlenberg has reciprocated these honors conferred upon her in sport circles by appointing him a physical director. He formerly coached track but at present is entirely engaged in supervising "gym" classes.

"Class, about face, ex, 1-2-3-4," Bill's voice booms out, reverberating thru-out the "Gym," terrifying the yearlings into active submission. But once you become acquainted with "Bill," you will learn that he is doing it for your own good, for he is a friend of all the boys. "Bill" has quite a job to send the red corpuscles chasing thru the book-weary students and four years of his courses will change a cripple into a veritable Dempsey.

"Bill" has been recently married and we hope that some day some stalwart Bill, Jr., will be saying "Class 1-2-3-4" at a still greater Muhlenberg.

HENRY R. MUELLER
A.M., Ph.D.
Professor of History

Born July 21, 1887. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1909. A.M., Columbia University, 1915. Post-Graduate work at Columbia, 1914-17. University Scholar, Columbia, 1915-16. University Fellow, Columbia, 1916-17. A.E.F., University of Paris, 1919. Elected Professor of History and Political Science, Muhlenberg College, 1920. Ph.D., Columbia University, 1922.

Dr. Mueller has contributed much to the enlargement of the scope of History courses at Muhlenberg. It is largely through his efforts that the prestige of History at the College has been augmented. He has been with us for only a comparatively short time but the increasing number of students who elect his courses show how an interest in the vicissitudes of society is claiming the attention of students.

Henry has acquired the reputation of being on the square. Needless to state, this attitude is reciprocated by his classes.

Dr. Mueller, while in service in France, took advantage of the educational opportunities offered and attended the Sorbonne. His extensive study in contemporary history makes him well qualified to interpret modern problems. Dr. Mueller's specialty is U. S. History and he is well versed in the growth of our nation.

We trust that his untiring efforts to impart to the students the desire to woo Cleo, the Muse of History, will increase in success in the future as in the past.

ANTHONY S. CORBIERE
Ph.B., M.A.

Professor of Romance Languages

Born at Nice, France, March 8, 1893. Prepared at Tacoma High School. Department of Journalism, University of Washington, 3 years. Phi Kappa Sigma. Sigma Delta Chi. Associate University Players. Sergeant Major, Ambulance Service, U.S.A., A.E.F., Ph.B., Muhlenberg College, 1920. Graduate Work, Columbia University, 1920-21. M.A., University of Pennsylvania, 1923.

Prof. Corbiere has had probably more adverse circumstances under which to acquire an education than any other man on the faculty. Adventure has been the key-note of his early life. Born in France, he came to this country while still a boy and with a firm determination to make the most of his opportunities, succeeded to acquire a college education. Before the world war he specialized in dramatics and journalism at the University of Washington, where he became renowned as a football player. During the war he saw active service with the American Army in France.

Prof. Corbiere founded the French Club at Muhlenberg College. Under his tutelage French and Spanish have assumed the position of importance worthy of such languages.

This year Prof. Corbiere is on a leave of absence. He is traveling thru Spain, France and Italy. Daily he sends over to us a most interesting letter, containing an account of his travels, description of the peoples and places he has seen.

The scope of the department of the Romance languages will be augmented upon the return of Prof. Corbiere to Muhlenberg.

HOWARD R. KISTLER, B.S.

Instructor in Chemistry

Born at Wetherhold, Pa., March 14, 1893. Prepared at Allentown High School. B.S., Muhlenberg, 1915. Chemist, J. T. Baker Chemical Company. Member of the American Chemical Society; Society of Chemical Industry; Chemical Engineers. Elected Instructor of Chemistry at Muhlenberg, 1921. Graduate Work at Syracuse University, 1922-23-24.

Prof. Kistler is one of our faculty who is well versed in the subject of chemistry, from the practical as well as the theoretical standpoint. After being graduated from Muhlenberg he received the practical side in the employ of the J. T. Baker Company where he distinguished himself. In 1921 he was elected instructor of chemistry at his Alma Mater and thru his untiring efforts the department has made rapid strides.

The majority of students take some work under Prof. Kistler and the A. B. men, in their Sophomore year, learn what real Chemistry is like. Outside of the classroom, Mr. Kistler proves himself not so stern a man and is always interested in any subject, but especially the chemical field.

In classes we always enjoy hearing Prof. Kistler tell of his many interesting experiences in the chemical laboratories in which he has worked.

Prof. Kistler is a thorough teacher and allows no loafing or bluffing. The "Lab" is the place to find him and even though he is very busy he can always find time to help a weak student.

JOHN V. SHANKWEILER, B.S.

Instructor in Biology

Born at Huff's Church, Berks County, Pa., July 22, 1894. Keystone State Normal School, A.E.F., 79th Division. B.S., Muhlenberg, Phi Kappa Tau. Elected Instructor in Biology, 1921. Graduate Work, Cornell University, 1924.

An observing student can usually notice a gentleman cutting the rear campus, upon inquiry it is none other than our Professor Shankweiler. His specialty is Biology and when he was elected to the faculty as Biology Instructor a move was made which hardly could be equaled. His knowledge and unstinted efforts have developed and elevated the Biology department to the worthy place it should hold.

When an A. B. man enters his Sanctum Sanctorum, (the cold storage room), he says, "Ugh, let's get out," but the B. S. man says Ah, for there you find the finest collection of well preserved cats, turtles, frogs and fishes. It is with these that he attempts to teach and show the extant Biological phenomena. The field that he covers is enormous and so to be well fitted to impart knowledge of that science, Prof. Shankweiler is taking postgraduate work at Cornell. We wish him success.

As Prof. Shankweiler is a graduate of Muhlenberg, the spirit which was instilled in him at that time can not be questioned, he is a Muhlenberg man throughout.

LUTHER J. DECK, A.B.

Instructor in Mathematics and Physics

Born at Hamburg, Pa., February 7, 1899. Prepared at Hamburg High School. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1920. Delta Theta. Graduate Work, University of Pennsylvania, 1921 and 1923-24. Pi Mu Epsilon, Honorary Math. Fraternity. Elected Instructor in Mathematics and Physics at Muhlenberg College, 1921.

Professor Deck is Muhlenberg's contemporary Pythagoras. He assists the men of Muhlenberg to master the intricacies of sines and co-sines and various other mathematical formulae. This Professor has the reputation of being a hard marker, but that this does not detract from the popularity of his courses is shown by the large number of men who take them often as "math for math's sake." He has quite recently returned from a leave of absence of a year at the graduate school of absence of a year, having attended the graduate school of the University of Pennsylvania; where his prowess in deduction was considerably fortified, and he is now giving his students new mathematical treats. Professor Deck has also organized the "Math Club" at Muhlenberg, which while yet in its infancy, has quite a large membership.

Luther's hobby is music. We commend his choice of it as a suitable complement to mathematics. He is also a patron of the theatre and the best performances at the Lyric and Colonial in Allentown receive his attention. New mathematical vistas are opening at Muhlenberg under the meticulous supervision and advise of Professor Deck.

REV. CHARLES B. BOWMAN
A.M., B.D.

Professor of Sociology, Economics, and Business Administration

Born at Parryville, 1873. Prepared at Lehigh High School. A.B., Northwestern College, 1896. B.D., Drew Theological Seminary, 1900. A.M., Northwestern College, 1903. Graduate Work, University of Chicago, 1912-14. University of Wisconsin, 1916. Elected Professor of Sociology and Economics at Muhlenberg, 1922.

Dr. Bowman's job is to convert irresponsible under-graduates into potential business magnates. To effect this he instills into the students who have the privilege of taking his courses the intricacies of Sociology, Economics, Business Administration and kindred subjects. Dr. Bowman has turned out many Muhlenberg men who have become successful in business. The large number of students who work under Dr. Bowman vouch for his effective manner of presentation and his interesting personality.

"Charlie" is very versatile. He has traveled all over the world and to illustrate his point in classroom discussion relates numerous fascinating experiences about his travels. He has held varied political positions, one as Mayor of a prominent Western city. Dr. Bowman is also a minister and conducts religious services in various parts of the community. Charlie has what is called a "heavy line," but he has the goods to back it up. He has assisted in many ways to extend the scope of Muhlenberg's scholastic activities.

PRESTON A. BARBA, A.M., Ph.D.

Professor of German

Born at Bethlehem, April 7, 1883. Prepared at Allentown High School and Bethlehem Prep. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1916. A.M., Yale University, 1907. University of Pennsylvania, 1911. Fellow at Goettingen, Heidelberg, University of Berlin. Professor of German at Muhlenberg, 1922.

Dr. Barba's entire career has been one of remarkable success. As a student of Muhlenberg College some ten years ago, he had laid the foundations of a work that has grown to astonishing proportions. Dr. Barba has always been a consistent student. His delving into the ramifications of German Literature has inspired many ambitious students to elect his courses. Dr. Barba has always impressed us as the kind of a man we would like to be. His arrival at Muhlenberg several years ago inaugurated a new regime in the department of German. He was the first to organize a German Club. This Club presents a German play every year, under the meticulous direction of Dr. Barba.

Dr. Barba has recently completed a text book, a collection of German poems, in collaboration with Professor Vos of the University of Indiana.

Dr. Barba has in the years past, conducted a European tour, concentrating on Germany, returning with a wealth of valuable information and interesting anecdotes.

CHARLES S. ALLEN, E.E., M.S.
Professor of Physics

Born at Bloomsbury, N. J., June 1, 1898. Prepared at Phillipsburg and Easton High Schools. E.E., Lafayette College, 1919. Graduate Work, Union University, 1919. Graduate Fellow, 1922-23. M.S. in E.E., Lafayette College, 1923. Phi Beta Kappa, Tau Beta Phi, Phi Kappa Tau. Member of American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Elected Assistant Professor of Physics at Muhlenberg College, 1923.

Prof. Allen, although he has only been with us for three years, has won a place in the hearts of not only the students who take his courses but also the rest of the student body. The class of 1927 feel that he is a member of it because he came to Muhlenberg, from our neighboring rivals, in the same year the class entered.

Prof. Allen's department is Physics and this section has developed very rapidly thru his untiring efforts. Recently a course in radio has been instituted by him in which many of the students have taken a deep interest and the course is a pronounced success.

This year Prof. Allen has developed a successful band at Muhlenberg. Band work had never been a success under student leadership but under the direction of Prof. Allen we have one of the best organizations in collegiate circles. The college appreciates very much the work done by Prof. Allen and next year we expect to see a fifty piece band enter the football field to lend spirit to the games.

Prof. Allen, in order to mix with the students, is willing to risk his good health by eating in Fritchman's Stationary Lunch Wagon and it is appreciated.

It is hoped that Prof. Allen will continue to stay with us for many years and it is undoubted that his department will become an outstanding one thru his untiring efforts.

ARTHUR T. GILLESPIE, B.S.

Coach of the Debating Team*

Born at Allentown, October 13, 1901. Allentown High School, 1919. U. of P. B.S. in Economics, U. of P. 1924. Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Sigma Pi, Honorary Debating Fraternity. Coach of debating and instructor in English and History.

Many times in the basement lounging room, a crowd of students can be seen, listening in rapt attention to a certain individual's discussion on current problems. Who is this personage? Mr. Gillespie is the orator at these quasi-mass meetings. His ready supply of information has enabled him as debating coach, to build up within two seasons a logic team, which is establishing a highly creditable record. His accomplishment is made more remarkable by the fact that prior to his tenure at Muhlenberg there was no debating whatsoever. As a debater, he himself has had much experience since he was a member of the University of Pennsylvania's team for three years.

In addition, Mr. Gillespie is an instructor in English and Insurance. His copious wit and magnetic personality make attendance to his classes both desirable and worth while. In fact, his friendly contact with the students is very characteristic.

Mr. Gillespie will be the Debating Coach at Muhlenberg next year, and in addition will take up the study of law at the University of Pennsylvania. We indeed, wish him success.

J. KENNETH BENNETT, B.S.
Instructor of Romance Languages

Born, Bethlehem, Pa., Dec. 14, 1901. Prepared at Bethlehem High School, 1919; Moravian College, B.S. in languages, 1923; Graduate work University of Pennsylvania, summer 1925. Instructor of Romance Languages at Muhlenberg, 1925-26.

This year another new face greeted us, among our instructors, who came to fill the temporary vacancy made by Professor Corbiere who is studying in Europe. Mr. Bennett had a very difficult task to try to fill the chair of modern languages but has proven himself a worthy instructor.

In class we have found that it is necessary to have the assigned work out every day or be received very sternly by him. Outside of the classroom, however, he is found to be a good fellow and one whom it is enjoyable to speak to, between the puffs of his favorite pipe. He always has a supply of good jokes and with a little persuasion will allow one to enjoy them with him.

Mr. Bennett is one of the youngest members of the faculty and it is certain that after a few more years of teaching experience, he will become a big success in his department.

Mr. Bennett has also taken a keen interest in college activities and Le Cercle Français is having a successful year under his guidance. The Glee Club also claims him as a member of their instrumental trio which has been received with much applause and praise. His instrument is the cello of which he has proven himself a master. The class of 1927 wish him the best of good fortune and success.

HARRY HESS REICHARD, Ph.D.

Born, 1878. A.B. Lafayette College, 1901; A.M. Lafayette College, 1905; Scholar at Johns Hopkins University 1908-09; Fellow, Johns Hopkins University 1909-11; Ph.D., Johns Hopkins University, 1911; Summer School Instructor at Muhlenberg 1924-25. Professor of German, Muhlenberg, 1925-26.

Dr. Reichard is a new addition to the faculty of Muhlenberg College. Although he taught during the summer of 1925, this is the first college year that the student body has the opportunity of forming its close acquaintance with him.

Previous to coming to Muhlenberg, Dr. Reichard has had an extensive and varied career in pedagogy, making him especially well qualified to cope successfully with the particular demands of his department. He has taught at Atlantic City High School, Knox College, Penn State and Heidelberg University. Dr. Reichard has traveled extensively in Germany, France, Italy and Greece. His researches in these lands have contributed to his erudition. He has recently published a work on Pennsylvania German and Dialect writings and their authors.

Since Dr. Reichard came to Muhlenberg the first year men have developed an interest and an appreciation of German and Greek literature that has never before been equaled. We attribute this largely to Dr. Reichard's charm of manner in presenting his material and his winning personality. His success at Muhlenberg is already guaranteed.

JAMES EDGAR SWAIN, A.M.
Assistant Professor of History

Born near Indianapolis, Indiana, Aug. 26, 1897. A.B., Indiana University, 1921; A.M., Indiana University, 1922; Instructor and Graduate student University of Pennsylvania, 1922-24; Harrison Fellow in History at University of Pennsylvania, 1924-25; Elected Instructor at Muhlenberg 1925, made Assistant Professor of History, 1926.

Altho Prof. Swain is a new man at this institution, he has already shown that he is imbued with that particular and definite spirit of Muhlenberg, the nature of which only the persons connected with the College can understand.

The department of History has made a great progress owing to the united and untiring efforts of Prof. Swain and Dr. Mueller. Many new and attractive courses are being offered and Prof. Swain can be credited for much of these results.

Prof. Swain has already found many acquaintances in the College and has adequately proven to all his ability to assume his present position.

Prof. Swain with Prof. Mueller was instrumental in forming a History Club on the campus. This recent organization will no doubt aid much in the students' appreciation of political and social history. We hope to hear more of this club later. No doubt Prof. Swain will sponsor the club next year, as Prof. Mueller is expected to take a year's leave of absence.

We wish Prof. Swain the best of luck and assure him that he will always meet with the active co-operation of his students.

HERMANN F. VIEWEG
B.Chem., Ph. D.

Professor of Physical and Organic Chemistry

Born at Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1900. Prepared at Elmira Free Academy. Sigma Xi and Phi Kappa Phi Honorary Societies. B. Chemistry, Cornell University, 1921. Ph.D., Cornell University, 1924. Professor of Physical and Organic Chemistry, Muhlenberg College, 1925-26.

Dr. Vieweg has come to Muhlenberg College from Cornell University where he had acquired a reputation for his almost inexhaustible knowledge of chemistry.

Dr. Vieweg has indeed an enviable record to begin with at Muhlenberg. In Honors, he held the Tuition, Cash, Undergraduate, and Ex-Service Scholarships at Cornell University. He was also awarded the G. C. Caldwell Prize for Excellence in Chemistry at Cornell University, 1921. Professor Vieweg is a member of the Sigma Xi and Phi Kappa Phi Honorary Societies, and a member of the American Chemical Society.

We cannot help but honor the fact that our friend in the Chemistry Laboratory was a First Lieutenant in the 311th Field Artillery, U. S. Army.

His teaching career commenced at Cornell University where he was instructor of Crystallography and Mineralogy, 1919-24. In the summers of 1923 and 1924 Dr. Vieweg did some research work in Chemistry at Cornell University, and in 1924-25 became an Assistant Professor of Mineralogy, at the same institution.

May Dr. Vieweg's success in Chemistry be just as brilliant at Muhlenberg as at Cornell, if not more.

EARL LARKIN WILLIAMS, A.M.
Instructor in Mathematics

Born, August 22, 1903, Honeybrook, Pa., Prepared at West Chester High, West Chester, Pa. A.B., Swarthmore College in 1924 and A.M. in 1925 with Major Math. and Major Astronomy respectively. Graduate work at University of Pennsylvania in 1925-26. Entered Muhlenberg as Instructor in Mathematics in 1925-26.

The College welcomes into its midst Instructor Williams, who specializes in Mathematics. He is a veritable prodigy in his line. When seen on the Campus he looks like one of the students, but his dignity and learning soon give him away. He hails from an institution which has long been our rival in sport circles, that is Swarthmore College. We surely hope that he can acclimate himself and allow the Spirit of Muhlenberg to hand in hand with that of his Alma Mater.

Instructor Williams, tho still a young man, has achieved a record in the scholastic world which should make all of our undergraduates look up to and try to equal.

He is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, (National honorary fraternity for collegiate Journalism); Associate member of Sigma XI, (National honorary society for promotion of Scientific Research); also a member of the American and British Astronomical Societies, and has been at Durango, Mexico, to observe the total eclipse of the sun with the Sproul Observatory expedition of Swarthmore College during the summer of 1923.

Thus to have a man of his no mean ability on the Mathematics Staff of Muhlenberg is indeed a pleasure and we surely hope that his work here will eclipse that of his past achievements.

HARRY A. BENFER, A.M.

Born in Lock Haven, Pa., October 24, 1895. Prepared at York High School. A.B. and A.M. Albright College 1915-16. Honorable mention on All American Football Team by Walter Camp 1914. 1916-19 Coach of Athletics at Western Union College, La Mars, Iowa. 1919-25 Coach of Athletics at Albright College. Appointed Coach of Athletics at Muhlenberg College 1925.

When Coach Benfer arrived at Muhlenberg, he found student spirit in that doubtful and gloomy state which every change of organization brings with it. However, he had not been here long before his qualities of leadership and coaching ability made themselves felt. He has in his short stay here produced one of Muhlenberg's best football teams and has led the basketball team to a repetition of its old successes. Coach "Haps" believes in playing the great game of life squarely and bravely, whatever the odds, and it is this doctrine which he has made a part of our school life. As an athlete Benfer has a brilliant record; while coaching at Albright he had great success, but his endeavors at Muhlenberg have within a very short time produced even more magnificent triumphs than those. "Haps" is an athlete first of all, but his abilities go far beyond that field. Without saying more, we can truly assert that Benfer is an ideal type of coach, vigorous, aggressive, and able, and that his short reign on the campus has already brought forth as great confidence from the students as can possibly be vested in a leader.

GUERNEY F. AFFLERBACH, M.S.
Field Secretary, Graduate Manager of Athletics

Born at Bedminster, Bucks County, Pa. November 29, 1891. Prepared at Quakertown High School and Williamson Trade School. Ph.B., Muhlenberg College, 1916. Alpha Tau Omega. Elected Instructor in the Department of Natural and Applied Science, 1917. M.S., Muhlenberg College, 1919. Elected Field Secretary, 1921.

Mr. Afflerbach is the czar of athletics at Muhlenberg College; not that he is dictatorial by any means, but his executive ability in the field of sports merited his appointment as Graduate Manager of Athletics at Muhlenberg. The success of the College's athletic teams, particularly in football and the excellent quality of the new men each year, vouch well for Guerne's capacities to select the best. He is a hard worker and believes in playing the game, for he never selects any easy football schedule. This only shows the more how Muhlenberg has raised her athletic standards under the firm guidance of Guerne.

Guerne has the admirable quality of always looking on the bright side and, before every game, "peps" the boys up with his "we're going to win" spirit. During the recent Muhlenberg campaign Guerne was appointed Field Secretary and in company with Dr. Haas toured the country in a thousand mile trip. Guerne's work during the campaign is of inestimable value and it is largely through his efforts that it went "over the top." May he continue the good work he has done and help to establish a greater Muhlenberg.

OSCAR F. BERNHEIM, A.B.
Treasurer, Secretary and Registrar

Born at Mt. Pleasant, N. C., November 16, 1868. Prepared at Academic Department of Muhlenberg College. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1892. Alpha Tau Omega. Elected Treasurer and Registrar of Muhlenberg College, 1907. Elected Secretary, 1919. Member of Association of College Registrars.

When one comes to Muhlenberg to enroll as a student, "Bernie" is the first man he meets. And his pleasant smile and welcomed hand-shake is indeed enough to make any newcomer feel at home immediately.

Mr. Bernheim is located in a splendid office and he is a mighty busy man. His duties as Registrar of the College, as Secretary and Treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the College, his various duties also running along the line of printing, Mr. Bernheim can always be seen hard at work with his "reliable" protruding from his mouth.

"Bernie" meets all the students and knows them fairly well, for it is to him the bills of the College are paid. From the nature of his duty as collector of monies, one would think the students would keep away, but when one wants something done to the rooms in the Dormitory, Bernie is right there to attend to our wants and he does it cheerfully.

With all his many duties, Mr. Bernheim can be seen at all the contests of Athletics of the College, for he is an ardent enthusiast of sports of his Alma Mater.

Then, too, with the exception of a few rooms in the Dormitories, "Bernie's" office is second to none when it comes to arguing politics and other important topics. With a cheerful word to all and partial to none—that's "Bernie."

RALPH F. MERKLEY, M.D.

Examining Physician

Born at Allentown, Pa., July 19, 1893. Prepared at Allentown High School, B.S., Muhlenberg College, 1915. Alpha Tau Omega. Entered University of Pennsylvania Medical School, 1915. M.D., University of Pennsylvania, 1919. Examining Physician since 1922.

Dr. Merkley is the man who takes care of the physical well-being at Muhlenberg College. Every year, the Freshman and his modesty must part for a short while, until Dr. Merkley has carefully scrutinized him. This is to insure a high physical standard at the College, and to alleviate the yearling's growing pains as well as to prescribe corrective treatments for those with physical defects. Fortunately none of us have developed any manias, for "Doc" has assured us that we are all right.

The "Doc's" favorite instruments of torture are the scope and the hammer, and to the neophyte, the impending examination is quite an ordeal. The Doctor's other duties are to patch up broken gridiron warriors and to return them to the fray with renewed vim and vitality and vigor.

A part of the "Doc's" activities are literary, for excuses must be presented for illness and otherwise to cancel class cuts. Nevertheless the decreasing number of excuses presented lately show how well Dr. Merkley has taken care of the student body.

JOHN CHARLES RAUSCH, D.D.

Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds

Born at Philadelphia, June 21, 1897. Prepared at Allentown, 1882-86. A.B., Muhlenberg College, 1890. Mt. Airy Seminary, 1893. Ordained, 1893. Pastor St. Johannes Kirche, Philadelphia; West Hazleton, St. Luke's, Allentown, for 30 years. D.D., Muhlenberg College, 1915. Built Dormitories E, F, G, and Treasurer's House. Allentown School Board, 6 years. Built High School and several churches. Secretary Grounds and Buildings, Muhlenberg College, 1924.

The welfare of Muhlenberg College has been one of the primary factors in Dr. Rausch's life. For over twenty years he has faithfully labored for the attainment of a vision of a Greater Muhlenberg. Formerly in an un-official capacity he re-constructed the several dormitory sections and he has been actively engaged in boosting Muhlenberg throughout educational circles.

Dr. Rausch is a former minister. He had charge of the Lutheran Church in Allentown, but resigned his position when his Alma Mater called him. The other year Muhlenberg College appointed Dr. Rausch Superintendent of Buildings in recognition of the great work he has done for Muhlenberg. Dr. Rausch can always be found around the campus directing the construction of the new buildings. Dr. Rausch is interested in the conduct of the boys, and the student body has adopted his regulations, which are well calculated to strengthen the morale of the College. We believe that Dr. Rausch's work has just begun and that Muhlenberg will make rapid strides toward its ideal through the able assistance of such a man.

The Future of Muhlenberg College

JOHN A. W. HAAS

FOR twenty years there has been a gradual approach to the Muhlenberg that exists today. We are now on the eve of having one of the best equipped and most thoroughly manned science buildings. Our equipment will be superior and our teaching staff of the highest order. Our library will also be completed within the coming year. And then we must approach the problem of the gymnasium. Our endowment will soon run over nine hundred thousand dollars. Our student body is fast approaching the present limit of five hundred which we have set for ourselves.

But the attainments of the present in the creator of the GREATER MUHLENBERG of today is only a promise of the still greater Muhlenberger. There will be needed in the near future a chapel to meet the needs of our growing numbers. Such a chapel will elevate our worship and be a great center for our religious work which will be in charge of a man in sympathy with the students, who shall be their special counselor and friend. We are sorely in need of such a chapel, which must be a beautiful building and constructed to express a pure type of church architecture. Then our program must provide for a well thought out and carefully planned dining hall with reception rooms and social rooms for the students. It must meet the demands of large alumni gatherings and of great receptions which the college ought to have to meet its larger obligations. The style of the dining hall and its equipment should express beauty and comfort. Of equal importance with a dining hall is a great auditorium to be used not only for commencement purposes but for many lectures and concerts to be given in the course of the school year. With all these buildings provided and with additions to the dormitories we can begin to undertake the further development of the campus. The President's house can then be removed to a park development south of Chew street and in this park development there can be built professor's houses. A broad avenue will lead from the library through the residence park down to Cedar Creek where some day we ought to construct a Lake. In front of the three buildings now almost ready there will be a large oval campus with a statue of Muhlenberg in the center. The quadrangle of the dormitories will have in its center a fine fountain and be surrounded with flower beds.

All of this development will come just as fast as our friends will respond to the cause. It is no wild dream or idle fancy, but the sober statement of what is included in our future programme. Muhlenberg College is already a beauty spot in Allentown our future program. Muhlenberg College is already a beauty spot in Allentown make it even more beautiful than it is today.

GARFORD W. GRAVER

Muhlenberg Correspondent for the Chronicle and News

Muhlenberg is exceedingly fortunate in having a paid correspondent, a member of the student body, on the editorial staff of the Chronicle and News, Allentown's afternoon daily newspaper. This, the idea of John W. Stickle, vice president and general manager of the Chronicle and News, makes possible a closer relationship between the college and the community which the paper serves.

Through the cooperation of Dr. Haas, our president, with Mr. Stickle, this innovation was begun last year. Morris Shafer, '25, was selected as the first correspondent, capably fulfilling his duties as press representative. The college authorities, college alumni, and townspeople, were loud in their praise of the creation of this office on the campus.

From what had been largely in the nature of an experiment, now became an established position. G. W. Graver, '26, a member of Prof. Simpson's journalism class, and assistant to Mr. Shafer in his work last year, was given the position by Mr. Stickle, succeeding Mr. Shafer as Muhlenberg correspondent.

All the news of the college is given prominent space in the Chronicle and News, under a special Muhlenberg heading. Of outstanding interest this year have been the letters which Mr. Graver has received from Prof. Anthony S. Corbiere studying in Europe for his doctor's degree, for publication in the Chronicle and News. Mr. Graver is to be complimented for his foresight in having made an arrangement like this with Professor Corbiere, the publication of these letters having received wide and favorable comment.

The benefit to Muhlenberg is twofold in the having of a paid correspondent: first, in that the college receives the widest publicity, of incalculable value to Muhlenberg; secondly, by the Chronicle and News the money paid for correspondent is the same as endowing the college with a scholarship, although full value is given by services rendered.

The management of the Chronicle and News is to be congratulated for its progressiveness in creating this position at Muhlenberg, it being the only paper which maintains a paid correspondent here.

Full college credits are given the correspondent for the work done in journalism, the same as if it were class work, this practical work having far more value than the theoretical journalism.

Poets of Tomorrow

My Dream City

High in the hills near the snowy clouds
Lies my City of the Towers.
It meets my gaze in the earth's thick crowds;
In the hottest summer hours.
Spires and battlements soar away,
Chiselled of marble white,
And they grow more glorious day by day,
And they shine like stars at night.

I see it afar and my eyes are dimmed
By the glare of the snowy piles.
By a lofty wall is the city rimmed
And it stretches away for miles.
There are churches and palaces, courts and halls,
That arise toward the azure sky,
And arches and columns and massive walls,
And mansions of kings on high.

I dream that I wander about the streets
Seeing wondrous shrines of gold.
Near the churches I pause to breathe incense sweet
From the censers of chapels old.
All the glory of dawn meets my dazzled gaze,
And a sunset fills my eyes,
And I wonder oft, as it fades away,
If it be Paradise.

Fireflies

The tower clock struck twelve, then one.
In vain were my efforts to fall asleep
After that evening's frolicsome fun—
How wearily the hours can creep.

I rose to enjoy the cool night breeze
At my window facing the college green;
I admired the grove's tall, plume-topped trees
As they bathed in the rising moon's soft sheen.

The dormitories lay death-still Beneath Berks Hall's twin guardian towers;
The clear, calm night wove its charms until
I was caught in the spell of its magic hours.

I looked, as did our ancient sires,
For the fairy revels to come to pass,
And, lo, a hundred tiny fires
Were dancing on the moonlit grass.
The threatening clouds, as black as night,
Pierced by the lightning's dazzling flash,
Have passed with the shrieking gale in flight
Before the crack of the thunder's lash.

Campus People

We may cover nature study, study math. of days gone by,
Our minds may turn to ethics or to times in history,
We may skirt the field of logic, ramble in the foreign climes,
Study power, elusive chemistry and the science of the mines.

Of birds or beasts of any kind we may desire to learn,
The care of health, economy, may our attentions turn;
But to know of campus people, there's a study for each one,
Just a look into the faces; see what Old Man Time has done.

We oftentimes see a student, young and careless, full of life,
With much to learn away from home, of care, dispute and strife;
We wonder in the days to come what message we may see,
Written by hard experience and as plain as plain can be.

Then, too, we see the older ones, the faces that now show,
Written and marked by courage, trust and life that is aglow;
These are the ones with purpose, a path and goal ahead,
Their course is strong and steady, their purpose sure and staid.

There comes into our midst the ones, who care not what they do,
Pleasure mad, lack judgment, immature, mistakes to rue;
Some look ahead and see the wrong that men like these can bring,
While others fall into the net and are gone before the Spring.

There are features that are happy, there are features that are sad,
Lives of success, of happiness, of failure may we add;
But the features of those weary, defeated, careworn, blue,
Are the ones that trouble me, the most to make my dreams come true.

I long for a campus or a clime where just the happy dwell;
Where study, life and work and play the ones which experience tell
That life ahead is broad and rich, and service full of love,
And home wherein all faces beam, is blessed by heaven above.

A Reverie

(DEDICATED TO MOTHER AND DAD)

When the evening sun is setting
And in the fading light,
The gathering shadows warn me
Of another long dark night,
There's a face comes forth to greet me
From my heart's most holy shrine;
And gentle eyes of tender blue
Gaze fondly into mine.

'Tis a vision of my mother—
And I 'most can hear her pray
For the boy who left the hearthside,
And started on life's way.
With a blessing sweet and tender
From those lips so kind and true,
"God bless you, son, and keep you
Your whole life's journey through."

Then another face comes forward
With the smile I love to see—
A smile that helped me on my way
From childhood's earliest memory,
And I hear my dear dad saying
In a voice untouched by time.
"Boy, you simply must make good
For your mother's sake, and mine."

And then the visions fade away—
The pals of my childhood days;
My dear old dad and mother
Whom I left at the parting ways.
But our paths must oft lead together
Throughout the long years to come,
And I'll always find a welcome
At the place I call my home.

Our Commons

Our present Commons building was built by the Muhlenberg Athletic Association in 1911. For ten years it was customary for the college to appoint a senior student to oversee the management of the dining hall and kitchen, to the best of his ability, while the purchasing of supplies was done through the main office of the college. This system did not prove satisfactory, so in order to improve the situation the Board of Directors decided to employ an experienced person to operate the Commons on a systematic basis and take complete charge, including the purchasing of supplies.

In January 1922, Mr. Wilfred Fritchman, was appointed as the first full time steward and immediately started a reconstruction of the department. Mr. Fritchman was a former Muhlenberg student and was no stranger on the campus. His ambitions were always centered in the catering game and was raised in institutional and hotel environment, his father having had charge of the operation of same. After serving an apprenticeship in various culinary capacities, including that of chef, Mr. Fritchman served as assistant manager of a large cafeteria in Trenton, N. J. After spending one year there he accepted a proposition from the Board of Directors of Muhlenberg to manage the college Commons; his reference as to character and ability having been carefully investigated by the Board. During Mr. Fritchman's term of service to the present day, the Commons has been run on a split even basis without a deficit at the end of the college year. In spite of the continual increase of the cost of food products, the price of board remained the same, $6 per week or 85 5/7c per day. This amount includes the cost of food, breakage of dishes and other overhead expenses, both incurred by operation and students.

The meals are arranged by the steward and food values are considered in balancing the menu. Properly prepared plain substantial rations are recommended in preferences to fancy unwholesome food. A variety is offered and no set days for the serving of certain dishes is followed, in order to break the usual monotony of feeding and satisfying a large number of people. In arranging the meals the steward takes into consideration the educating of the palate and certain physical needs essential for the upbuilding of the health of students while acquiring their brain culture in other departments of the college. This fact is rarely appreciated by the student until he leaves college and gets out into the world at which time he has to think for himself and starts to arrange his own bill of fare. He not only thinks of the health combinations but also the different styles of preparation of various popular foods which in a number of cases he acquired a fondness while at college. He is also relieved of a certain amount of embarrassment when he gets out among his friends in view of the fact that he can intelligently read the menu of the hotel where he is being entertained, he recalls eating that particular thing while at college and was informed to its name and ingredients in the same. Proof of this statement has been made by a number of alumni.

Deserving students who are in needy circumstances are given an opportunity to earn their board by being employed as waiters or kitchen helpers. These students deserve praise as it requires quite some sacrificing of their part in order to perform their duties each day. While working their way through in that way they are not only receiving a financial aid but are also taught the value of certain personal responsibilities which most of them are not accustomed to and which in turn with a proper attitude becomes an asset to them in their later life.

Senior Class History

THE class of 1926 as an undergraduate body is about to pass out of existence. Four years have elapsed since we first entered Muhlenberg. And before we leave it is only fitting that a resume of our activities be recorded. During these four years we have received certain things and at the same time have given something to the institution. Of course the most valuable of the things we received is the so-called education. We have learned that the purpose of a college education is not to fit a man for a trade; that a blank book may become a bank book with more value than that of sordid currency; and that the knowledge of the best methods of governing a suburban town is as important as the sanitary conditions in Siam. And all of these things were mighty interesting as well as valuable. But the value of what we have received pales into insignificance besides those things which we have contributed to our Alma Mater.

In writing the history of a class for a college publication it is difficult to avoid the usual high sounding laudatory phrases. And in writing the history of the class of 1926 this condition is especially true. For to give a true record of the achievements of the class would necessarily require praise and laudations. Limitations of space prohibit the giving of a detailed list of our accomplishments, through the four years, that have contributed to the honor of Muhlenberg. But we can say that our record has been such as to have us acknowledged as the one class superior to all others in the history of the college. We had resolved when entering Muhlenberg to support her honor and her name always. But we have surpassed even our fondest hopes and expectations. This is a record of events as they have occurred and not a prophecy of the future but we safely predict that, if we continue in life to uphold the standard that we have set in college, the millennium is but around the corner.

Our Junior Year

SADLY diminished in numbers, but still one in heart, were we as we entered upon the threshold of our Junior year. One ancient event was taken from us; we could not join in battle in the Pagan-minister football game, for time was lacking for it. Thus the last hope of our class for a grand battle-royal was lost, but we had other things to recompense us for our loss.

Did we not tear our throats out as Muhlenberg, for the first time in years, scored against Lafayette? Were not our men first in that grand march about the Holy City as Lehigh went down in defeat before a Cardinal and Gray team for the second time in history? Was not one of us the engineer in charge of the bonfire which followed that victory and the one over poor Franklin and Marshall? Surely we weren't inactive there.

Our men not only took heroes' parts in a successful football season, but formed the bulk of the basketball squad, the baseball nine, and the track team. They led in campus activity, in class work and in all sorts of gaiety.

As this history goes to the presses which will write it down for all men to behold and wonder, two great events are as yet not fully compassed, which are these, the Ausflug and the Junior Prom. However, as our hearts are set on making these the events of the year, they cannot but succeed, and indeed they must, when '27 stands behind them.

We have published this Ciaria, as the custom is, that the history of the campus might be duly set down for those who shall come after us to read.

In it we have faithfully set forth all that has come to be at Muhlenberg, whether to our advantage or not, but we have written it just the same. It is a great story, and as it is said, fearfully and wonderfully made. Yet the most glorious and inspiring part of it is that which deals with us and with our deeds in field or on floor. So grand is it that when those who will fill the halls of Muhlenberg in the days to come, chance upon it and read, they will stand in awe and say to their friends, Truly, there were giants in those days.

EDWARD W. ALTHOF, JR.

Junior Class History

NEARLY three years ago the class of 1927 entered Muhlenberg's portals for the first time. About a hundred freshmen constituted that group which opened its college career in Chapel on September 13, 1923, as Dr. Bailey addressed them in the course of the traditional opening exercise, as they rose abashed at the old cry of "Up Frosh" and stood thrilled during the singing of their battle hymn, Muhlenberg's Alma Mater.

The men who formed that Freshman group are the present Juniors. What a glorious history they have to look back upon, now that they have passed the underclass years of strife and toil, and have emerged into the serene regions of upper-class bliss! Old faces and familiar have passed, new ones have taken their places, but '27 itself has not changed, and will not.

Green as any were we, and greener perhaps than most, but it did not take us long to show our strength of arms and of character. The Sophomores held no terrors for us, as they soon learned, for we easily defeated them in all the interclass contests, dragging them in ignominious rout in the pole fight, successfully defending our banner in the annual contest for that emblem, and overwhelming them in football 24-0. Even after our banquet we got the best of the sophs.

Our prowess then shifted its scene of action from the battlefield to the drawing room, and our dance, held at the Hotel Traylor, was a most brilliant affair. Scholastically we were good, athletically very good, but socially we were and always have been supreme. Thus closed our Freshman year, which will be for many of us the happiest of our lives.

The dawn of our day as Sophomores was bright indeed. With an organization that outstripped in its swiftness any other, we thundered away with the stunned yearlings in every way, holding our banquet before they knew there was to be such an event, wading through them in the pole fight, to the astonishment of every one, clearing the way for Borden to tear away their faltering flag in the banner scrap, and repeating our exploit in football, this time by a far larger score than before. The newer scraps we lost, but '27 still holds the enviable record of being one of the two classes to come through the traditional scraps unvanquished. This we did in spite of great odds; new conditions which hampered us in our attempts at glory, but our indomitable spirit overcame them.

Passing by our martial exploits, we did not lag by the wayside in other endeavors. Joyously and gayly we took part in all the glories of a successful football season, a glorious year in fact in all sports; happily we whiled away the pleasant months until spring again woke us to the threat of examinations. However, we passed through them scarcely touched.

One dark spot in our history remains to be set forth. This was the death of Yoshio Yano, our classmate from far Nippon, who died of tuberculosis at the Sacred Heart hospital. He was well liked by all his classmates and was a friend of everyone. It is with grief that we recall his departure from our midst.

EDWARD WILLIAM ALTHOF

STOP! Look! Think! As you gaze upon the picture of this intelligent young man from Erie, you see the brightness of the sun, and the wisdom of Minerva personified.

This handsome young man will some day succeed in his ambitions and become the president of the Consolidated R. R. of America. Ed possesses more timetables and R. R. data than any other person in Pennsylvania. His room is so filled with them that he uses them as a support under his bed.

He does not lack vociferation, and is contrary to the principles of most great thinkers for he is not silent.

He never tells us anything about his friends of the fair sex. He always says that the pictures in his room belong to his roommate. Who knows but that his sweetie's picture is among them. He always stags at dances. It's not because he can't dance, for he is said to be a regular Arthur Murray, but he doesn't like our valley girls.

"Ed" is not much of an athlete, but always makes his presence known by his admirable cheering. He seldom misses a football game for that is one of his favorite sports. It's his physique only that prevents him from playing and not the lack of ambition for he has plenty of that qualification.

"Al" is one of the most popular and best known men on the campus and especially among the freshmen whom he bawls out for fair, when they disobey the rules of our renowned institution. Of course, the freshmen are not very much scared because he's no more than a mere boy himself. He could be called the junior mascot, because of his age.

"Ed" is first among his classmates both as to name and intellectual ability. He knows a little something about everything. With his ability he should be a remarkable success in the world.

WHEN Fate and the Green Mountains got together and voted a man to meander and stalk our beautiful campus, Wilfred William Anderson, otherwise known as "Pete" and "Tug," hied himself hither by the far famed Lehigh Valley, New York Central, and Rutland Railroads.

When we first popped our orbs at "Pete" we would not have thought him to become the enterprising young business man about the school that he has turned out to be. This is one-half of the firm of Anderson and Thompson, alias Potash and Perlmutter, Jekyll and Hyde, Robb and Steel, and numerous others. They buy, sell, remodel, rebuy and resell anything and everything they don't have to pay for. Their room is a veritable storehouse, likened to the Dead Letter Office. There are no written articles of partnership between them, hence no sleep at night for either of them. They sit up at night to watch each other. They specialize in College Catalogues and "Y" Handbooks.

There is one episode in "Pete's" sojourn in the Queen City that must not be overlooked and that is his cousin's wedding. "Pete" was an usher, self appointed, and there was never a finer bit of ushering done. For miles around they still come to see the champion usher of Muhlenberg. One sad part about the ushering was that after having performed his work, there was and there still is, no place for "Pete" to get his cake. However, Dame Rumor has it about that "Pete" gets his cake mailed, or rather, "femaled," from Rutland, Vt., and you know if Dame Rumor has things about—you know how dependable the old Dame is—well, "Pete" gets his cake and that isn't all. Her name is Kay, and we'll bet she's a winsome lass.

All that "Pete" ever talks about in his extempore speaking, is of the marble up at home. We predict a mean and nasty marble cutter in the making. Also his sister is a revenue officer in Rutland, and that is a help. "Pete" was thrown into the maelstrom on August 29, 1904, and has been whoopin' it up ever since.

THIS man comes from Reading, the small suburb of Shillington. He is well liked on the campus and down town because of his pleasing disposition and mild temperament.

Eddie is a good student, has a pleasing personality, is socially inclined, and is a great follower of athletics, especially football and basketball.

Mealey's and the Traylor are often visited by this young sheik. He is not only a sheik, but also a heart crusher. For pastime he enjoys playing cards, telling stories, and tickling the ivories.

You ask—"Is this gay young man in love." Well—that is hard to answer but a certain young lass at Summit Hill seems to fill a spot in his heart. We wish you luck, Eddie.

Eddie is a prominent member of the Phi Epsilon Fraternity and is only about forty-five men away from first honors; in politics he is a Republican.

He is looking forward to the time when he will have charge of a large congregation and can lead the guilty college men down the sawdust trail, altho Dr. Brown does not seem to appreciate his Billy Sunday attributes at present. As a member of the Holy Christian Ministry, we wish him the greatest possible success.

CHARLES F. BACHMAN
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown Preparatory School. Glee Club (1,2,3). Reformed. Republican.

CHARLES, the musician of '27, is a resident of the nearby village of Allentown. Charles seems to think that this place is a good deal farther from the campus than is popularly imagined for the distance takes him so long to traverse that he has to date reached only seven classes at college before the second bell has rung. Charlie's intellectual abilities are so great that all the professors wait for him because his learned, although untimed, remarks are always full of a very matured, even sophisticated wisdom. The only argument which Charlie has never been able to win is the problem of convincing Dr. Haas that Jazz is a perfectly legitimate part of the music world.

Charlie has ever since his Freshman year, been a member of the Glee Club orchestra but has now graduated to the position of leader and his proteges have produced one of the best orchestras that the Club has had for many years. Their performance at the Freshman Dance received the favorable comment of all present.

"Settle your meal with music," is the motto that Charlie follows and he is often the welcome visitor to the commons with the rest of his orchestra, which plays while Fritchman weeps over the evident enjoyment of the men at one of his meals.

The M. C. A. is also indebted to Charles for the supply of music which he is always glad to furnish for their affairs.

Naturally we cannot close this writeup without a brief note about his astounding, marvelous, unbelievable ability to throw a mean G string on a violin, his solo has always been a high light on the program of the Glee Club concert and his solos at the college have always been an enjoyable feature of the meeting.

CHARLES LEONARD BARNDT

AH! a man appears on the horizon. Oh! beg pardon it's only Charlie encased in a week's growth of woman's crowning glory and a pair of dirty-white sailor pants. His greeting is, "Have you seen Si (Myers)?", for these two products of Sellersville are well nigh inseparable.

Charlie claims that as long as one goes to college to polish classroom furniture there is no need of wearing fine clothes with which to do it.

However Charlie's greatest weakness is women. He claims that he never goes out with the same one more than twice. We wonder whether it is her fault or his. There is one consolation—"Mealeys" always is ready to furnish a new supply. Lately we feel that Charlie has been digressing from his old policy. For since his recovery from a serious operation for appendicitis, last spring; he has been making regular visits to the Nurses' College and to some of the outlying suburbs of the big town.

Charlie's favorite way of spending his leisure time is playing draw pinochle. We are not sure whether it is his ability or his luck that has made him a champion of this indoor sport. Charlie also craves his exercise and after buffaloing Bill into an excuse, he may be seen working out with the best of the track squad, getting into condition for the big meets. He claims he never ran a faster half-mile than when it was falsely reported about the dorms that the fair ground buildings were afire. Playing golf in the daytime and football in the quadrangle by moonshine gave Charlie a well rounded amount of exercise.

Along with his many other accomplishments he is a well known musician, having both played with the Mandolin Club and sung as a member of the Glee Club for two years, not to mention his work with the Fanatical Few of Van Duesen fame, and also a prominent figure in our famous Muhlenberg College Band.

HAROLD S. BARNES
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown Preparatory School. Presbyterian.

WE should worry about Prohibition. The class of '27 has its Scotch right with it. "Go ahead and razz me, I don't care," said our friend Barnes to the perpetrators of this write up. But he is such a good friend of ours that we really haven't the hearts to do it.

To put it mildly, Barnes is just pleasingly plump. More than once, he has made up his mind to reduce. He persuaded his folks to move to the crest of the picturesque Lehigh mountain, from which he planned to walk to Muhlenberg college daily. But he complains he can't find a plank long enough to bridge the little Lehigh, so he sighs dejectedly because of the world's cruelty, sinks into the downy softness of his father's Packard and says mournfully, "Home, James."

Both Barnes and everyone that I have asked about him, swear that Barnes has nothing to do with the ladies. At this point, I want to ask the world a few questions. Why does he go in for tennis so whole-heartedly? Why does he take such an unusual interest in the Frog language? Better lay off the French, boy. They are short and fat, toothless and oddlooking.

Barnes hasn't any idea what he will do after he is through Muhlenberg. Everyone loves a fat man, so we think he would make a success as a social worker. Then again he has the gift of gab, and he ought to make a good lawyer. Also his splendid personality and keen industry are good requisites for a successful business.

Well, whatever he undertakes we wish him the best of success. He is a most likeable chap and we feel sure he will be liked by countless numbers of friends outside of college, and will do his best in the interests of humanity and society.

NORMAN R. BECK
Quakertown, Penna.

Richland High School. Lutheran. Democrat. Teaching.

THIS gentleman drifted into our midst so quietly and with no general introduction, that we, the class of 1927, didn't know we had such a splendid, talented card player. League Hall boasts this student as its champion sharp at pinochle and hasenpfeffer. Norman is a very quiet fellow. He bothers no one. Good looking? Yes, we will say so. And judging by the letters we see, he receives from all parts especially from Kutztown, Pa., we believe that Norman must be a "sheik" with the fair sex. Then, too, he goes home every week-end. He says that he goes home to see the folks. But we wonder!

Norman served his Freshman year three years ago. Then he did some teaching near Richlandtown, Pa., where he was born and reared. And now he has come back to serve his prenticeship in the Ph. B. course, so that he may become a most competent teacher. And we wish him much success.

A trusty Sophomore and a loyal Freshman are Norman's side kicks, and when we wanted to know who Norman Beck was, we were told to look about for those two worthy gentlemen, and we were sure to find Norman in their midst.

Norman is a good student, works hard. He is a very likable chap when one gets acquainted with him. He is from the rural section of our beloved land, and like most of the type from that section, he is a bit reserved, conservative, and wears a sunny smile.

Norman is a non-frat man, and he says he is a Democrat with strong emphasis, so we conclude that although he doesn't enter politics while attending college, we believe he shall take an active part in some presidential campaign for the Democratic Party. We wish him the greatest success.

LUTHER W. BEGEL

"L" U" is another one of the boys hailing from the sticks of upper Carbon County, boasting as his home town Weissport, a place where good beer still flows freely. However, Lu is one of the most popular members of our class. He has been one of our number only for the last two years, having taken one year's rest after the completion of his Freshman term. This however did not affect his standing among the class in the least for he fell right in line with those whom he at one time might have liked to beat up.

He is by no means immune to the opposite sex, being one of the faithful patrons of Mealey's and the Traylor. During the diphtheria quarantine at the Phi Kappa Tau house this last fall, he spent considerable time in learning the Charleston and ever since has been suffering from the malady. Lu boasts of friends of the opposite sex in nearly every town in the Lehigh Valley, yet he claims that Lehighton, the town across the river from Weissport, is the best place to be found because Stell lives there and Lu says he wouldn't mind being private chauffeur to her Overland Six sedan. He'd do it for nothing and even buy the gas if she would let him.

As an automobile mechanic Lu is hard to beat. Consequently Prof. Shankweiler has hired him as private groom for his car. No wonder Lu made such excellent marks in his Biology Courses last year.

We feel sorry for Grumpy as he is sometimes called, because of his keen appetite for Wirth's embalming fluid. He claims to be the only man at Muhlenberg who was ever petrified.

However, after making several dirty digs, we must say that Lu is one fine chap, and is liked by everyone with whom he has come in contact. His common sense and willingness to help in any emergency has won for him many friends. With the nissus which he portrays and the determination which he has to make good, we believe that Lu will some day be one of the great men of the future.

Emaus, Penna.

Emaus High School. Keystone State Normal School. German Club (2,3). Reformed. Democrat. Teaching.

AFTER eight years experience in the teaching profession, "Senny" decided that he lacked something. Making a thorough inspection of himself he came to the conclusion that satisfaction of his mental cravings could only be had by enrollment at Muhlenberg. His booming voice echoing and reechoing through the Ad halls proclaimed his presence, and scarcely two days had passed before the faculty and entire student body knew of his existence.

"Senny" saw service with the A. E. F. and when not wrestling with the Huns he made many acquaintances and lasting friendships with people of many nationalities, (barmaids not exempt). These amicable bonds became so closely welded that, with the depressing conditions of a "dry" nation, "Senny," accompanied by an Emausian friend whose form and physical figure is worthy of an ex-bartender, made his way across the Atlantic. His exploits and daring adventure while touring European countries comprised the main feature of entertainment to all those who spent their study periods in the Students Rest Room.

His fluent usage of the German language, his undeterred preference for "Panic" corn cob contents, his unquenchable thirst for beer, and last but not least, his ever-mystifying taste and capacity for sauerkraut and limburger, mayhap accounts for his typical German appearance. Being thus richly qualified the Deutscher Verein elected him to its presidency.

In lodge circles, he holds membership and is active in the P. O. S. of A., K. G. E., and K. of P. On the feminine subject, he claims to be women-proof; not exactly to be classed as a woman hater because as he says, "women like dogs, have their days." His favorite evening occupation is pinochle playing, and he can be seen any night in a Broad Street Tobacco Store in Emaus, enjoying the game with a bewhiskered group of has-beens.

HAROLD W. BEYER
Pottstown, Penna.

Pottstown High School. Alpha Tau Omega. Frosh Football (1). Class Football (2). Asst. Business Mgr. of Ciarla. Fraternity Basketball (1). Class Basketball (1). Freshman Baseball (1). Reformed. Republican.

“JAKE” is one of the cocktails (distinguished from half-pints) come out of Pottstown, but differing from the Biblic version, in that it is a little good. “Jake” always is full of pep and nearly every one can recall the time when we were freshmen, and “Jake” was quarter of the Freshman team in more ways than one, too. What a mean beating the Sophs took that year, some say that is the reason they left a year before us. “Jake” has always been a fine football player, he did quite well, for a time at least. At Bethlehem Prep, or anyway that is what we hear from the rest of the team, he was one of the dying lights.

One of the big reasons for the success of the CIARLA has been due to “Jake” for his earnest collection of the assessments for the payment of the CIARLA. “Jake” was fortunate enough to secure the position of Assistant Business Manager to the CIARLA and has done his work well.

The success of the Alpha Tau Omega team in the Inter-Mural race for basketball laurels was in a large measure responsible to Beyer and his spectacular shots at forward. “Jake” is a man of many activities and his feats number; an active part in interclass basketball, and who can forget the time when he almost lost a leg when playing on the freshman baseball team.

Naturally we cannot close this poor compilation of “Jake’s” varied talents without a reference to his masculine attractiveness (a still small voice—sex appeal) which seems to grab off any woman any time he wants her. “Jake” really does have a wonderful profile, “don’t you think he screens well,” will be probably the cry of the theatre audience about ten years from now. If you don’t believe this, look at the above cut again.

“EDDIE” came from the famous football producing sand pit, New Jersey. We have authority for this statement, for Tursi and Borelli can back us up.

“Eddie” first came into the limelight as class president in our Freshman Year. For it was his excellent leadership that gave us the victory over the Sophs in all the traditional contests. We shall never forget how we soundly licked the Sophs.

Black was one of our best Ends on our football team. Under the excellent tutelage of Tursi, Black, with his former experience in High School, developed into a powerful man on the line. We are very thankful to “Eddie” for his excellent work on the gridiron and we are proud that our class can boast of such fine players on our football squad, and we have not a few.

“Eddie’s” greatest achievement as a Muhlenberg man is his part played in bringing a complete victory over Lehigh. That yarn will be played and sung many times in the hearts of this Junior Class. For a large part of the victory was due to the quality of the men on the team, and the Juniors are proud of its share of its members on the football squad.

“Eddie” was the class treasurer for the first half of his Junior year and as such proved quite a business accountant. We believe he will make an excellent business executive as his future vocation. Anyway the class wishes him the best of success in whatever he undertakes. We know very little of “Eddie’s” social affairs, but we do know that he isn’t a back number by any means. Anyhow he likes to go home over the week-ends.

GEORGE BORDEN, JR.

ball (1,2). Frosh Basketball (1,2).
Methodist. Republican. Business.

THE above mentioned young man was born at Groveville, N. J. During his lengthy term on this sphere he was one of the star athletes at Trenton High. But through the natural processes he went to Blair Academy in the wilds of cranberry bogs, but the lessons were too easy, there, so he decided to attend college where he would have a little more competition in his studies. If you wish to learn anything from George about French, ask him and he will tell you where to find it.

George is a great lover of sports but his main weakness is baseball. He is such an enthusiast of that sport, that he advises every mother to start her child right by permitting the "babe" to use baseballs instead of teething rings. He claims he made his start by getting hits from his parents in this manner.

George plays shortstop, because he isn't very tall, and therefore he doesn't have to stoop so low for the grounders. Speaking of size, he's a giant. 11 ft. 0 in. in his uniform. 5 ft. 6 in. up and 5 ft. 6 in. down. Another weakness of George's is going home week-ends to see the "only one." This little girl has been keeping George busy for four years, at least, and we all hope that they will be happy when George makes his million.

George, during his summer vacation, toured the Holy Lands and when he graduates he will probably motor through Palestine with his bride in their Jewett after which he will probably continue his work, aiding his Dad in his mince-meat plant, cutting up.

We have keenly felt George's absence through this second semester, but he is probably accumulating as little away from college as he did here, so that's that.

JOHN DAVID BOYD
Belleville, N. J.

Belleville High School. Phi Kappa
Tau. Episcopal. Republican.

YOU have no doubt seen a long blue great coat, a pair of glasses, a derby hat, and a pair of kid gloves emerging from E hall. The person concealed is none other than the great Jack Demosthenes Boyd.

While our friend is slight in stature, he, nevertheless, possesses a superabundance of voice, and a unique talent of using it. He speaks three languages fluently; good and bad English and profane. Few men attempt to argue with Jack because they are unable to talk loudly enough.

Jack hails from Belleville, New Jersey, a suburb of Soho. He came to Muhlenberg in '23 to pursue a course in B. S., which we believe he has since changed to bedology. Jack is a firm believer in eight hours sleep a day for every college student, however this is practically impossible for Jack, because Professor Shankweiler does not have that many classes a day. Jack would undoubtedly make out well testing mattresses for the Komfo people.

While our friend is not the proud possessor of one of the much coveted M's, the highest athletic awards of the college, nevertheless he has displayed his athletic ability many a time. Great credit, and honor is due him for his great game of football played at Lancaster. Jack is also to be congratulated on the mean beating he is able to stand in boxing. He also bids well to capture the championship for long distance sleeping.

Turning now to the aesthetic side of Jack's nature it will suffice to say that Jack is a great lover of flowers. We hear that he has made several visits to nearby cemeteries in search of the rare "Hydrangea."

To say that Jack has no ambitions would be incorrect, for he has two of them. One is a fair maiden now attending a university in Philadelphia, and the other is to get down to the house in the morning before the milk is gone.

However, in a few short years we expect to find Jack busily engaged in the oil business, and he has the best wishes of all the class for the utmost in success.

LADIES and gentlemen! step up close and take a look at THIS, he EATS, he sleeps, he walks, he talks, in fact he is almost human. Muhlenberg's one and only. By all reports he is making practical use of his anatomy course at Arbogast and Bastian, in truth we have heard that he is some "Cut-up." We wouldn't doubt that when he grows up he will probably marry a butcher's daughter in order to make both ends meat.

Now laying all jokes aside "Butch" is alright in his way, but all he weighs is meat. "Bert" hails from Northampton where the cement dust lays thick. Really he has a very fine personality willing to do anything that is asked of him. "Bert" is taking the Ph. B. course and is also taking a part in the B. S. He is a very good student and a hard worker. Bert seems to have all of his spare time taken up with work outside of school studies, that is, part of his spare time he may be found working at Arbogast and Bastian and the remaining time is spent on Ninth Street. You may guess the rest. Bert expects to teach, in which profession he will make good. His classmates wish him the best of luck, prosperity, and propagation.

Oley, Penna.

Oley High School. Phi Epsilon. Class Secretary (1). Asst. Editor-in-Chief of 1927 Ciarla. Scrub Football (1). Fraternity Basketball (2). German Club. Weekly Reporter. Reformed. Democrat.

THIS versatile gentleman trails from Berks County, land of sauerkraut and hasenpfeffer. His Pennsylvania German proclivities permit him to thoroughly enjoy both. Judging from all present indications "Poss" will be a second Croesus some day, for his appreciation of the value of the filthy lucre and his hesitancy in parting with it will greatly assist him to attain his ambition. It is rumored that he is quite a sheik, but he fails to satisfy our curiosity concerning his frequent trips to Oley. We suspect that some farmer-ette is involved.

But being serious "Poss" is quite a student, a modern Diogenes seeking the evasive truth. He is interested in almost anything and this inveterate curiosity will promise him rich rewards in scholastics. However "Poss" also devotes much of his time to music. He is quite proficient in this field and specializes in the organ. We wish him the best of success and believe that his determination to overcome all obstacles will give him material and moral satisfaction in his life work.

"Poss" is the assistant Editor-in-chief of this annual and has done excellent work to make it a worthy publication of the Junior Class. Indeed were it not for "Poss" the faculty section would be missing, for he just made his friend pony up and come across with the material for the Editor-in-chief. Thanks to "Poss" and in the future good luck!

TURN the spotlight on this bright and shining example of cherubic innocence and angelic purity, then listen closely. Johnny's idea of heaven is to pay a flying visit to "Mom" and "Pop" in Tamaqua. That's the excuse he gives; but between you and me, here's the real reason, best expressed in his own words, "When arrive, we're pretty hungry, so we eat; then we tell a couple stories, and by that time we're pretty hungry, so we eat; then we shoot the bull awhile, and then we eat; we start the victrola and dance, then we eat; perhaps we play pinochle for an hour, then we eat; before we go to bed we always eat; then we go to sleep and dream of meat."

Johnny has two bad habits; he snores, and talks in his sleep. In the middle of the night one can hear the following monologue: "I'll raise ya two. Gotta cigarette? I'll see ya."

He's beginning to lose all the hair on his limbs, because he's such a sound sleeper. "Pop" says he has to pluck at least twenty to twenty-five hairs before he'll even budge.

Johnny's right arm is still a little lame from pulling the "Ding-dong" on the "Toonerville" last summer. The reason for the insolvency of the said Co. is now explained. Incidentally Johnny passed a pleasant summer, except for the girls. They used to pull his ears and make eyes at him so he felt too bashful to collect the fares.

Every time Johnny goes up to the Traylor they hide the palm trees and lock up the silverware; otherwise, they solicit his patronage.

Seriously, Johnny's a pretty good fellow (when he's sleeping), and is never seen without a smile on his face or a twinkle in his eye. Confidentially, I might say that he's one of the most popular boys in school and according to present indications, bound to become a lawyer.

HERE is the tenor of the class of '27 and not a mere songster at that, but a producer of artists besides. Although this lark numbers Captain Kidd's parrot among his ancestors, judging by his display of vocabulary at times, he has been training the Angels with no small degree of success. He claims that this success is due to his interest in the work alone. We were compelled to believe him, when in his Junior year he became a member of the Glee Club, obtaining the positions of Student Leader and second tenor in the quartet at once. Christman was an organist and choir master for over a year before he came to Muhlenberg. He is one of the few who have turned upon the A. B. course and is greatly interested in church work, nevertheless he is not studying for the ministry. Praise to Moses!

His ambition, he tells us, is to be the head of a great musical conservatory, which he intends to superintend with the aid of a certain Mademoiselle from his home town, Wernersville. In order to develop a foreign atmosphere for his conservatory, no doubt, and possibly to increase his vocabulary for use on occasions where the English language is inadequate, he studied French with his characteristic tirelessness. After two years of this hard work he became vice-president of the French Club.

Christman is also a good pianist, and besides furnishing his class with music at their chapel services, has surprised even his most intimate friends by his rendition of numerous classics.

YES, he was. Why certainly he was born in Philadelphia, and what is more, one of his relatives signed the Declaration of Independence. So you can see he comes from a lineage of leaders, and the power of leadership has been inculcated into his very being.

"Cap" led the boys through a number of successful basket-ball seasons. In football also, he was dubbed by the newspapers as the "midget half-back." Could he tear? Remember the 1924 Gettysburg game?

Delta Theta elected him to represent her in the Student Council, and it is with pride that he dons his "Ferret Hat" on holiday occasions. Spiritually he was present at all the council meetings and his moral support has aided this group to pass judgment on many drastic measures.

Talk about your excellent feats, here's one that will stand on top for a long period. The East and West Pinochle Club decided that "Pauley" had held the singles title too long so they picked the night before a strenuous quiz to have the play-off of the 1925 championship. Well our noble protagonist was not phased in the least. He stepped right up and defeated "Reds" Weidemoyer, the leading contender, and on the following morning staged a winning battle against the Logic exam.

Not only has "Sergeant Clymer" done good work on the gridiron, but has proven his worth as a basket-ball captain in capturing several brilliant scalps of our noble cage opponents.

"Paulie" has a ready smile for all and we feel sure he will have much success in whatever he undertakes.

IT is noon. A human stream meanders in the general direction of the Commons. In the collection of headgear rippling o'er the surface a broad brimmed brown hat is easily detected. This immediately carries the imagination away to the warmer sunny climes and upon coming closer the even more sunny smile and cheerful face makes known to us our friend, Louie of Marlow, Georgia. He is the one man on the campus who can lay claim to simon pure southern drawl. This proved unfortunate when he drew a Dutchman as his first roommate. They spoke the same language but the difference almost reminded one of the Tower of Babel tale. After being gravitated into a third floor rear of West Berks, he began making friends and soon became an esteemed member of the Idle Hour Club. Many idle hours were spent, and also many that Louie should not have subtracted from the Dean's daily quota. No ill results followed, however, and the knowledge gained was immense. The dramatic moment often came when Louie left the room carrying his little brush.

Our friend's interest was soon to be turned in another direction, however, and for a time occupied much valuable time. But then, Yankee girls are attractive too (you must know), and this man is not exactly a woman hater. Picture then his dire distress when the mother entered the lists and vanquished our knight. But in spite of all the attractiveness of the Allentown girls "Coon" and Lenoir-Rhyne are familiar names to the postman. As a hobby, he is studying for the Lutheran ministry and while he is praying for souls his classmates are earnestly praying and wishing for his success.

Incidentally, the non-fraternity group is the proud claimant of his membership, not because of signal honors in athletic or scholastic works, but because he is so dramatic and true a friend.

The Blond Beast

YES folks, this is the boy wonder, it's a wonder they let him live. He has the most wonderful blond hair, just ask him and he will tell you all about it. The only thing really wrong about Doc is that he comes from the home of the "famous" Athletics. He has two great problems in life—one goes to Temple and the other lives next door. Rather embarrassing when he goes home.

Doc is a great believer in spirits. He almost had the Botany prize in his first year but he "spirited" it away from himself. He is also the man who claimed he knew Bethlehem—all points of interest carefully explained. He took one party over, but the only thing he could find was the post office and the subway.

His manly form can be seen at every football game wearing the Cardinal and Gray on the gridiron doing his bit for dear old Muhlenberg dashing up and down the field with a cornet in his hand and a cigar butt in his face wondering how he looks from the stands.

But really Doc is a hard worker and a harder handshaker for his calloused hands don't come from using a paint brush on his Dad's L. V. T. cars, as he would have us believe.

"Kid Epsom" is a man of varied athletic talents favoring "skates". He is a regular Arthur Murray on the rink but can change in a moment to a snow-plow for the front campus.

We can fondly look back over his three years of colorful but not artistic existence here and see Earl before us as a cunning little blond in his Kollege Kut Knickers, frosh from that prep school of all misguided youths—Drexel.

We know that you will be as popular and as well liked in Medical School as you are here, Doc, and we all wish you the best in the world.

LEONARD K. W. DEININGER

ketball (3). Lutheran. Republican. Law.

DID you ever see this good looking lad, hailing from Phoenixville, the town having more girls to the square inch than any other town in the country, strutting about the campus or dance floor? Sure, it's "Deiny." Well, "Deiny" sure shows that he is used to the feminine environment, for he is always neatly dressed and has a ready smile and a kind word for everybody.

Leonard came to us in our freshman year but spent his soph year at Dickinson Law School. However, Muhlenberg had greater charms for him and again we find him with us.

He can be seen almost every night about 2 A. M. strolling in from some heavy date—and they are always heavy. Incidentally he is a musician of no mean talent. He plays a wicked banjo, and tickles the ivories. We'll leave that to the rest of the boys.

"Deiny's" chief ambition is to take up law and outrival Darrow. Anyone who has heard him talk in classes will agree that he will have little trouble convincing anybody that he is right. Let's hope that he can also convince the fair sex that he is the one she needs. Well, here's luck, "Deiny." The Class as well as the entire student body owe you many thanks for the splendid music rendered for us while waiting for the meals at the Commons.

FRED W. DIEFENDERFER
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown High School. Phi Epsilon. Scrub for Weekly (1). Business Asst. Weekly (2). Business Mgr. of 1925 Calendar. Asst. Business Weekly (3). Student Council. Glee Club (3). Lutheran. Republican. Lawyer.

THIS is Diefenderfer himself. There can be no doubt about that, because we are all familiar with his dignified features and leisurely manner. He is not naturally sober; there are times when he expands and comes to a lighter view of life, and those are the times we see him. He is as jolly as can be, and so we like him.

From his Freshman year on, "Fritz" displayed remarkable business ability. He worked hard on the Weekly during his two years of service there, and was rewarded with the post of Business Assistant for this year. Outside activities interfered with his duties there, so his name no longer graces the Weekly masthead, but we all know of his untiring efforts in making the last Sophomore Calendar a success.

He rates high in his studies for so busy a man. Not only does he occupy himself with money affairs, but he also finds enough time to entertain a certain young lady downtown with all the grace of which he is capable. No one need fear that he will become a celibate, there's no danger of that, at all.

On the trip which the Sociology class made to Philadelphia this year, we noticed that Fred was most interested in the courts visited there. The reason is simple; he plans to attend law school after being graduated, and to emulate men like Solon and Hammurabi when he enters into his career. No doubt some day we will sit in the visitor's gallery of the House of Representatives and hear the speaker call for "The Gentleman from Pennsylvania," only to see Fred himself rise at the sound.

By politics, he is Republican. This is very good. Besides that, he clings closely to the Lutheran church of his fathers. And lastly, he is one of the brothers of the Phi Epsilon fraternity.

ALFRED WINFIELD DUBBS
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown High School. Delta Theta.
Business Asst. Weekly (2). Reformed.
Republican. Medicine.

DUBBS is probably the most unassuming individual on the campus. This trait is probably due to the extensive, interesting, historical, and mythical tradition that has constantly attended the life of this classmate. As a mere boy we find him as a little retreating codger, running away from his playfellows to some secluded spot, there to sit by his lonesome, reading Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. Historians will probably consider his past more diligently and accurately. We must be content with the chronicle of the present. A college president recently made the statement that college men are devoting too much time to scholastic activities, and consequently suffering the lack of proper social functions. Dubbs is one of the foremost men who today is helping to counteract this statement.

Few men on the campus enjoy a more wide and representative group of acquaintances. His correspondence in the interest of this acquaintanceship alone reaches from the New England states to the Sunny South.

Dubbs also has an interest in the potato growing section of Lehigh county. Last year in company with a few of his collegiate friends, he completed an inspection of the New Tripolitan situation. However, whatever he undertakes, Dubbs will prove his worth and we wish him well.

ALFRED JOHN EBERT
New Tripoli, Penna.

Keystone State Normal School. Druid.
Club Basketball (3). Lutheran. Medicine.

NEW Tripoli! That's where the potatoes come from. And like its namesake in Africa, there are also several sheiks up there. Here is one of them. Ebert came to us in the fall of 1924 and soon found and kept a place in the hearts of his classmates. A smile on his face is a sight worth seeing and he has a smile for everyone. Easygoing and good natured, he lives only in the present, with hardly a thought for the morrow, and he believes in letting the dead past bury its dead. Before enrolling at Muhlenberg, Ebert attended Keystone State Normal School and then taught school two years, during which time he did some extension work here. He intends to teach again after graduating. His chosen field is Biology and we predict a second Dr. Bailey.

Next to Biology, Ebert's favorite subject is English (with a question mark). As a typical son of Lehigh County, Ebert fell prey to Prof. Simpson's drill in pronouncing his v's and w's, his j's, ch's and similar sounds which an Irish tongue finds difficult to master. Many a football warrior does not lose as much perspiration in sixty minutes combat on the gridiron as Ebert has done in reciting a few lines of Shakespeare. English, however, is not Ebert's only bugbear. His love for History is similar to that of an elephant's for a mouse, and anyone who has been exposed to one of Dr. Mueller's courses knows that one simply has to know facts in order to pass the subject. To our worthy friend, the course in European History was a veritable Sahara desert.

A college man's biography would hardly be complete without paying some attention to his affaires d'amour. Like Alexander the Great, Ebert is always looking for more lands to conquer. His winning personality has won him favor in the sight of many a member of the opposite sex, but thus far, he has not attached himself to anyone in particular. There was one night, however, when it seemed as though Ebert had thrown discretion to the winds. Far be it from us to say what time he came in that night but suffice it to say that the young lady might as well have given him his breakfast before sending him away.

And that's that. In conclusion let's say that Ebert is just a regular good fellow and the best wishes of '27 go with him when he leaves his Alma Mater.

CHARLES SHANLEY FISHER
Bechtelsville, Penna.

Boyetown High School. West Chester

Lutheran. Republican. Teaching.

WHILE strolling across the campus one often heard the familiar words, "What's the hash for dinner." Without doubt this distinguished young gentlemen, Charles S. Fisher, could be seen in our midst. The Commons made a great appeal to this lad and he answered it by becoming assistant steward. To imagine the commons being managed without this hard working and ambitious young man would be an utter impossibility.

Charles hails from the Sunny Side of Bechtelsville, which probably accounts for his frequent visits to the town. However we know that he has not found any of the fair sex to catch his winning eye. But cheer up, Charles. A damsel is waiting and you shall receive her in due time.

One might ask the question, "have you ever seen Charles idle?" Without discussion, we conclude that he believes that an idle brain is the devil's workshop. This accounts for his continual grinding on his text books which by no means was a necessity because Charles is numbered among the leading students of his class.

Whenever one wants a true friend, please look him over. He is always generous and willing to lend a helping hand, and above all, a jolly fellow to have in one's presence.

Charles has great mathematical ability. His professors know it, and consequently on frequent occasions he was appointed as a private tutor. Some day we shall read about this great professor who proved Einstein's theory of Relativity false. German flows smoothly from his lips and some day he expects to be instructor of the same.

We all wish him success and feel confident that some day he will be rewarded for the efforts that he put forth while at college.

HERE'S the long and short of it, gentlemen, mostly long. This popular replica of Jeff fills a big place in the proportions and affections of the Junior class, there's no doubt of it. True as this may be, Muhlenberg cannot satisfy all his hunger for affection, or his hebdomadal flying, or otherwise, trips, to Lancaster would be inexplicable. If the hopes of the Junior class to plant the ivy in front of the Ad building, were not already destroyed, Bill would be sure to upset them sooner or later. The mystery is, how can he spend his week-ends in Lancaster and still manage to stand so high in his class—she must be a wonderful inspiration. If Bill is not a poet now, he will soon develop into a first class one—he has to compose a letter every day. He orders his stationery by the bale and is thinking of getting a private secretary to file his returns.

Bill may be studying to become a minister but that does not prevent him from having a good time or being exposed to the process. What a lover of fun he is! He follows the principle that a poor pun is better than none and lots more fun, quoting Dr. Haas as his authority. Have a care what you say around this innocent looking gentleman, or you are sure to be the butt of one of his execrable puns. No doubt you will discover after a while that he was trying some doubtful joke on you to see if it is fit to be put in the Ciarla. Yes, his ability in this line has earned for him the position of joke editor for the year book and we can't imagine it in more capable hands

Our lanky friend is an active member of the German Verein and the language comes so naturally to him that one imagines it is native to him. He took a part in one of the German plays given last year by the Verein and got away with it. Bill is also a member of the Druid club and one of the organization's big claims for recognition on the campus. In politics he follows the banner of the elephant, at least as long as it is in power and religiously is affiliated with the Lutherans.

JOSEPH EVAN GEHRINGER
Emaus, Penna.

Emaus High School. Phi Epsilon. Asst. Varsity Basketball Mgr. Student Body Rep. to Athletic Association. Class Basketball. Fraternity Basketball. Lutheran. Democrat. Law.

THE Emaus Sheik! We are not sure whether Joe has a better pal than his serviceable Ford or not, but we do know that he is very much interested in music, and besides taking in the humdrum of his musical machine, Joe takes lessons on the harp. Most of the time he can be heard playing in Macungie, where he receives his instructions by correspondence course from Boston. We would like to advise him; that is, we who have heard him practise; to practise shoveling coal. It would sound so much better especially at this season.

Joe is very much interested in the dead languages. His intended profession is Law and we are positive of a successful career for our dear friend. Joe is also interested in the Athletics of our college, spending much of his time as Assistant Manager of the basketball team and serves as well on the Athletic Association.

He is not like a sailor, who has a girl in every port, but has the characteristics of the collegian having a girl on every davenport. His range of social activities extend from Quakertown to Palmerton, not drawing the color line or the age limit. His favorite expression is "My oberazion."

Joe is the sort of fellow with whom one may form real companionship and makes a fine pal. He is a good student and athlete, a social man and best of all a true friend to many. We wish him the best of success in the future and feel assured of it, from his reputation as a toreador. Good luck to you Joe, we are all with you!

CLAUDE M. GERHART
Pennsburg, Penna.

Perkiomen School. Ursinus College.

POOR Claude! No wonder the women all fall for him. We have it on good authority that our worthy hero contemplates writing a book on beauty secrets for men. Claude has adopted a policy all his own. He evidently thinks that Muhlenberg students should be neither seen nor heard on the campus. His ambition is to occupy the chair in a course to be adopted by all of the foremost colleges of the country, the name of which will be "How To Cut Classes Consistently." We wish him all success in this worthy endeavor. He commutes between school and his home every day and each little snow, wind or rain storm is sufficient excuse for him to stay at home in the morning.

We see so little of him here that no one seems to know much about his qualities or his failings. We deem it advisable, therefore, to refer our readers to "Eva" (or is it "Ada"?) who called Claude on the phone three or four times this year. We can say this, however, that he is quiet and unassuming, and when with a crowd is a "jolly good fellow." Lately he has taken an interest in the radio business in his home town and when not trekking towards Muhlenberg he can be seen canvassing the Perkiomen Valley for radio prospects. During the last few summers he spent his time between going to school, passing off conditions, and increasing the attendance at the carnivals and fairs held round about East Greenville.

JOHN BLANK GEISSINGER
Bethlehem, Penna.

Bethlehem High School. Alpha Tau Omega. Manager of Track (3). Class Football (1). Weekly (2). Asst Editor of Ciarla (3). Glee Club (2,3). Band (3). German Club. Lutheran. Republican. Teaching.

TO do this blond Viking, or rather Bethlehemite, full justice, it seems necessary to make a catalogue of the honors which Muhlenberg has to offer. Not that Johnny was seeking them, but because they come naturally to him. Handsome and amiable, industrious, and possessing that quality so much admired by all professors, Johnny finds a comfortable nook in the affections of the entire student body.

It is duly fitting and proper to mention first that quality which our subject is most proud of. It happens to be the histrionic gift of female impersonation and the German play presented last year gave him an excellent opportunity to display his art. He attributes his ability to the painstaking and careful study he has made of femininity from adolescence up. To say that he is bewitching in petticoats and paint is barely touching the surface of his charm.

Quite in contrast to this, is the love of athletics and rough house in general which Johnny displays on occasion. He is the proud possessor of a set of class numerals won by playing class football in his sophomore year but his pride is not strong enough to get him to wear them. His tendencies will be diverted this year by piloting the track team through its spring schedule.

After we have made mention of the fact that our friend is also a two year member of the Glee Club, the Glee Club Orchestra, and the College Band, this tale must begin to savour of a fairy story but we can assure you that it is all fact. How can he help being popular?

Due credit for the appearance and contents of this year book must be given to our talented friend for he has been one of the hard working staff who have made it possible. Fraternally, Alpha Tau Omega is proud to claim his allegiance. We feel that he has made a wonderful beginning toward success and wish him all further success in the profession which he has adopted.

RUSSEL WEIDER GILBERT

retary (2). M. C. A. (3). Lutheran.

MI-A-MI, look who's here! One of the popular passengers of the Emaus Blizzard. He, with the others, blew into Muhlenberg in the Fall of 1923. He landed pretty hard, too, because the bump may still be found on the back of his cranium. But this failed to daunt the young Lochinvar, for he soon collected himself and started to dig. Since then his friendly heart has won many friends, and his head, a position of admiration in the scholastic heaven of our class.

We are glad, for his sake, that there are no laws against speeding in the romantic world. He has a peculiar weakness for that species of femininity which possesses the name "Helen." O! "He loves them in the morning and he loves them at night." Ha! Ha! Ha! That's good! Just a minute, "Russ", till I whisper that one to the folks. He had scarcely been introduced to Helen H--, when his college emblem grew feet and walked into her hand.

On the campus "Russ" is a very amiable chap. He is jovial. There is never a frown on his face, except the morning after a boring two o'clock session the night before. His keen sense of humor gets him through many close quarters. He is always ready to tell jokes (especially in Latin class). Where he gets them, we've stopped trying to guess. Some are good; others not s.g.; and sometimes they are like an Englishman's pun. We wonder where the humor lies. You would too. When it comes to oratory "Russ" is certainly a "Crackerjack." We admit he throws "some line," but still he has the vim, vigor and vitality to put it across. Why! With his pep it would even be possible to sell an undertaker, a life insurance policy.

But now, without kidding, "Russ" is a regular fellow and a good student. He is steady, energetic and reliable. He is interested in all worthy causes and always ready to do his bit. Gilbert's favorite hobby is writing plays and has written several. He has a keen dramatic sense. Keep it up, Russ, and you will be an asset to the world as you have been to your Alma Mater!

HARRY JACOB GOLDSTEIN
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown High School. Sigma Lambda
Pi. Art Editor Ciarla (3). Wrestling
(1). Asst. Band Leader (1,2,3). Hebrew. Medicine.

HERE we are. The Adonis of the class of '27. This young man far outshines the god of yesteryear in comeliness. We know of one fair damsel in the city of Easton who was entranced by him and he by her and when we see a faraway look in his eyes, we know he thinks of Easton.

Harry came to Muhlenberg from Allentown High School, class of '23. He is an athlete. Nuf Sed. During the 1924 wrestling season he nelsoned and headlocked his way to many a victory (?) over the lads from Bethlehem.

Drawing is another hobby of his. His lecture hours are spent in sketching those about him. Our Ciarla is thankful to him for many of this year's cuts. When his magic artistic touch is translated to pen and paper, the soul inspiring pipe dreams of a smoker seem like smudges in contrast to those of him.

What are those notes I hear. "If you knew Susie." It can be no other but Harry. He trombones his way through Susie and Collegiate and no one can keep his dogs from spreading around. Our post office is taxed to the utmost with letters of congratulation when he and his orchestra broadcasts from WSAN. If you have been to any home football game this year you would have seen Harry either tromboning or leading the band for the position of assistant band leader is his. The Unholy Five claim him as a member. He can be seen lamenting the fate that kept him from that memorable visit to the Potato King. He also remembers that his brother late one night told him of the visit of the KKK who were looking for him. However it turned out that the party was a nice one.

One can hardly believe that such a young man has a weakness. This weakness is in the shape of a Stephens car. He knows her good points and tells everyone. He is also a Charleston maniac. At Mealey's we see him Charlestoning all over the floor.

A good student and a good pal is our verdict. In view of this, we wish him happiness and success in life. May he be a true Muhlenberg product of the class of '27.

BEHOLD, gentle readers, the Beau Brummel of the class of 1927, none other than the illustrious William Harned. From the day of our entrance into the fair halls of Muhlenberg, we have tried to emulate this young man in all social phases, but, alas, all in vain, for he is known to be the only man in college dressed strictly to the minute and in spite of all our efforts he is still the most popular visitor at our neighboring institution of learning across the creek. As freshmen we tried to follow Bill's footsteps, and vigorously we carried on our campaign to endow Mealey's and Mike Lane, but after a few months we gave up in despair for Bill always appeared wide-awake and carefree at eight o'clock classes while we—. But in all fairness to our good friend we must commend him for his indifference to the opposite sex since last June. Of course Carmichael's is rather far from Allentown. Perhaps the fact that distance lends enchantment might explain why daily letters now take the place of nocturnal escapades.

When we search the annals and archives of the faculty in an effort to discover Harned's scholastic attainments, we find that his activities in Spanish and Math are the most striking. The fact that Bill was Professor Corbiere's star performer is shown by the fact that his name has appeared more often than any other student's on the monthly roll of honor. In Math class where his ready wit helped him out of many a dilemma, he gained the significant name of "Steve" for his willingness to take a chance. He is also noted as Doctor Wright's most able logician.

At present he seems to be employed as the advertising manager of Zollinger & Harned Co., which position he fills very ably. Bill is one of the popular men on the campus. He was one of the football managers. We wish him a happy and a prosperous future.

HAROLD VINTON HARTMAN
Philadelphia, Penna.

West Philadelphia High School. Phi Kappa Tau. Weekly Reporter (2). Art Editor Ciarla (3). Asso. Editor Weekly (3). Protestant. Teaching.

TRUMP! Trump! then the noise in 220 E hall ceases. Our friend "Joe" arises from the "throes" of a blood thirsty card game and leaves the pinochle headquarters, places his collegiate bowl in his mouth and struts his manly form across the campus, quite unwillingly to answer the call to Fritchman's slave market to satisfy the desires of his hungry friends. For they crave food. When finished with his taks he throws up his hands and shouts, "Up from slavery."

Dr. Bowman, although he is not aware of the fact, almost had our friend convinced that he should throw religion, when he related with what ease some of our evangelistic workers make a living. This desire did not last long for he feared that there might be some graft somewhere and decided to take up some other occupation where he could rake in the filthy lucre more easily.

Our friend we believe is going to take up teaching as a life work and it will be but a short time when his students will come to his Alma Mater. They too like their tutor will begin their college career as a "Cardinal and Grey Collegian" fiddler and end their days as a waiter in the college commons. But before this happens there must be a new order of things.

"Joe" will never be forgotten here at Muhlenberg as a Junior Editor of the WEEKLY for his stirring editorial on "Too Much Religion." We are eagerly waiting the day when the WEEKLY will have to publish an extra edition with his editorial on "Too Much Hash."

"Joe" is known for his wise cracks and witty sayings. He is a great believer in the theory of "inequality of distribution," for he is always fearing that he is not getting all that is supposed to come his way and therefore is always desirous that justice be meted out.

"H. V." as he is sometimes termed by his friends has been very active in college activities. He was assistant cheer leader and secretary of the Junior class during the first semester, and is also a member of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. We are sure that after he leaves college he will continue his activity and make a name for himself.

WALTER FRANCIS HEINTZELMAN
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown Prep. School. Varsity Tennis (1,2). Football (1,2). Student Asst. in Biology. Lutheran. Science.

WALTER is one of the ambitious members of our class. He is always one of the first in the morning and one of the last to leave in the evening. All the students who are taking work in biology know "Heinz" and respect him.

He is the Biology Laboratory assistant and fulfills that position very satisfactorily. Anybody coming into the Lab knows that Walter is on the job. He is talented along various lines, being a good carpenter and mechanic, which makes him more capable, and enables him to keep the Lab equipment in good shape.

Heinz can always be found up in the Lab during his spare hours, making some extra slides, or out on some trip collecting various materials that are constantly needed for some special exercise.

Walt is also a great radio enthusiast. He builds his own sets, and tells us that there are very few stations that he cannot tune in on.

His athletic ability is another of his many characteristics, but because of his long hours in the Lab he has no time to partake of the regular sports. In his Freshman and Sophomore years, he played on the class football team. His chief sport is tennis, and we often see him with a racquet. He is a booster of athletics and never misses a game. But he likes company and is always seen at contests with a female fan.

"Heinz" intends to enter the teaching profession. He undoubtedly will teach some biological subject because he fairly lives with worms and beetles, with an occasional butterfly mixed for seasoning.

Walter proved that he is a good teacher on many occasions when the professors could not be present.

He has always seemed to have a weak spot for German but it was weak the wrong way or, at least, that was the faculty interpretation. He is always cheerful and obliging, always ready to help a fellow along. He is especially good in cooperation when it comes to sleeping in classes that don't pertain to biology.

CHARLES GERNERD HELWIG
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown Prep. School. Phi Kappa
Tau. Tennis Manager (3). Asst. Advertising Mgr. of Ciarla (3). Reformed.
Republican. Law.

TO hear this lad hailed right and left about the campus, you might think he is a prominent South American. "Tillie" is a busy man and as popular as he is busy. There is one field in which his activities seem to be useless, namely, his attempts to get past the barriers of the German exams and join the Deutsche Verein. Being born in the heart of the Pennsylvania German section, Lehigh County, Allentown and all, doesn't make the feat any easier.

Spring will show what "Tillie" is able to do in the line of guiding the destinies of the Tennis team. He generally makes some contribution to the playing ability of the squad for he wields a mean racquet. One of the first men the Freshmen learned to know was this martinet because tennis courts had to be rolled and no one was more fitted by nature for the job.

It is an easy thing for our sport to see red—no not what you are thinking about for he represents the height of good nature. His favorite shade is represented by an unruly mass of bobbed, copper colored or auburn hair. Just mention the subject and you can see a good illustration of what we are talking about.

In passing we want to make a casual mention of some of his other accomplishments for you know that keeping red in bounds is one. Not the least of these is a tenacious but discreet indulgence in pony trotting—that's rather blunt so we will say that he is a fair scholastic equestrian. The Traylor is the scene of his next important avocation and he always adds to the grace of the occasion. Surely not the least of his performances is the watchful care he exercises over his jolly chum Barnes.

Some day Helwig expects to guide the fortunes of some corporation, but we feel that he is wasting his talking abilities by not entering politics. Whatever field he may enter we feel that he will make a big success, and wish him well in whatever he undertakes.

WALTER J. HENDRICKS
Perkasie, Pema.

Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. Alpha Tau Omega. Band (2). Lutheran. Republican. Medicine.

WHO'S that walking down the street, who's that looking so petit, all the while whistling the great American National Anthem, Sugar Plum, why that is the great "Doc" Hendricks; and has he got winning ways—we'll tell the bright dark ages he has.

"Doc" is the school physician. His medicines are guaranteed to cure all pains and ills and if these can't cure them, his most honorable assistant, Miss M. I. H. can. This most gorgeous specimen of pulchritude has obtained a world wide reputation especially in and around New York City for possessing marvelous, gorgeous, and magnificent remedies for intriguing diseases which generally appertain to the time-honored pump.

As "Doc" is primarily interested in character study we would do him an injustice not to say at least a few words about it. First, foremost, severally, and lastly, "Doc" has discovered during his intensive study of this profound subject, that, in most cases character may be likened unto a reed shaken in the wind, (we don't mean the reed on his saxophone with which he is accustomed to perform in the College Band) and in one particular case that character is not so marvelous.

"Doc," without a doubt, is the busiest man around Musselberry. Besides spending thirty some odd hours a week attending classes he holds down an ordinary man's job at the American Drug Store. "Doc" passed his State Board exams last fall and is now a Certified Pharmacist. In this manner he makes himself entirely self-supporting and also manages to acquire grades that are above the average in his class. Yes, a very remarkable chap is "Doc". The secret of "Doc's" success is his use of the systematic schedule of work as set forth by Dr. Wright. "Doc" has some activities on the cards for every waking moment and he's never even heard of procrastination.

Doc, however, always has time to be a good fellow and the only time he ever deviates from his schedule is when it is necessary to do someone a good turn. He's always right up on deck with the good old helping hand. Good luck to you, "Doc."

KARL SEFING HENRY
Topton, Penna.

K. S. Normal School. Alpha Tau Omega. Glee Club (2,3). Band (3). Asst. Adv. Manager Ciarla (3). Lutheran Ministry.

YOU are now gazing upon the countenance of one of the biggest men of the class, both in respect to his physical size and in the amount of work he has done for the college. In fact the first characteristic led to his being chosen to lead the best college band in the country on parade over Allentown, Bethlehem, and Gettysburg. At our football games this fall the man who, next to our own All-American Nick, was most discussed by the spectators was none other than Karl Henry, our drum major.

Karl came to us from Keystone Normal and entered the freshman class, realizing even then that it was far superior to all other classes in college. Since his graduation from Keystone he has returned at regular intervals. We do not know whether it is his love for his Alma Mater or the fact that the road is so good that makes his affection for Kutztown so constant. Karl hails from Topton which he says is halfway between Allentown and Reading. We know that to him at least it is but a suburb of Kutztown. Perhaps that is why he is better known to his friends as Hank.

Hank's frequent wise cracks prove that the old adage "A pun is the lowest form of wit" is not true in all cases. His ability for ready response made him the most successful campaigner of all our advertising managers, and no less a personage than the Dean himself can testify to Hank's brilliance and never failing wit. Hank has always been an apt student of Latin and Greek, and this year he has reached the pinnacle of success in those departments. He has extended even Doctor Wright's ingenuity in the field of machinery and agriculture, especially the functions of the Buick clutch.

It is the Glee Club, however, which gives us the best clue to Hank's social prowess. With his fine deep voice he took everyone in hearing by storm as his ever increasing correspondence testifies. We believe, however, that the first love is still the strongest.

On account of his carefree, jolly, and yet spasmodically serious nature we predict great success for Hank in the ministry. If the congregation doesn't appreciate or realize the profundity of his sermons he can play his banjo and sing.

ARAL M. HOLLENBACH
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown High School. Phi Epsilon.
German Club. Lutheran. Republican.
Medicine.

THIS mild, handsome young gentleman is one of Allentown's most famous sheiks. In this particular department of the game he has proved a distinct disappointment to all who looked for shyness behind his benign features.

Aral is taking the B. S. course in spite of the significance of his initials. He may be a doctor some day, if his present ambition remains, but it is not apt to. He has too much ability in the grocery business to waste, and with his scientific training he should make a rather dangerous competitor for the renowned 57.

Who hasn't seen our hero promenading up and down Chew street, with his fair lady, or driving her about in his super-power Nash? That engine of destruction has borne many a happy party to frat dances or outings, and has harbored many more on these trips. Its dare-devil driver and fair mistress can be expected to turn up almost anywhere and anytime. No wonder Aral is one of the most popular men in the class.

When Harry Banghart was here, he used to chaperone Aral with great regularity, but in his absence the gracious grocer must take care of himself. There are more than enough to help him do it, but Aral likes to flee far from maddening crowds and walk by himself. In his studies, "Hollie" is very systematic and very successful, too, as his term reports show. Over in the chemistry lab. he can make just as vile smells as the instructor, and he can dissect a hoptoad with the grace and delicacy of Shankweiler himself. He is the only man who knows what Dr. Wright is talking about when he mentions the San Jose scale.

Altho he is not very prominent in campus activities, he makes it a point to attend every affair held by the student body and by the Phi Epsilon fraternity, with which he is affiliated.

THOMAS ANDREW JACKS
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown High School. Delta Theta.
Football (1). Lutheran. Republican.
Law.

BEHOLD the visage of a young man who is as good as he looks! The son of a well-known business-man, an adept in the political arena, this off-shoot bids fair to emulate the success of his father. Good college standing permits this El Joven to participate in many college activities besides mere study.

Although in high school a noble pigskin warrior, his college career finds him eschewing a personal active interest in athletics. However, an occupation which demands his attention during the balmy months of summer, has developed our hero into a natator par excellence, in fact, I dare say, that should Muhlenberg have a swimming team, this human seal would shake a wicked toe in any race. As a tripper of the light fantastic, he has, together with other Muhlenberg satellites, helped to fill the coffers of Sam Traylor.

And, oh, do not allow me to forget the most important. He is a veritable Barney Oldfield, and never is more content than when seated behind the wheel of his pet Gardner, an interrupted eight. This car has lots of speed, it has even been known to go forty miles an hour (just think of it, in these days when cars only make 75) and makes several big hills on high, as for instance, Linden street.

Anyone who knows this gentleman is bound to like his pleasing personality, and that goes for both male and female. There is a saying, "Cherchez la femme", and that is the case here. Well, in these days of specialization, it is not necessary to seek far (yes, dear readers, she is petite, brunette, and tres belle). Of course, they are both young and have plenty of time.

With a reputation as a shrewd business-man, in spite of his tender years, he has been known to squeeze a well-known coin so hard that the Indian yelped for mercy. Of course, this characteristic is sought for in all treasures, for that is one of his favorite capacities. A propensity for business that is even now so well-developed is bound to land our genial friend in the lap of success. His classmates wish him bon voyage on the journey of life, knowing that the port will be Achievement.

JOHN ANDREW JANISAK
Slatington, Penna.

Allentown Prep. School. Delta Theta.
Asst. Circulation Mgr. of Weekly. Fraternity Basketball. Lutheran. Democrat. Ministry.

SOMEWHERE hidden away in the woods of Eastern Pennsylvania better known as Slatington, hails this little gallant specimen of humanity, sometimes known as "Mushie," John Janisak.

One bright afternoon, a freshman, the above named, embarked from the train with his knapsack in his hand. The first thing he did was to find a cop and inform him that he was going to be a preacher and he has been trying to convince every one since. But if anyone were within earshot of some of the lines that he recounts in his orations, they would hold a different opinion.

When "Mushie" is not delivering one of his fine orations he is found bundled up in some corner. By the middle of his Sophomore year he had broken all long distant sleeping records with his nearest competitor by 2880 hours. May he never die young from lack of sleep. He can often be seen walking about like one in a daze. Perhaps it is his nature or attitude, but we believe he has his thoughts on some one of the fairer sex.

However, his future is rather doubtful, but if Mrs. Whoeversheis finally bags him, there may be no doubt as to the success of our "would be minister". Yet it is strange the power of women over some type of men, for example, "Mushie."

John would be a successful and prosperous student on the campus were it not for his sole idea of trying to surpass the former champion of the dormant class. However, we do know from the report of others outside that he is a good preacher and can speak the Slovak language very well. John is an assistant in the circulating department of the Muhlenberg Weekly, but since the faculty oftentimes miss their numbers of that excellent paper, we will let you decide the reason.

OWEN JONES
Wind Gap, Penna.

Albright. Delta Theta. Class Football. Fraternity Basketball. Track. Varsity Baseball. Presbyterian. Democrat. Ministry.

INTO our midst came this man who has acted in the capacity of spiritual adviser to his classmates. And he has had much experience.

Since Owen was twelve years old he preached before thousands of people in many of our larger cities, heralded as "The Welsh Boy Evangelist." Therefore, the class of 1927 is indeed fortunate to have so prominent a figure among its group.

And "Preacher" Jones is not only a good preacher! Indeed before entering Muhlenberg two years ago, he was football captain at Blue Ridge College, and also played football at Albright Prep. However, baseball is his best and most favorite sport and he is an excellent man with the mitt. "Preacher" was much the life of the baseball team last year. The source of pep was in Jones, but it radiated to the other players and believe me, we had some fine baseball team.

"Preacher" hasn't fallen for the opposite sex. He seems rather immune, but we believe that some day he will fall and fall hard.

Owen has a pastoral charge at the Bethel Congregational Church of Slatington and of course his frequent evening visits, called pastoral duties may be courting events too. That's for some wiser sleuth to find out.

"Preacher" is a minister of the Presbyterian faith and is a very competent and fluent speaker. He is well-liked among his parishioners, and also has many friends on the campus. His "carriage palace" comes in handy on rainy days.

Jones is at Muhlenberg to broaden himself in his field of work and he does good hard work, because to him there is nothing like the duties of a pastor to his flock. To "Preacher", the class wish the best of success in the service of the Master.

PAUL W. KAPP
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown High School. M. C. A. (1, 2). German Club. Ciarla Staff (3). Lutheran. Democrat. Ministry.

GIDDAP! Here he comes. He is warning his countrymen of danger. It's Paul Revere-d by all with whom he associates. What a commanding personality! Well, that shows his relation to the great general. Allentown should be proud of such a historical personage. But what's in a name? Kapp will be greater than any of these men. He is small in stature, but so is the atom, which sometimes causes terrible explosions by the production of hot air.

The body and the soul are two essentials of human life. They go hand in hand. Perhaps that is why "Virgil" is so fond of nurses. He's not as bashful as he seems to be. He falls in love head over heels with whatever nurse he meets. That's the idea, amateur Romeo. (?) She saves the bodies; you save the souls. Just follow that plan, and you will have a well-balanced family and well-balanced rations. That will be a second Austria-Hungry, a dual monarchy. Three cheers for his would-be wife! "Virgil" will have to save many soles. Take care. Don't get the heel.

Kapp is a fine, conscientious student. He has made many friends at college. Yes, a smile will go a long, long way. He is dependable, always willing to serve. "A friend in need is a friend indeed." Keep it up, and success will be yours.

In oratory this youthful Demosthenes is a shining light. Although he is not accustomed to "moon-shine", yet he reflects the rays of the Son. He has stilled and thrilled many church audiences with his pleasing personality and his oratorical ability. "Virgil," please answer this question. Is your preaching the only attraction in Monroe County?

Kapp believes in reaching the goal gradually. For example, at first he traveled on foot; then he rode the bicycle, which he still does sometimes; now he drives a car. What's next? The chauffeur? Without joking, "Virgil" is cut out for the ministry. He has already had fine experience in his chosen profession. The saving of the soul is his sole determination. The future is waiting for you, Kapp. Meet it.

DAVID BROWN KAUFMAN
Emaus, Penna.

Emaus High School. Druid Club.
French Club. Asst. Cheer Leader. Lutheran. Democrat.

DAVID is a loyal grandson of Muhlenberg. He comes from Emaus, a town several years ago often mentioned for jesting, but now it is well known as the home of many prominent professional men. His town is proud to claim him as a brilliant jewel in its crown.

He is making an exceptional record at college because of his determination from the very beginning to uphold the scholastic and athletic standing of Muhlenberg. Not long after he honored us with his presence did we perceive that he had mastered Latin. And in a very short time by the same formula, studying, he displayed an exceptional skill in handling Greek. Studying seems to be his greatest pleasure for he never enters the class room unprepared. All his honest and conscientious work has certainly not been in vain, since we know that he is one of our honor men and intends to use his talents in the study of law.

Unlike many studious fellows he devotes much of his time and peaceful personality to developing a cooperative spirit around school. He is one of our most enthusiastic followers of athletics and holds the exceptional record of having attended almost every athletic game played by Muhlenberg during his college career. Being a great worker in this field he was elected as one of our cheer leaders.

Besides the activities of this virtuous young man it would be wrong to omit that he appreciates good jokes, and stories and he delights in contributing to the jollity of the bull sessions with his powerful voice thundering a hearty laugh. In fact he has the most sincere laugh and smile of any around school. We know that there is a large seat at the heights of success waiting to be filled by zealous David.

HENRY MILLER KISTLER
Pennsburg, Penna.

Perkiomen School. German Club. College Orchestra. Lutheran. Republican. Ministry.

WHIS! Bang! Whoa! Here's Henry. No, not Henry Ford. It's Henry Kistler, one of the famous Kistler aggregation. Reared in the wild and woolly town of Pennsburg, he thrived on the fresh air and romantic life of that burg. From there he came to Muhlenberg, entering the illustrious class of '27.

Henry is officially connected with the Kistler Boarding House. He holds several lucrative positions (jobs) at Kistler's. Although he is an excellent waiter at the table, he also waits on something else, namely the women. For the latter he is still waiting. We hope he won't have to wait too long. However, if you saw his correspondence you would have an entirely different opinion. Although a bashful Romeo he expresses his love in letters circulating to various female victims in Collegeville and Reading. Of course this is giving away secrets.

As to enthusiasm, it sticks out all over him. Coming across the campus at a snappy pace, having head erect and swinging his arms, he may be seen to stop with a jerk. His speech also comes in spurts. He is full of pent-up energy like a miniature volcano erupting at unexpected times. If you don't believe it, just listen to him speaking when excited.

Henry does not belong to the class of furniture polishers at school. He is an ardent student and is always plugging away at his books. All his spare time is spent in his room or in the library. He has no social bump. As to the finer arts, (smoking, chewing, and drinking), he is not adept.

We do not know what he intends to do when he gets through college. He has tried his hand at touch-farming, factory boss, and restaurant-waiter. However his most serious inclination seems to be towards the ministry. Pity the members of his congregation. We, the class of '27, wish him a long and successful career.

LLOYD WARREN KLEINFELTER
Lebanon, Penna.

Lebanon High School. German Club.
Lutheran. Democrat. Ministry.

THIS calm and pleasant face is the property of one of the happiest men on the campus. He is a man who is happy in himself. He hasn't much to say but what he says he means. He is really a man of a few words. It took his roommate six weeks to find out he had left a girl behind him. He comes from the farm but he is far from green. Lloyd can play as good a hand of pinochle as the Lord High Mayor of Dublin himself.

He is also a great hunter. Give this man a dog and a gun and all the rabbits in the vicinity of Lebanon take a vacation. And when it comes to classes he knows his stuff. We are inclined to believe that there is a great deal of midnight oil burned in 301 W. Berks; results show it. It is said when "Klein" had reached the ripe old age of thirteen months, he could speak Pennsylvania German fluently; and three weeks later, to have mastered an extensive English vocabulary. Those who have heard him translate Latin and Greek can testify to these aforesaid abilities. Furthermore, this boy has a certain air of refinement which has gained him many friends. However, there is one great mystery connected with the life of this young man. Why does he always return from home on the early train? Our hero expects eventually to enter the ministry and we know he will be successful.

GEORGE LEON KNOD
Pottstown, Penna.

Allentown Prep. School. Class Basketball. Roman Catholic. Law.

THE mildest manners, and the greatest heart. Knod says: "Pottstown against the World." Your first impression of this young man is that he is too bashful to own his life as his personal property. But as you become better acquainted you soon find that he can take care of himself in a very pleasing manner.

Knod is a good student, a good pal around the campus, and in the Dormitories he is a tenor to good works. You say he is shy! But— you should see him with the women. There is a little girl in black, that has come into his life, and we are of the opinion that when this young man receives his "Sheep Skin," he will say, "Well, how about a little cottage, a little family, and plenty of happiness?"

Knod can be seen, oftentimes, during the vacation periods driving a truck for his father about the vicinity of Pottstown. He is a very congenial fellow, a good sport, and a favorite friend to a goodly number of his classmates. The class of '27 wish him the best of success. He is known to his classmates as Knody. Knod's most prized possession at present is his pipe, and his favorite way of killing time is arguing. All his classmates recognize these famous words: "I don't know about that!"

JAMES PETER KNOLL
Fleetwood, Penna.

Lebanon and Fleetwood High Schools.
Reformed. Democrat. Teaching.

BEHOLD! another good man from Fleetwood. Although he is a man that goes about his work quietly, he is nevertheless one of great ability and, more than most of our students, has a memorable past behind him. Searching the records of time it is found that he graduated from Keystone State Normal School with honors and then taught in the Fleetwood High School for quite a number of years.

Being a strong advocate for physical exercises and hearing of Bill Ritter's fame for producing graceful "Charlestonians," he decided at once to leave teaching and take two years of Bill's classes.

"Jim" is a man of great and varied experience. He has visited all the national parks in this country, (not all of these have benches either) and also made a tour of England, Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, and Italy.

During the war he was in the navy and listed as an expert rifleman, and even helped to fire the shot that ended the war. Although he is an expert rifleman, it has not helped him yet to sink the arrow and so he still roams about free. How could such a man be passed by? This man takes a great interest in church work and is also the bass soloist in the church choir. We wonder what is keeping him off the Glee Club.

Knowledge and work make men! Our hero is a close follower of both, and we are sure of hearing of him again some day.

EARL R. KREIDLER
Bethlehem, Penna.

Bethlehem High School. German Club.
Baseball. Lutheran.

THIS sober, ministerial, unintelligent looking man comes from the east of Allentown, from that town known as Bethlehem, (not connected with the Wise Men) of the North Side where men are men but Kriedler will always stay Kriedler. He is of the class of twenty-four, of the Bethlehem High School and is at Muhlenberg taking the A. B. course in preparation for the ministry. However as far as his ministerial ability is concerned, he should be quite proficient after being graduated from Muhlenberg, for his line of talk in praise of the Almighty is quite profuse and fluent. This is not the only trouble that he has acquired while at Muhlenberg for he also seems to have acquired the infatuation of the feminine sex. For now and then we hear him speak of a girl from the sunny shores of nature's sandpit, New Jersey, which is at times the cause of his being quite sullen. However, on the whole, he is an amiable friend, although he quite often sends you to purgatory with his restless tongue. As a student of German and Latin he is at the head of his class. Thus after having elaborated on his best attributes and ascribed him to the profession of the ministry; we give him our hearty hand of success in his calling.

FLOYD H. LENGEL
Shoemakersville, Penna.

Schuylkill College. German Club. Lutheran. Democrat. Diplomat.

WELL, Bill, look who we have here. "Mr. Floyd Lengel," better known by the following, "Speed", "Dynamite," "Sheik," "Puss", "Dutch", und so weiter. Ya, he is a real dutchman, for he is a member of the "Deutscher Verein" and hails from Shoemakersville.

"Dutch" can often be seen in the company of Dasher whose home is below the Mason and Dixon line, strolling through city park trying to pick up some of Dasher's "Georgia Peaches."

Mr. Lengel's name has received wide spread fame in connection with public speaking and Oratory. So many requests have come to him, we are not saying what for, that he has finally consented to drop the work.

"Dutch" is a noted scholar from Schuylkill Sem, at which place he accumulated quite a bit of knowledge in languages. He can often be seen delving into the mysteries of Greek and Latin????

Notwithstanding the great affinity of "Dutch" and the opposite sex, he is a mighty fine and likable chap who will stand by a friend, even helping him in mischief. Do you want to know why Lengel's parents live on a farm? Well I'll tell you, here it is—Shoemakersville and vicinity is a wonderful place for raising members of the feathery tribe and, "Oh, those are my sisters," is invariably "Speed's" answer to a query as to who the good looking girls are whose pictures decorate the mantle of his room. But don't you think a dozen or more sisters is stretching it a bit too far? Listen, "Speed," don't tell too many of the men they are all your sisters or Shoemakersville will be overrun with college men.

According to rumors and affirmations from himself, "Foreman Lengel" was running around loose in Allentown the past summer, working around the college dormitories.

THEODORE M. LITHGOW
Coaldale, Penna.

Coaldale High School. Phi Epsilon.
Scrub Football (1). Class Football (2).
Fraternity Basketball (2,3). Asst. Art
Editor of Ciarla (3). Evangelical. Republican. Teaching.

A glance at the handsome and shy physiognomy portrayed above, would by no means give a clue as to the young man's ability. Boy, when they are so shy and timid looking beware, still waters run deep as the old Sage once said, and believe me it's no lie.

"Teddy", "Reds", or "Murphy", (He doesn't care what you call him and that is the reason why he carries such a repertoire of cognomens), can well be said to be one of the best known men on the campus. "Activity" is his middle name and he never leaves anything undone when once he has started something.

Even though studies take up much of his time, he still finds that his correspondence must be taken care of and so often we catch him in the act of reeling yards of epistles to some fair-one in the Panther Creek Valley.

Though I don't know the Sweet Woman, I heartily agree that she must be some "Pip", and since he pays homage to her so ardently, I can easily see why the Allentown Women don't rate, and why he seems so insensible to the beauty and quality of the females which pass the very advantageous point at 8th and Hamilton to which site I have often dragged him to acquire a little inspiration after a hard day's work.

Sometimes "Teddy" feels blue and lonesome, but instead of going out on a wild party, he yanks out his old friend the Ukelele and he sure does shake a mean one, with the aid of a Kazoo he is an Orchestra all by himself. "Ukelele Ike" has nothing on him.

Basketball is another pastime in which he delights. It is due to his no mean efforts and ability that his Fraternity has come to the fore in the Intra-Mural basketball competitions. Manager Lithgow certainly has a wow of a team and Phi Epsilon Fraternity which claims his membership surely appreciates his activity very much.

"Teddy" is a Science man and his ambition is to teach, my ambition is just to get a glimpse of him when in action, as for a prophecy I say that in time there will be no better instructor of our young American minds to be found in the country. Good Luck Ted. "Teddy" has also done excellent work as assistant art editor of this famous 1927 Ciarla.

JOHN R. LLOYD
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown Prep. School. Alpha Tau

mat.

AND now we come to immaculate Jack Lloyd with his carefully brushed hair, his well-kept white teeth and his generally neat appearance. Jack firmly believes that appearance goes a long way and so to that extent always has his best side turned to the public view. Jack, no doubt finds this rather an easy job as his best side is his biggest side and hence easily displayed.

Jack's path through Muhlenberg has not been strewn with roses, as his care free, easy going manner is not conducive to high grades, but tends rather toward conditions and doctor's excuses. However with the aid of two summer sessions and an increasing amount of work Jack has managed to stay with us and now realizes the futility of attempting to fool the faculty, so has buckled down to serious work and has become well off scholastically.

Jack's future is still rather vague there being nothing which he seems especially to favor. Law, diplomacy, and medicine have all received some consideration from him, but there has been nothing definitely settled as yet. Business seems the most likely profession for him to follow as it's the one from which he will have the greatest trouble getting away. Whatever it is, we'd like to predict, if it's in order, fair success, at least, as he's possessed of character and personality and we might suspect ability when he attempts to find out. Yes, Jack will get along and there's no one to be sorry if he does.

JOHN M. LUMLEY
Dushore, Penna.

Dushore High School. Delta Theta.
Asst. Baseball Manager (2). Class President (1). Progressive. Lutheran. Ministry.

BEHOLD Shakespeare's double and close competitor for the laurels of Antony. Upon the advent of this specimen from Dushore, located somewhere in the mountainous and sticks region of this Keystone State, our impression of his curly locks was that he was a close follower of Shakespeare.

But Jack soon showed his versatility as a student of the weaker sex. By the end of his first year he had quite a large number of broken hearts to his credit. Alas, this fair specimen met his Waterloo. Shortly after his return to school Dan Cupid punctured him in a vulnerable spot. From all appearances the wound was deep, as he immediately dropped all acquaintances of the other sex. We wonder why he makes a knightly (?) pilgrimage to Rittersville. We hope it isn't for a visit to the Asylum. May his crusades be fruitful and his freedom unquestioned.

Appearances had it that he was preparing for admittance to the "bar," but recently he informed us of his decision to enlist in the Soul Saving Corps, otherwise known as Preachers.

On the Campus he seems to be the pace setter in styles, for a pair of unusual trousers are often seen guiding him around. They are very convenient, as they keep the floors of the "Ad" free from dust and dirt.

Despite all these faults, Jack is well-liked on the campus and we hope to see his name in the Hall of Fame some day, as one of America's prominent----. Well, Jack, here's wishing you luck and success in your life work.

HAROLD LEWIS MARSH
Bethlehem, Penna.

Bethlehem High School. Baseball (1, 2). Lutheran. Republican. Law.

AND what have we here? Is this man or beast? It might be a man, and at times he claims to be such, but upon better acquaintance with Marsh, we would find out that he must be of beastly origin, assuming that the theory in which he claims to believe is correct. It must be admitted that he himself might have (perhaps be) convincing proof. To be sure opinions will differ, but it is doubtful whether Marsh is a man; and yet we do not wish to degrade him as a beast. However, beware, dear reader! Do not desire this information from Marsh; rather ask him how old he was when he fell on his head.

Moreover another thing we should like to know, is the reason for the nickname "Mush". Did Marsh receive the nickname "Mush" because he is soft as mush, or because he is very capable in the art commonly termed "to mush it" with the feminine sex? But we will not criticize our friend Marsh too severely.

He is a jolly, serious minded fellow and always friendly when terms are cash. He is neat and has the trait of minding his own business. Marsh also has a vociferous flow of language, in fact, he is well acquainted even with words not in the dictionary. This cannot be called a weakness; perhaps ability? However, Marsh has one bad weakness that seems to him an easy attainment, the habit of sleeping in most of his classes. Maybe he studies too late in the evening?

The class cannot forget however, the baseball ability of this member, for he twirls a mean ball, and he has lots of pep on the diamond. We wish him more success this coming spring.

Indeed, Marsh is an individual of individuals. He needs close watching, so step up and get acquainted. Good luck to you, Marsh.

JOHN ROBERT McCLELLAN
Catasauqua, Penna.

Allentown Prep. School. Lutheran. Republican. Ministry.

THE picture that now greets your admiring eyes, gentle reader, represents a young man, handsome and neat. In a group of young people he always has the floor, for everyone is glad to listen to his endless humorous stories. His favorite saying is "Did you ever hear this One?" and then the "ball" begins to roll. He does not indulge in a circumlocution of speech, but speaks with a directness which is occasionally startling. If the dictionary and Bible fail to supply him with a sufficient vocabulary he does not hesitate to go beyond that source. His sharp wit, however, never makes him disagreeable. Although determined and resolute in most things, he was long deciding whether he wanted a classical or a scientific training, but eventually fixed upon the former. As to his studies, they are secondary matters. He leaps over Greek and Latin fences of all heights in a most reckless way. He believes in a liberal education for everybody, but seems that he might become a bookworm. Even though he was not able to hold any offices during his college life or show any athletic ability he has the spirit which every red blooded college student ought to possess.

John is quite a society man. All girls look good to him. He believes in the proverb, "He who finds a girl finds a good thing."

John is more fortunate than many of his classmates. He is quite an efficient machinist and spends most of his spare time in repairing automobiles.

He also has the honor of covering sixty miles in less time than any other student. Once in a while he is called upon by the city police to demonstrate his ability to operate a car.

To questions about his future work he shakes his head, telling us in this way he is still undecided. Regardless of what vocation he finally decides upon the class knows that success will be his to the full.

HAROLD B. MILLER
Shiremanstown, Pa.

Mechanicsburg High School. Alpha Tau Omega. Ciarla Staff (3). Scrub Track Mgr (1). Scrub Basketball Mgr. (2). Weekly (1). Lutheran. Republican.

INTRODUCING, "The Colonel," the very latest fashion plate in which stubborn hair and tough beefsteak are most delightfully blended. His gruffness of voice in times of peace and his vicious intent when in peril, prove him well worthy of the name. "Toughy."

He originates from a family of bankers near Harrisburg, as he states it, Mechanicsburg, being that imperial nearness. Who knows but that some day it may be the capital of Pennsylvania, with Colonel Miller as its illustrious mayor.

Here is another little giant, a Napoleon whose capacity for soft drinks and pretzels is well nigh unlimited. It will require little force to exile him to the Lehigh Saengerbund, the palace of mirrors and pool tables. There he could indulge in his favorite pastimes, that of combing his hair and tantalizing the billiard balls.

After taking three years of history under Dr. Mueller, the Colonel has been moulded into a staunch Republican. Bill Ritter's gym classes are too mild to keep up his powerful physique so Harold frequently visits the Y. M. C. A. gym downtown. He does this for one of two reasons, either to condition himself for some world title (which he will choose in the near future) or to get full value out of his membership.

Harold would make an excellent theatrical producer after he graduates from Muhlenberg. His extensive study and survey of literature and drama will afford him a good foundation in this line. We hope he will never lower himself to the level of Musical Comedies or daring revues; but that the tragedies of Shakespeare or the operas of Verdi will find their best presentation under his direction.

Whatever career he may choose, we wish him the best of success. As to his venture upon the sea of matrimony—well to say the least, the Colonel should make a good mariner.

WE just call him Sam, but many more fitting names could and often are given to him. He is one of these "raring to go", young gentleman, but at that he always finds it hard to get down to some honest to God, hard study, although as we know, he does get onto the books once in a while, when he is not otherwise occupied.

He is a real radio fan, and you will invariably find him tangled up in some new radio outfit, or monkeying around his Ford or his dad's Chrysler. These cars seem to do Sam a rare amount of good, for many an hour of his precious time is taken up in speeding about town. Some of the boys even believe that Sam is training for a future profession as a taxi-driver, and at more than one time he has shown himself to be a quite proficient Dobie and brought it back east with him. We heard about it, and also about shaking Red's mit. Incidentally he 'went west' with our old friend, the Zuppke of freshman football at Muhlenberg.

Sam is also quite a social man and gets along in real good shape with the fairer sex. Cedar Crest used to be his favorite hangout, but now she's teaching school, and things have to be done by mail. We are looking forward to many great deeds from Sam, and think that we will hear from him in many ways.

EARL EDGAR MOLL
Red Hill, Penna.

East Greenville High School. Delta
Theta. Football (1,2,3). Baseball (1,2).
Lutheran. Engineering.

THE Hero of Red Hill (not Genszler, this time) was on the home plate. Toward him came the panting runner and the whizzing sphere which meant a run or an out. It darted toward his hand, the runner toward his foot. A ball game was at stake, and—"Bull" missed the ball.

This isn't the usual story. Both as an outfielder and as a catcher he is quite the cats. He won the Gettysburg game in his Freshman year by a whale of a long hit, but last year had the misfortune to break an ankle while out in the garden chasing a long one. His football prowess is well known too, for he very capably filled a guard position both on his Freshman team and on the varsity for his next two years.

"Bull" got his name by his tactics—he usually hammers the opposition until it isn't any more. This plan of action will no doubt help him when in Engineering he tries to conquer mountains or plans great structures. This is his ambition—here's to you, Irish! He votes the straight Republican ticket, except when induced by some means or 'other to follow Bernie's White Mule, and in addition, keeps in with the powers that be, by attending the Lutheran church here and there along the way.

RALPH N. MYERS
Sellersville, Penna.

Sellersville High School. Phi Kappa
Tau. Class Football (1,2). Class Track
(2). Lutheran. Democrat. Law.

“CY,” another of the Sellersville miscreants, has polished classroom furniture for three years, and has really been quite successful, as is evidenced by his recitations in Dean Ettinger’s Latin class. In fact, he is quite an artist at his work which is getting along with the least possible amount of study.

Let it be known here that “Cy” is a confirmed bachelor and woman-hater. No amount of coaxing will induce him to go on a date. For an excuse he always claims he hears the bed calling, whereupon he proceeds to pound his ear until late the next morning. It’s a mystery the way he avoids 8:00 o’clock classes. When he does manage to stay out of bed later than 9:00 P. M. he may usually be found engaged in a game of pinochle or in some prank, chief of which is throwing water from the arcade window.

“Cy” is a great football fan and was quite a player in his younger days. Whenever there is a game in the quadrangle he is sure to be there with a crowd of the boys admiring his fine punting. One night at 10:00 P. M. the thud of a ball was heard. Upon investigation there were Myers and Charlie actually kicking a football by the light of the moon.

During summer vacation time Myers finds Sellersville too small to hold him so he migrates to the mountains where he claims he gets a bath in the Delaware every day. Seriously though, Myers spends a profitable summer as physical director of a boy’s camp. Here he acquired another handle to his monicker, namely “Big Chief.”

“Cy” claims he is going to study law. We doubt it very much. The freshmen, however, vouch for the authenticity of this statement. They say that he convinced them beyond the possibility of a doubt that he was the sole owner of various radiators and other instruments of comfort about the dorms. After which he put up a sales talk and calmly proceeded to accept their check for these indispensable comforts. Notwithstanding these little tricks, Myers is well liked by the freshmen and is a popular man on the campus.

RAY IRWIN NAGLE

"Passion calls, and I would follow."

GOOD readers, here we have one of the most important reasons for the publication of the 1927 CIARLA. If this book does nothing but show this young man's photograph and his write-up, it still remains a monument to the noble efforts of the staff of the 1927 CIARLA.

At the beginning we must tell you that Ray is married and also is the daddy of a fine, healthy boy, whom we expect at Muhlenberg in the future. Ray came to us from Allentown Prep, where he graduated from later than his class, because of the World War. As one of Muhlenberg's ex-service men should we say, we are proud of his victories in fights resembling the Whiskey Rebellion? That reminds us that he is also a track man and a good one as shown at the convention of Potato men in northern Lehigh county. That was one of the worst battles he was ever in, for he tells many of the speed at which they sent shells at him.

We never said a word about the cocoanuts and well—I guess we'll let that go by. However, we cannot forget to mention his athletic ability. All primed with four months of grueling in training, Ray and the others of the Unholy Five awaited eagerly the coming Pagan-Minister football game only to hear that it was postponed. Then gym exhibitions were given for the benefit of the students and here it was that his fine talent was shown.

All in all Ray is a good sport and a fine friend. He often aids one even to the extent of getting a "cups of coffee" when it is needed. We wish him and his family good luck and the best and most of happiness.

ARTHUR HARRY NAUGLE
Shillington, Penna.

Shillington High School. German Club.
Lutheran. Democrat. Ministry.

HERE is a man that is always coming out on top, and we fear that if he don't soon stop he will be bald before very long.

"Sap" as this honorable, dignified, young specimen of humanity is called, hails from the fair city of Shillington, of which Reading is a suburb. Yes, indeed.

"Art" is very studious, and whenever one entered his room during his first two years at college, "Sap" could be found indulging in some books (religious, of course) such as: "Simon called Peter, Thars, The Plastic Age, Bacaccio's Decameron, and the other classics.

But this year some change has taken place. He is continually writing letters addressed (Miss, etc.) And besides writing these letters he makes weekly visits home. So we are coming to the conclusion that someone or some of the "fairer sex" has captured "Sap's" heart. We know that last year he had a great weakness for West Chester Normal lassies.

"Sap" is a hard Democrat, and is good at interpreting questions in many different ways. He may some day be the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. But in spite of his ability he has decided to enter the ministry. We know he will make good, because he is as pious and pure as the lily. Here's luck to him in the ministry.

JOHN M. NEMCEK
Aquashicola, Penna.

Palmerton High School. Phi Epsilon.

Lutheran. Republican. Medicine.

JOHN is one of the quiet boys of our class. But he surely is a friend indeed. If everybody wants anything done, all he had to do was to see John about it, and it would get done. He well deserves the name "Faithful John."

The CIARLA Staff was greatly indebted to John for the valuable assistance he gave in the way of typewriting articles for the printer for them. The Staff surely appreciated his kindness.

John comes from the hardest name to pronounce. Try it on your radio. His home is in Aquashicola, Pa. But it is a dear place to John, not only because of his homelike attachments, but also because there is a pretty "fair" basketball player living up in those regions that John just loves to see play basketball. Now we know why John goes home so often over the week-ends.

John belongs to that large group of "users of the weed," and when he and his room-mate, Deininger, get together for a smoke, you have a job getting the door open it is so thick with the blue vapor.

When John was a small lad, he had the fortune to visit the land of Europe, and sometimes will tell you some very interesting stories. John also has had some experience working during the vacation periods at the great New Jersey zinc plants which are located at his fair village of the mountains.

John expects to take up surgery and we surely wish him the best wishes of success in his chosen profession. We know he is a very conscientious worker and will make his mark in future life. John is a member of the Phi Epsilon fraternity and is well liked by not only his fraternity brothers, but by the majority of the men on the campus. Best wishes to you, John.

ELWOOD LESHERT ORTT
Emaus, Penna.

Emaus High School. Kutztown State Normal School. Football (2). Reformed. Democrat. Teaching.

A good nature coupled with broad shoulders, a melodious voice and soft curly hair is a combination, which neither college professors nor individuals of the fair sex can resist.

"Woody" vowed he wasn't interested in the women, and we believed him and were glad.

Of late, however, it was discovered that he wrote the thought uppermost in his mind upon the fly leaf of his text books as follows:

Laudare non amare est.

Loben ist nicht lieben, etc., and translated it into eight or ten different languages. We take it, he intends to tell the world that a man may praise a soft cheek, a slender form, or a neatly turned ankle and still remain a respected occupant of the bachelor's bench.

Mr. Ortt laid the foundation of his prodigious knowledge in the Emaus High School and the Keystone State Normal School. His social side was formerly developed exclusively by the P. O. S. of A. and the C. of F. and Die Yetta Boora. But now we hear, he is taking private lessons from a teacherette.

Woodie did come out for football, but we are sorry to say that his faults are mostly sins of omission. Possessed of a fine voice, he won't try for the Glee Club, playing in a band, he won't join the College Band, and a recognized wrangler, he won't try for debating.

He will make teaching his life work and we know he will make good. We wish him all success.

HERBERT HAIGH OZIAS
South Vineland, N. J.

Vineland High School. Lutheran. Independent. Sciences.

THIS young man seemed destined to become the brightest in the class, but there were just a few others who were able to surpass him. Ozias can be seen burning the midnight oil often, and we feel he is burning too much for his good. We feel he has missed much of the joy of social contact.

Ozias is a very exact boy, and he just loves to have an argument with his ministerial friends. Shimer, with his army arguments; and Kleinfelter and Wurtz with their discourses in religion have quite a time with Ozias and his information on protoplasm.

However, Ozias is a likable chap, and a hard plugger. Although he captured the chemistry prize for the most efficient work in the laboratory, still Ozias according to Dr. Wright's spelling examination, and the class was informed to its surprise, isn't so good at spelling.

Some believe that Ozias is immune of the fairer sex, but there are others that believe the frequent visits to Quakertown are not always to visit an uncle and an aunt. That's been pulled off too often.

Ozias lives practically at the chemistry Laboratory and the Library, and if anyone wants him immediately, there he may be found deeply delving into the mysteries of chemistry. He can show you the neatest notebooks in this line you ever want to see.

Ozias has a liking for a change of roommates. He is a good fellow to get along with. His former roommate left him and hasn't returned, for he is now living at the North Western Theological Seminary. You must be some roommate, Ozias.

All in all, we wish Ozias the best of success in his life work.

JOHN RUSSEL PHILLIPS
Lebanon, Penna.

Lebanon High School. Alpha Tau Omega. Varsity Football (1,2,3). Student Council. Pan-Hellenic Council. Class President (2). Business Mgr. of Ciarla (3). Lutheran. Business.

CLAP hands, here comes Johnny and applause is in order. Johnny only brought 145 pounds down with him from Lebanon in the fall of 1923 but courage, perseverance and Tursi's boils won for him a football M that first fall. Tursi graduated from school that spring and Johnny graduated into his end job in September from which position a long-handled toothbrush can't oust him.

Johnny, however, is not primarily an athlete. He aims to get more than that from his college course and so we find in him the rare combination of an athlete and a student, not because he is particularly gifted along scholastic lines but because of those same qualities minus Tursi's boils which earned him his first football letter. Nature's greatest gift to Johnny was energy and he's not afraid to spend it. The 1927 CIARLA owes the greatest part of its financial success to this same energy, as Johnny in his capacity as Business Manager, was the very model of efficiency. He combined some new ideas with the best of the old and accomplished the unusual feat of ending with the larger on the credit side of the ledger.

All this is misleading, however, if it creates the impression that John is in any way in the nature of a confined old grind. That's far from the truth. He has left a sprinkling of wild oats here and there along the fields of his activities and there was even a stretch early in the last fall when he consumed a pint every nite for two weeks. It would probably have lasted longer but on the fifteenth nite the freshmen held their banquet and the whole school went without its ice cream because of the absence of anyone to send after it. Johnny, in all his dealings is always governed by the good old policy, "enough is enough but too much is too much." He never does a thing to excess.

So much for Johnny, he's a fine lad, one of the best and may the gods prosper and favor him.

ORIAN RICE
Binghampton, N. Y.

Binghampton High School. Delta Upsilon. Varsity Football (2,3). Basketball and Baseball (2). Coaching.

BEHOLD this tall, upright young man, glowing with health and virility, who so proudly maintains the center of our line against all comers. It is Orry himself—the best ever. Who does not remember his daring on the football field as he frustrated Lewin's tries at goal, as he blocked kicks, intercepted passes and recovered fumbles, all by himself? But this is just one side of this almost titanic human.

Rice is well known for his C'legiate Car, that demon of speed, strength and instability which takes him whithersoever it wishes. This vehicle has hauled many a student through devious ways. Rice is proud of it, others have plowed with it.

His nocturnal jaunts through the West End are a great mystery to most of us. So is the bent of his career, for that matter. He is to be a coach, we believe, perhaps in his own dear Binghampton, and when there he will vote for the side that has the best chance of winning, as all of us try to do. His religion is the same as that of a famous president of our country. Delta Upsilon of Syracuse claims him as a brother.

HARRY P. RICHARDS

*"Since all great men are dying,
I shall not linger long."*

HERE behold him as he is. "Fat," as you all know him, hails from Allentown. A graduate of the Allentown High School, class of '23. Looking at his fair profile you would immediately think him a professor. Nevertheless his ambitions are well spent, being an ardent admirer of the wonderful science of Chemistry.

A general statement is usually made that the greatest of men have their weaknesses, and his is the opposite sex. He has fallen in love with a beautiful brunette, "Viola" by name. Every evening at set of sun, Harry can be seen strutting his stuff toward her home. His radiant face when illuminated by a smile (and lit up by his gold tooth) is enough to make any girl fall for him. Everyone loves a fat man.

A lesser weakness of "Fat" is visiting the Potato King near the Slatington Pike. While visiting here one day in company of the Unholy Five (Dubbs-Wirth-Nagle-Goldstein) and Hen Wickert, he acquired the habit of shooting Indians. If you are at a loss to know what inference to draw from this, just for curiosity sake protrude your finger toward him and say "Boom! Boom!" His face is immediately darkened by an unforgettable grin.

We seldom see Harry's countenance discolored by any show of anger for he takes life as it comes and never gives a thought for the morrow.

Briefly considered, he is a faithful student, a desirable companion and in all affairs ready to give a helping hand. We wish him success and the fulfillment of his hopes and reaching of his ideal and aim in life.

FREDERICK KOCHER RITTER
Oley, Penna.

Oley High School. Phi Epsilon. Scrub Wrestling (1,2). Editor Football Program (2). Weekly (1,2). Ciarla Staff (3). Lutheran. Law.

HERE he is, no less a person than the illustrious and renowned Frederick Kocher Ritter. He is a rare combination of a student, author, athlete, critic, and ladies' man. Born in the village of Oley he has aspired to be a great man for which the place is noted. But the fragile touch of women has misled him, as he is a regular Prince of Wales. He is known in every place from the Traylor down to the Eagles' Roof Garden. His favorite sport is watching the stage door of the Lyric on a Monday night.

"Fritz" is an encyclopedia of information or walking book of knowledge. He can inform you of anything from the "Fourth Dimention" down to the "Scientific Study of Swinetics."

He is also very bright—so bright that he aspires to wear his senior mustache in his Junior year. For this we may excuse on account of his superabundance of hair. However, his brightness runs along certain lines, for the CIARLA Staff had quite a job keeping "Fritz" down to business. He is at times rather indifferent to do some of the necessary things in life. But he will realize some day that one must do things we have to do and not always the things we want to do.

Strictly speaking, "Fritz" is a likeable chap of the campus. We hope he will pick a good wife who will inspire him to achieve the success we know is due him.

RICHARD STUART ROBINSON

Ridgefield Park High School. Delta Theta. Class Athletics (1). Class Vice-President (1). Fraternity Basketball (2, 3). Football (1,2,3). Episcopalian. Republican. Coaching.

OUT of the State of Delaware River controversies, holiday resorts, commuters, and championship prize fights, we hail this duplication of the hero of the vanishing American. Except for a badly battered proboscis, "Robby" certainly would fit for a double of Richard Dix. Even Maude, said, "Don't let anyone tell you different."

Born, reared, and educated in Ridgefield Park, New Jersey, a quiet hamlet along one of the numerous creeks in that state, he leaves that solitary place to matriculate at this fair institution. Now please do not get an idea that his quiet childhood surroundings show on him at college. Indeed no argument as yet, where facts are of minor importance and noise the major prerequisite, has been known to have been lost by "Robby."

During his Freshman Year, and also in subsequent years, "Dick" has shown his worth as an athlete. He made the Gridiron and Diamond teams to which he aspired, with little difficulty. In basket-ball, he was the main stay of the Delta Theta Intra-mural outfit, and in their games, he did justice to his reputation as a cage athlete.

We were about to tell of another phase of his life, but we must check the flow of our thoughts and turn in another direction!

When "Robby" receives his Ph. B. degree, he intends to return to Ridgefield Park. Yes, he is going to be a pedagogue in that town, and according to what he says, he is going to put some life into it.

While in college his main pastime besides studying history, is looking for bets, and he still thinks that the Giants have a chance for the flag this season. "Think twice before you leap," Robbie, and you will be successful.

THIS gentlemen better known as "Pop" Ross came into our midst this year. "Pop" was born in the northern part of our beloved State, and is a hard man to cut hair so we are very careful how we handle this noble gentleman.

Ross, before he came to Muhlenberg College, was coach and athletic director at the South Side Junior High School, of Bethlehem, Pa. Before that our robust friend was a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army, and saw a good deal of service in the Regular Army, National Guard, and Officers' Reserve Corps.

Then too, "Pop" like all good men, is getting tired of living alone, and we believe he wants to settle down to enjoy all the comforts of a home, since Pop receives letters very regularly from the famous borough of----, well, it isn't a sickly sort of a name anyway. Just ask "Pop"! You know-----.

"Pop" Ross may some day be sung on the radio as the rival of Johnson or Bentley, for our hero twirls a mean sphere, invisible on the bench.

Ross intends to take up coaching and teaching, and we have enjoyed his company with us. For "Pop" is a real Muhlenberg man.

Les femmes sont purement diversions.

THE opinion is commonly held that the average person comes to a college with the view in mind of attaining an education. Furthermore, that this end must be attained by oft repeated burning of midnight oil and brain fatiguing labor over textbooks. Ecce Homo—gentle reader, whose code of action is directly contrasted to general theory, whose labors are confined to delving into and solving the intricacies of pi-no-chle and whose diversive moments are spent on text books.

Nature committed a faux-pas at the advent of this dashing Beau Brummel into the world. Standing slightly over six foot in a vertical position and lying at about the same horizontally, Schick is constantly in danger of being expelled from a dance hall for immodest dancing because of the fact that his body is so loosely knit together. However, let the reader be assured that this handsome mortal is innocence truly personified. Our hero at one time had high aspirations of becoming an idol of the gridiron but since brawn is more desirable in that sport than a highly developed mentality, Schick left that activity agreeing with Richelieu that "The pen is mightier than the sword." Upon leaving the football realm, Claude annexed to himself the art of smoking cigarettes, and playing the chivalrous part to the weaker sex. The number of feminine hearts which have fluttered in exaltation at his advances upon them are too numerous to recount on the fingers of an armless man. Having had but one year of Chemistry with no laboratory work connected, Schick decided that experiments must be performed and now we are astonished to find the average davenport satisfactory grounds for research on the part of our hero, with no other than the daughter of the house.

"WINNIE" hails from the backwoods of New Jersey known as Ridgefield Park. He claims that it is a town of prominence; although we never heard it mentioned; we admire "Winnie's" spunk in trying to place it upon the map. As a speaker "Winnie" could talk a wooden leg off a man. He is seldom quiet, except when in company of Someone of whom he frequently talks. Our suspicions are that "Winnie" has been conquered by the "Fair Sex" otherwise known as "Ruth." "Winnie's" educational career is usually taken up by a sojourn at the "Fight" where he executes his tortion upon the opposite sex. He is known to be a wonderful dancer. As a politician he belongs to the "Funnel Gang." As to his future occupation we haven't the slightest idea and this receives his cooperation too.

In that hall devoted to those who throw a mean basketball you will find a large niche which is reserved for Winnie, for his reputation has spread far beyond the limits of Muhlenberg. It is said that a special place has been reserved for him at the Sesqui as an example of unparelled ability with the basketball. He tries to be an all round athlete and is still remembered for the peculiar twist his tendencies took in Freshman football and as one of the crow-chasers in the outfield of the illustrious freshmen baseball team. "Winnie" associates with the boys of the eternal triangle and can usually be found at their domicile and comes to the door with a hand of cards or a pool cue in his hand.

DICK is our living and constant proof that a man can have his head exposed to the cold but still have a little activity in his cranium. Dick is one of those gifted men who don't have to carry a comb but need only a towel to keep a neat appearance. Dick is really a fine fellow whose qualities were quickly recognized by the Alpha Tau Omega men and he now bears the Iron Cross.

Part of the huge successes attributed to our Glee Club this year have been due in no small part to the earnest activity of this young man for his vocal cords are strained in harmony everytime that the club leaves Allentown.

Just to prove himself versatile, Dick went out for the track team and football squad. Because of a broken wrist or leg or for some other reason, certainly not lack of ability, he failed to make the team but of course in track his good came out and now every week-end sees Dick out on the field. He sure can vie with the ancient Greeks when it comes to the Olympic events. we hear that the Athletic association is going bankrupt buying new discuses for this towering giant to throw away far across the football field.

Dick is an old friend of "Haps" Benfer, who left the big college of Albright. He is a good fellow to know for his jolly personality is always popular with the men on the campus.

There are a number of humorous incidents which could be told here and which would cause quite some enjoyment but since they (this is a secret) would also cause quite some embarrassment, we will close with best wishes to the bald-headed discus thrower.

CHARLES ELLSWORTH SHARKEY
Delano, Penna.

Delano and Mahanoy Twp. Schools.
Delta Theta. Circulation Mgr. of 1925
Calendar. Independent. Chemist.

ONE of the greatest expatiators ever known to Fair Muhlenberg was a student by the name of Sharkey, but not Charles Ellsworth Sharkey, the young gentleman with whom this dissertation has to deal. But carefully mark these fatal words, it runs in the family, for the Sharkey first mentioned was Harry, graduated in '21, famous brother of our Charley, and in those days noted as the possessor of a "line", on which could be hung an awful wash. Strange as it may seem, Charles seemed at the beginning of his college career to be the direct antithesis of his illustrious brother, for he ran a close second to the proverbial clam. However, what he might have been, and what he is, brings us back to that fatal word, remember. With his advent into the more complicated college life, that is emergence from the lowest form of animal life, namely freshman, Charley has begun to show signs of coming out of his shell of reticence, and now as a Junior is rounding into form. Kismet. For further information see Dr. Wright on the subject of acquired characteristics. Anyway, forewarned is forearmed, and if you don't have enough sense to avoid being talked to death, stay away from Charley by the time he is a Senior.

Speaking seriously, if that is at all possible, this promising Muhlenberg graduate-to-be, first saw the light of day at Delano, Schuylkill County, Penna. Having attended the Delano and Mahanoy Township high schools, the one bright, outstanding point of Sharkey's career is that he had the good judgment to come to Muhlenberg. But even here I suppose that a good deal of that credit must revert to that noble brother above-mentioned. Our brown-eyed hero is a member of Delta Theta fraternity, is an independent voter (I'll say he is, at a dollar), and belongs to the Reformed Church.

The subject of our discourse has set his cap for industrial chemistry (here this darn heredity comes in again) and is slated for all kinds of success in his chosen field, for posterity tells me so.

Sharkey is one of the best-liked men on the campus, and to the last man, every classmate wishes him Bon Voyage on the journey of life.

CHARLES J. SHIMER

Salus mundi armis defendet!

COMPANY halt! What ho, what man is this who believes in this doctrine? None other than our friend Lieutenant Charles Shimer. Behold, gentle readers, the terrible, hardhearted warrior of the class. Can you imagine this fair son of sauerkraut, calmly giving the command to fire one of those terrible guns that makes strong men faint like women, then calmly, after the shot, lift his field glasses to his eyes and surveying the terrible devastation, turn and curse his men for not doing better? Can you imagine our hero cutting and slashing on all sides with the blood of his enemies dripping from his cold sword? Indeed not! Who could? We know very well that our friend will do no such a thing, because he is going to be a minister of the gospel.

Every Tuesday evening we see this young man strolling towards Fritchman's Delight with his body in a corset and the uniform of the United States artillery amidst the cheers of his fellow collegians. Every Saturday evening we see this young man strolling towards G Hall on the stroke of twelve in the uniform of a Beau Brummel, but this time with a more broken and hesitating stride. Mountainville surely must have some latent power stored up somewhere that could thus change such a powerful man. Last year our friend, who likes to reduce, was out for the wrestling team. He liked it so well that he not only practiced at the regular times before supper but sometimes after supper. Shimer is always ready for an argument especially on military subjects and many heated arguments were carried on last year with "Bill" Seaman.

Shimer is very seldom seen loafing on the campus because he is either studying Latin and Greek or trying to learn the mysteries of pinocle and the latter he finds especially elusive. We sincerely wish Shimer the best of success in the ministry which he has selected for his future vocation and also in whatever venture he may go.

WINFRED M. SLEMMER
Philadelphia, Penna.

Northeast High School. Alpha Tau Omega. Football (1,2,3,4). Baseball (1, 2,3,4). Track (1,2,3). Class President (3). "M" Club, Secretary (3). Science Club. Fraternity Basketball (2,3). Catholic. Independent. Chemist.

SOMEWHERE past the middle of the Junior Class roll one encounters the following legend, Slemmer, W. F. M. To the unfamiliar that means nothing, to the partially familiar it might be mistaken for West Filly Man as that's where he hails from, but the true meaning known only to the intimate is Winfred Francis Maximillian. Conjure with that. What a rage his father must have been in at his christening. Out of all this maze of names somehow, unaccountably, has emerged the nickname of "Ben". That makes the puzzle complete and there is no justice.

"Ben" entered Muhlenberg in the fall of 1922, but at Mid-Years a slight misunderstanding with the Faculty caused his banishment. Since then Ben has come back strong and selected unto himself a choice seat among the honor group and is at present one of the best students in the class. He has acquired his high standing by combining with a large amount of natural ability a larger amount of hard work and so we have him a student.

And now we touch on the field of his greatest proficiency, that of athletics. Four times has Ben won his football letter and many times has his learned toe changed bitter defeat into glorious victory for old Muhlenberg. He's a good bet anywhere past mid-field and sure death inside the thirty yard line. A better drop-kicker would be hard to find anywhere. "Ben" is also a better than average college ball-player. His work last year behind the bat, was such as to warrant attention from major league scouts and a try-out with the Detroit Tigers awaits him upon graduation. And that isn't all. Should "Ben" concentrate his energies on track activities he could become more than a passable runner. Last spring in an emergency he ran less than a 53 quarter which is indeed some stepping. And so we have him an athlete.

In addition "Ben" is first and last a good fellow. Always quiet and possessed of a rare wit that is enough to put him over in any crowd. So here's to good old "Ben," student, athlete and gentleman. Surely the elements are mixed in him.

Class Secretary (2). I. O. U. Representative. French Club. Methodist. Republican. Law.

LO and behold! The bright man of the class appears—bright, as far as his hair is concerned. Yes, his hair is the reddest of auburn. And he is so bright his mother calls him son. One girl calls him “Ben Turpin” but we call him “Bricky.”

Our rusty hero first saw the light of day in the city of New York. His favorite pastime is talking. He talks a lot, but says nothing. His reputation of talking the face off an eight day alarm clock is not yet challenged. We believe he will finally land a job in a band where he can blow.

“Bricky” has travelled extensively, but not so expensively. He is one of the few lucky fellows at college who drive their own cars. The “car” being an old “chevy”—too old even to be collegiate. The car was the result of a cashier’s job at Central Park.

“Reds” cannot be classed as a student. He is verily a scholar. His favorite study although not his favorite “Prof” is French. Besides French, he is known to be a math shark claiming already to have solved the fourth dimension.

“Bricky’s” favorite sport is going to church, this when he needs spending money. When he is not broke he amuses himself by breaking the hearts and feet of the better sex at the Hotel Traylor. Yes, he does rate with the ladies. We wonder whether those three letters a week from Kutztown, mean that he will eventually have a fair school teacher for a bride. In that case we consider the girl lucky for “Dan” is a wonderful pal to have. His winning smile and talking ways have won him many a true friend.

His intended profession is Law whether it be lawful or not, and in the future and in his career we wish him success, God speed and good luck.

GEORGE EDWARD SNYDER

ketball (1). Class Vice-President (2).

“SNITZ” comes from the famous beer and pretzel city, Reading. And he is very proud of the fact too. But he is an all round good man.

During the summer vacation periods, “Snitz” can be seen acting in the capacity of playground supervisor, which position is a coveted one for George and he is a capable young man when it comes to handling people.

Strange as it may seem, this position is very exciting at times, and it was for our hero, for once during his labors he met his first love and that was the reason for his soberness about the campus one fall upon his return to his Alma Mater to resume his studies.

His most interesting subjects during his college course were physics and chemistry, and into these he delved deeply into their mysteries. Woe betide anyone in East Berks who should make any loud noise when “Snitz” was studying, and particularly the freshmen.

“Snitz” is remembered most for his excellent football ability. He performed several remarkable feats on the varsity line in many games. He is surely a plucky player with the pigskin. We shall never forget the hard fight he made against Bucknell, the last time our team played that awful aggregation.

George is also a star in track events, and was good in the broad jump. Wherever he could, he would try his level best to fit in. “Snitz” has a “Hello” for everybody and an amiable disposition that made everyone who knew him feel they had found a friend indeed. We wish much success to our worthy friend in his chosen profession.

J. HENRY SPECHT
Pottstown, Penna.

Perkiomen Prep. School. Druid. German Club. Weekly (1,2). Associate Editor Weekly (3). Secretary Student Council (3). Lutheran. Independent. Ministry.

ECCE HOMO! This fine specimen of manhood before you is not a hero of the gridiron or of the court, for the fates were unkind in gifting him with such a Lilliputian stature. Not to be outdone in the race for college fame, Henry seized upon his opportunity and adopted Richelieu's maxim that "The pen is mightier than the sword." It has happened thus that within Specht's three short years at college, he has become an eminent junior editor of the Muhlenberg Weekly.

Henry is by no means pretentious but, on the other hand, his clean personality is felt everywhere on the campus. In addition to being handsome, Henry is gifted with an unfathomable depth of dry humor. A new era of wit and wisdom rivaling that of Mark Twain's time will have dawned upon this universe when Henry publishes his book entitled, "Sly Sayings" by H. Specht.

Behold him as student librarian silhouetted against the background of forty thousand dusky volumes, oogling his eyes at the fair Saturday coeds. We beg your indulgence once more dear reader for the almost unpardonable mistake of having slighted the interests of our freshmen friends by forgetting to mention the activities of our contemporary in the Student Council. His office in that austere body of enlightened gentlemen, is one that inspires palsied fear within the minds of the verdant striplings, being that of secretary. His hobby seems to be that of meting out punishment to the offensive yearlings and may the gods look with pity on that green individual who fails to report on the football field or tennis courts for work. Henry may be a trustworthy ferret for the Student Council, but he is still in a quandary as to who the individual might be who performed the unpardonable sin of purloining his mattress.

There is certainly some truth in the statement that women and pinochle are typical ideals to J. Henry, for it is evident that neither are quite attainable on the part of our hero. Henry is still undecided as to his life's vocation, but be it what it may, our fellow student is certain to succeed and triumph.

VAUGHAN LEROY SPRENKEL

HAVE you ever seen a very businesslike person resembling the accompanying injustice, who seems to be at all parts of the campus at all times?
Perhaps you have noticed during our football games this same person, close upon the heels of our varsity whenever they enter, or leave the field, and always heavily laden with water buckets, etc. Well! for those who are suffering through the author's poor attempt at biography I will say, that you saw no less than "Doc" Sprenkel, one of our acting Assistant Football Managers.
Football is but one of "Doc's" many recreations, as he always enters upon any campus activity with great enthusiasm.

Although "Doc" now claims Allentown as his home he is never so happy as when he meets an old friend from, "Ye Towne of Yorke." And often in vacation time his feet will turn toward this part of the State. It is rumored that this is all due to the fact that York will some day boast of being the birthplace of a leading biologist.

"Doc" can also be seen doing his stuff at the Colonial, P. S. H. D., or Mealeys or any place where they need a good flute player, a surveyor, or wherever there's dancing and an abundance of the fair sex. Yes! it is quite evident that "Doc" is quite the little heart breaker and it is whispered around that one of his favorite evening pastimes is a 9 o'clock date.

Coming to the more serious things in life
"Doc" is one of the most active and popular boys on our campus, and his support of any activity is always appreciated. He always works just as hard as he plays and the result is that he is also one of the leading students in his classes.

Well! "Doc" here's wishing you luck in all things you undertake.

ARTHUR A. UNVERZAGT
Allentown, Penna.

Kutztown State Normal School. Band (2). Class Football. German Club. Vice President of Class (3). Asst. Cheer Leader. Asst. Press Correspondent. Junior Editor Weekly. Lutheran. Teaching.

*Dark and handsome, but not very tall,
Enchants a woman and makes her fall.*

THIS may be true in some cases, but not so with "Art", at least he possesses no trophies to prove many conquests. He doesn't even display the picture of a pretty lass on his mantelpiece. However, he may have a good excuse for that, either he is too busy or too bashful, both are very good reasons. Perhaps this is a good thing for "Art", for when such inexperienced fellows fall it is usually with a thud, and such a fall would seriously interfere with his intention of becoming an honor man, so we advise him to keep under cover as much as possible, for should any of these pretty Allentown Mammams succeed in throwing their hooks into "Art," goodbye "Art," Honor Roll, and everything.

Who can look into his handsome visage without thinking of the resemblance and characteristics he bears to all the greatest men in the history of mankind beginning with the Missing Link. "Art" is a man of affairs at Muhlenberg and holds many important and responsible positions. He is Cheer Leader and some think since his most favorite position is sitting down, that he makes a better chair leader, but even at that he has the pep of a real leader. He smokes good high-powered cigars, but their source is questionable. "Art" is a rough old cuss, which is evidenced by the number of broken chairs in the room, also by his razor and mirror.

His name translated in good Irish means "undaunted" and in German "unappeased" which may account for his wonderful appetite, but that's not his fault. He is both bruiser and boozier for the German Club and holds the office of Secretary in that order. Ever since he became associate editor of the "WEEKLY" and has written about men and things, he has been forced to wear shin guards and shoulder-pads.

In politics "Art" belongs to the party that bids highest, and passes the best beer, he stops at beer because his head won't stand anything stronger. In religion he is affiliated with the Lutheran Church, because all the Profs. are of that denomination. Taking all in all "Art" has a good-natured mien, but at that not such a mean boy.

ALFRED W. VAN DUSEN
Belleville, N. J.

Belleville High School. Phi Kappa
Tau. Glee Club (1,2). Band (1,2).
Methodist. Republican. Medicine.

“DEWEY” is that insignificant undersized specimen that walks around the campus as if he owned it, bullying the freshmen and threatening to beat up the men on the football team. He is a Brooklynite but boasts of the fact he hails from Belleville. Exactly why we cannot tell, but it is the general belief that it is because his better half lives there. “Shirley” has taken much interest in this boy since his freshmen year in high school and was indirectly responsible for his graduating with honors.

“Dewey” is one of the most popular “halfpints” on the campus and is also quite a scholar. Spanish is his favorite study and will eventually lead him to South America on his honeymoon. Chemistry comes next and it is said that as a chemist he is an excellent bottle washer.

He is interested in athletics although his dwarfishness prevents him from taking active part in the sports. Last year Slemmer coached him in the art of drop-kicking but “Dewey” will never realize his ambition by beating Lehigh with one of his boots. His ability to kick may come in handy after he is married and his wife starts taking advantage of his size. He thinks he can handle women in spite of his lack of red corpuscles and maintains that he can lick his length in apron strings any time, using his dogs and dukes only.

His career isn’t definitely determined as there are so many outside influences which may direct his steps. Already he is a musician of fame and in this branch of aesthetic nature he will no doubt make a name for himself. This would make a balanced and beautiful combination in his home as “Shirl” is quite an artist.

Fate decrees that “Dewey” and “Shirley” shall pursue their ideals together in music, art, and oil in South America where their Spanish will help them get the most out of their indefinite sojourn.

I loves her in the morning and I loves her at nite and I guess he loves her all the rest of the time by the way he talks and truly our friend is some talker. No matter where or when you see him he is talking and since he returned to school this fall he talks on only one subject. He tells everyone about the advantage of Long Island and also the girl (singular). Bob, for it is none other than Windy Wheeler of the Queen City, has always held undisputably the position of sheik of Muhlenberg. And even though he says he has found the only girl we still find him pestered with letters and telephone calls. We wish the Long Island girl the best of luck but she has an awful bunch of competitors.

Bob's heavy line has won many friends for him both male and female. If you ask the male friends about him they say, Yes, Bob is a fine fellow but he likes to throw the hot air. But ask the girls and they breathe it to you nice and low, He's wonderful. Bob is afflicted with a terrible disease. Every one gets it, many have it, and those that don't are missing half their college life. It is known as dancitis. The only reward is a broken pocketbook and the M given by Prof. Mealey of Mealey's Auditorium.

PAUL M. WHITE
Tylersport, Penna.

Sellersville High School. Phi Kappa Tau. Associate Editor Ciarla (3). Editor Wit and Wisdom Weekly. Inter-Class Track (2). Inter-Class Football (1,2). German Club. Scrub Manager Football (2). Inter-Mural Sports. Math. Club. Vice-President (2). Reformed. Business.

“WHITIE,” another of the Sellersville High boys, claims for his parental abode, Tylersport, Pa., (it is not on the map). Although hailing from such an out-of-the-way unheard-of place as Tylersport, “Whitie” carries his six feet of good looks as though he had spent his whole life in college.

White is a good sport and has many friends on the campus. Have you ever heard of the three muskeeters? Well, we have, but at last West Berks misses this inseparable combination. White is the absconding member of the triumvirate having moved to the Phi Kappa Tau house.

No one is more active in college activities than our sorrel topped giant. Last year when the I. N. A. was in conference here, he made quite a hit with our fair friends from Cedar Crest and did not care how much gas he used traveling to and fro from our sister institution.

Although not taking the ministerial course, he is quite an enthusiastic worker in the Muhlenberg Christian Association.

He also showed up well in his position on the Ciarla Staff and with his partner Geissinger did splendid work in compiling and arranging the write-ups for our class.

Aside from these activities, “Whitie” has been active on the baseball squad and has been one of the scrub managers in football. He is also a tennis and golf enthusiast and with the approach of spring the campus will again ring with his piping “fore”.

“Whitie” engages in his studies just as arduously as he does in other activities. If he continues so, we can predict only the best that the business world may have in store.

HENRY ARTHUR WICKERT

HERE he is girls, just look at him, isn't he grand, mustache and all! I'll have to put the damper on your hopes since "Henny" is already a Benedict, yea for a goodly number of years. At the end of the day you can see "Henny" dashing across the campus to get the car which takes him downtown to "Mom."

"Henny," as he is best known is one of our ex-service men, coming from Bethlehem Preparatory School where he was graduated after his discharge from the army to Muhlenberg and we are sure glad he did. "Was he in any battles?" Just ask him about the Battles of "Vin Rouge," "Vin Blanc" or the "Taking of Cognac Hill;" where the shells came thick and fast, and only a few survived the battle.

Whenever there's a group of fellows crowded around one of the tables down in the Rest Room you can be sure that "Henny" telling the boys a story. Did you ever hear the one about the "White Horse", "Henny" tell 'em that one. Who said that married men do not care for dancing, well just take a peek in the Traylor some Saturday night to see this boy do his stuff; I mean with "Mom". Here's where the dirt comes in. It is whispered that "Henny" is greatly interested in potatoes especially in the northern end of Lehigh County, where he is also noted as a track man rivaling Charlie Paddock. He also belongs to a "Night Club" down in Washington, D. C., but you must ask "Nick" Borelli about that.

Laying all fun aside "Henny" is one of our best students and after graduating from Muhlenberg expects to enter Foreign Trade. We know you'll make good so here's wishing you and "Mom" the best of luck.

J. CARROLL WILKINSON
Blandon, Penna.

Fleetwood High School. Druid. French Club (2,3). Class Football. Class Track. Non-Frat. Basketball Team (2). Inter-Mural Sports (3). Reformed. Republican.

THERE is among our class a fine bunch of songsters. One of them is the man above. "Wilk" has a good tenor voice. It wasn't discovered until his Junior year and that accounts for the reason he didn't have a girl back home until his third year, for we believe he was one of those who sneaked beneath my lady's window and sang his words of love. Yes, "Wilk" has a girl now and often he goes home over the week-ends. When he returns, everything is blue for him and we suppose he has had a wonderfully good time.

Carrol is an athlete too. He played baseball and basketball on his High School teams, but he hasn't as yet come into the limelight at College in these sports. He is, however, a prominent member of Christman's quartette which often renders several selections at meal-times. We have the best wishes of a promising future for our friend "Wilk." He hails from a small village near Reading and during his earlier years of schooling played a prominent part behind the counter in the village store, where usually the great men get their start. "Wilk" isn't heard of much on the campus and is seldom seen except in company with his staunch body-guards, Neely and Shick. You see, he needs just a bit of watching as he is just a-stepping out, and his body-guards are very capable of handling "Wilk."

J. Carrol is usually a quiet fellow except when spring arrives and then the swish of a bag of water from "E" hall plays another role and "Wilk" usually is the originator of the swish of the water, of the water in the bag, of the bag that fell upon the person below, walking beneath the window.

Carrol is a likeable fellow and will do his bit toward the uplift of human society everytime. The class wishes the best of success in life to this classmate.

“JERRY” as we all know him is the real worker of our class. He is also the college’s watchman, and he has proven to be a careful caretaker of the new buildings.

The students owe much to Jerry for their neat appearance, for he was instrumental in getting the clothes pressed and repaired at reasonable rates.

Not only has “Jerry” been successful as a handy man about the college, but he filled quite an important place in our gridiron line as tackle. We shall never forget with pride the fine and noble work he did for us in our hardest battles with our football foes.

“Jerry” is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and is a favorite to not a few of the students on the campus. When it comes to having dates with the fair sex, “Jerry” isn’t a back number by any means, for he can be seen “a-sheiking it” rather regularly over the week-ends. We are inclined to believe he has a “steady.”

“Jerry” expects to travel to the unknown lands somewhere. He probably will be a splendid superintendent of some large concern some day and we surely wish him the best of success, as he graduates this year. The reason for our statement that “Jerry” expects to travel we believe comes from that old saying:

“The brawny air and the salty sea, Ever shall be the life for me.”

So since “Jerry” was once a sailor boy, his love for foreign lands lies close to his heart. Good luck to you, “Jerry.”

EUGENE ROBERT WIRTH
Allentown, Penna.

Allentown Prep. School. Delta Theta.
Lutheran. Medicine.

A shark for sharks would be the best appellation for this young follower of the B. S. course. His fame has spread far and wide for his aptitude in tracing Doc Wright's cranial and sympathetic nervous system, but this is not the least of his voluminous intellectual capacities as Dr. Bailey and Prof. Shankweiler can testify.

A peculiar thing about this man Wirth is that he does not seem to mind the odors that fill the lab. Report seems to have it that part of his early training has fitted his nose to withstand anything.

Contrary to the popular conception, Gene has proven that Adonis did not have light hair but that it was black and of course, curly. Gene hangs out with the rest of the Delta Theta boys and can always be seen by the side of Sprenk and Wickert.

Gene is a popular supporter of the gentle art of syncopation, and at the Delt dances he can be seen doing his stuff in company with a "someone", in good competition with the best of them.

We have heard reports that Gene is quite an explorer but his explorations seem to have about the same results as those of Cook. It seems that once upon a time, he and a few of his trusty companions were part of a great and destined venture; but like a number of other well intentioned ventures it proved that the winds of chance, combined with a few natural causes, were sufficient to rapidly disperse the expedition.

Gene seems to be getting along alright in school, and we believe he will graduate with the rest of us; if not for excellence, at least because they no longer want him around this place.

JOHN MICHAEL WOTRING
Schnecksville, Penna.

Allentown High School. Wrestling (2).
Reformed. Democrat. Medicine.

THE Class of 1927 must have representatives from all over the country so the metropolis of Schnecksville sends their delegate, Johnny Wotring. This is a Buffalo city and John can tell many weird tales of Buffaloes in the spring.

Johnny is very much interested in poultry and since his father owns a very popular hotel he serves roosters to "chickens." It may be that he also helps a certain nurse at the Hospital to satisfy her hunger when she takes a trip out on the Slatington line. As a hobby, besides poultry raising, he amuses himself by growing scentless skunks and we hear that they are centless also. John knows all about nature and can tell about all kinds of birds and plants.

Wotring is a very quiet lad and sincere in his work and always "pulls" the good grades. No doubt this is the reason he is such a good friend of Prof. Kistler. In Physics also he has developed to be one of Prof. Allen's prodigies.

Besides enjoying the carving of animals in the biological lab, he enjoys tennis and baseball. Sometimes we wonder at football games, which he is more interested in, the game or the young lady who accompanies him.

Wotring is a regular patron of the Colonial Theater in the afternoon and excuses himself by saying that he is waiting for the Slatington car. He is a commuter of course and seems to enjoy the early morning rides.

Our predictions are that John will become a great Professor of Science and also the life partner of that "little woman."

JOHN CASSEL WURTZ
Norristown, Penna.

Norristown High School. Druid Club. Treas. of Class (2). Secretary M. C. A. (1,2,3). Band. Student Council. Editor-in-Chief of 1927 Ciarla. Exchange Editor of Weekly (3). German Club. Lutheran. Republican. Ministry.

QUI va-la? Well if it isn't "Oldman Muhlenberg himself," alias John Wurtz. No doubt you have often seen this young man hurrying towards the "Ad." Building, wrapped in thought, with his old favorite jammed between his teeth and laying down a smoke screen of "Bull Durham's" best. Our hero would make a good President for there is ample evidence that he would suffer no paralysis of the hand, because his frequent practice of this art has developed for him an abnormal grip.

In addition to being a very busy man around the place, Wurtz can always find time to share someone else's troubles and he proves a very sympathetic auditor. Being a student for the Ministry, John believes in early associating his activities with that profession which is his ultimate goal. We may say that Wurtz is one of the busiest men on the campus, being engaged in M. C. A., CIARLA, Weekly, and Student Council work. Wurtz is the Editor-in-chief of this book, but despite all these activities he always finds time for the fair sex and when one hears him speak of "the little lady" we are sometimes tempted to believe that the plural form would be more appropriate.

Wurtz has a great liking for room mates of varied dispositions. After tiring of Wilkinson's singing, he moved over to Seltzer in order to get the philosophical side of life, and at present he is developing in "gym" under the coaching of George Lawson. Next year, in order to get the final side of life he will no doubt be rooming with one of the "sheiks" of the campus.

Wurtz is a man who will without doubt make a success in the Ministry, and he has our best wishes for a happy future. We also wish him the best of luck in the field of matrimony, and hope his troubles will all be little ones and plenty of them.

YOSHIO YANO
Tokio, Japan

University of Tokio. Ph.B. Course.
Tennis (2). Lutheran.

“OH, yes, I think so!” How often have we heard those words from our friend from Japan.

Yoshio came to us from the Tokio University, in our second year and proved a good student. His amiable disposition and pleasant smile won the hearts of many a student on the campus, and he was liked by all who came in contact with him. His favorite sport was playing tennis and those who played with him knew that he was competent with the racket, and a skillful player.

Yoshio was studying for the Ph. B. degree here, after having spent three years at the University of Tokio. In the university he had learned enough English to converse with the students at Muhlenberg.

However, it seemed he was not to stay long with us, for in the fall of 1924, he was stricken ill with pneumonia. He spent several months at the Sacred Heart Hospital, with a short interval in the Wernersville Sanitarium. Then on March 5, 1925, he was called by death to his eternal rest.

Yoshio was a Christian and baptized a Lutheran. He was, while attending Muhlenberg, a regular attendant at Christ Lutheran Church. All who knew him on the campus, both faculty and students alike, were drawn to him by his frankness and pleasant and happy disposition. He had the greatest respect for everyone here.

He enjoyed his visit at Muhlenberg College, and could often be seen mingling with the students in the dormitories, telling about his experiences while attending the University of Tokio. Yoshio's mother still keeps in correspondence with several students on the campus who were very intimate with this worthy friend from the shores of Japan.

HAROLD M. YEHL
Laurys, Penna.

Northampton High School. Keystone
State Normal School. Lutheran. Republican. Teaching.

MEMBERS of the Junior Class, we have been exceedingly fortunate in securing this young man's portrait. Although he is a member of the Senior Class, we welcome him in our midst.

This eager and enthusiastic student received part of his training in the Keystone State Normal School. After graduation, he spent the greater portion of his time training the young minds of the future generation. The remaining time he however, did not flitter away but like a hard worker, entered Dr. Wright's School of Education, and in the fall of 1925, the faculty considered his credit equal to any Senior college man and consequently allowed him to enter as a senior.

But poor Harold had to wear Freshmen Regulations for the first semester. And if there ever was a green Frosh, Harold took the prize. At least Harold has the honor of being a freshman and a senior the same year.

Yes, Harold is aware of the fair sex. We know that he attends dances quite frequently and how the members of the opposite sex love to be swayed by his charming ways! Beware, Harold, lest you become too free.

Not many members of our class had the privilege to learn the good qualities of this senior. He had been a day student all year and after his work in class was completed he rushed to his home town in his speed wagon. Consequently he remained a mystery to the boys. Probably some blue eyed damsel was waiting to greet him!

Harold taught school two years and wishes to continue in that profession. As a teacher we know he possesses the ability, and we wish him the best of success.

SOPHOMORA

Class of '28

If numbers was a criterion for prowess we must have loomed ominous before the class of '27 when in September 1924 we took up the yoke of education. But our greenness predominated and due mainly to disorganization we were subjected to many humiliations before the first week had passed.

The second night of school the erstwhile sophomores held their banquet, having as their guest several officers of the Class of '28. The banquet, however, did not appease their appetite for pleasure at the expense of the freshmen, and we were obliged to spend the night and a large part of the following day in collecting beds, trunks and other personal belongings which the playful sophs had mislaid.

In the scraps our weakness lay in our disorganization, but through the new system instigated by Coach Wood we were able to wrest enough points through victories to allow us the use of the steps of the Ad building. A privilege of which we were very proud.

The various scraps and encounters with the sophomores had the effect of rubbing off a good bit of our greenness. It was not long before the class of '28 became noticed for other activities. In the football field we were exceptionally well represented, over half of the varsity being members of the Class of '28. Likewise the Basketball, Track and Baseball teams shoved a healthy sprinkling of Freshmen.

Scholastically we prided ourselves in being just a bit above the average of Freshmen Classes. The Debating team and other scholastic activities were backed almost entirely by freshmen. The general average of the class too gave evidence of Scholastic ability.

In spite of the fact that we were accustomed to wearing the dink and to carrying matches we longed for the time when we could discard our regulations and stand on equal footing with the other men. There was just a little feeling of submission that made it impossible to enjoy the freshmen year entirely. With the inauguration of Dink Burning Exercises we passed into that realm of happy sophistication known as sophomoreship.

As sophomores we started with a bang. The poor freshmen who doubtless had not heard of the fistic abilities of the "Wearers of the Green from Old Erin," were subjected to humiliating defeats by our outnumbered class. Sheer determination to revenge our defeats of the year before led us to victory in all the scraps. The pole fight was a walk away, the banner scrap a give away and the football game a runaway. The greenies simply weren't in it with the plucky sophomores.

The new regulations inaugurated by our class proved more in keeping with the spirit of Muhlenberg College and we as sophomores deem it our duty to see that they were carried out. In order to keep alive the spirit of rivalry (such as it was) between the classes we decided to hold our banquet in the Spring when the class spirit was at low ebb. This had a dual advantage for it kept alive the friendship within the class and the antagonism to the Freshies. The bayings of the freshmen and the numerous cries for water on a pleasant spring evening gave evidence of the success of the banquet.

We, as sophomores maintained our standing, scholastically and athletically. As we move higher in the realms of College life we hope to continue our activities and if possible even increase them for the glory of our Alma Mater, Muhlenberg.

FRASHMAN

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshman Class History

"Woof--woof. Arf. Bow--wow." The deep guttural bark of the German police mingled with the high pitched, almost shrieking noise of the little pom-pom. The scene was well laid. The silver moon cast his bright beams on a woeful scene. Men, as if transformed by Circe's wand, barked at the moon. But the secret lay in the apparel of these strange beings. Lo, a bright green necktie and a little dink with a green button adorned each and every "barker." "Louder, Frosh," came the cry of several unworthy individuals with persuading clubs in hand. The performance continued until at last a prayer for rain offered by a meek and tamed green one was answered fluidly.

This is but the woeful account of what happened that second night after our arrival. But, unchristianlike, we thirsted for revenge. But the Fates counted us out. The Fates began counting when we endeavored to break an "organization" in the pole fight. Fighting gallantly but in vain we, wearers of the green, lost to the better organized Sophomores.

The Fates still pursued us when our football team, which later felled many a more valiant foe, went down to defeat before the surprise attacks of the Sophomore team.

Undaunted we still hoped to organize well enough to win the final "scraps." After a minute and a half of a seemingly hour long struggle, our banner bit the dirty dust.

However we were in part compensated when the Sophomores by their special spies found we were to hold our banquet. All available Freshmen they gathered into one room. The city streets were patrolled. These sophisticated gentlemen were completely "fooled."

Our banquet was held at a later date and without any interruption by these gentlemen. The banquet was well enjoyed by all of us.

Our class is excellently represented by its football and basketball teams. Both squads have won a large majority of their games. Toward the end of the seasons both teams had become almost invincible.

Scholastically our class fell slightly below the normal. But a marked improvement occurred after the first three months when we found ourselves.

Our shortcomings, defeats, and successes, we hope will only aid in the development of the best class Muhlenberg has seen, 1929. We hope that we will aid in the building of a Greater Muhlenberg by bringing her additional glory and honor.

—JOHN MATTES, Historian.

The School of Education

IN 1912 Muhlenberg College responded to the demand of a few local teachers and organized courses on Saturday for their benefit. In this way the teachers felt that they could improve their preparation for the teaching profession without leaving their present positions. The number of teachers taking advantage of this work increased very slowly until the change in the school law of 1919. The registration for 1912-13 was only 32, while in the Fall of 1920 it had increased to 255. The largest enrollment was in the Fall of 1925 when 1104 were registered.

The School of Education believes that teachers should know the content of their courses, the best methods of teaching and the latest developments in the field of educational measurements. It is the belief that the teachers should be as well prepared as any other engineer. The courses have been organized with this end in view.

It is the policy of the Director of this work to make a study of the individual needs of each teacher and to give them constructive advice. It is this idea of personal service which has brought so many teachers to Muhlenberg College.

This year the registration is made up of 249 men and 589 women, making a total of 838 part time college students. The largest centers are at the Central Grammar School in Allentown where 335 teachers attend courses each week, Hazleton, with 278 teachers and 255 teachers attend courses at the college on Saturday. Classes are also conducted at Coaldale, East Greenville, and Quakertown.

For the first time in the history of the college graduation exercises were held College Day in October. At this time ten teachers received the college degree. It is expected that 27 teachers will complete their courses this year and be graduated at the regular commencement on June 7th.

For the Summer Session, 1926, the following additions have been made to the faculty: Dr. C. M. Gordon, of Lafayette College; C. F. Seidel, Mildred Kemmerer, Charlotte Schmerker, Supervisors in the Allentown Schools; M. Melissa Cook, Supervisor of Primary work, Warren County, New Jersey; Harry F. Grebey, Junior High School Principal, Hazleton, Pennsylvania; Luther J. Kuhns, supervisor of Penmanship, Norristown, Pennsylvania.

The work of the School of Education is under the direction of President Haas and Doctor Wright.

The Class of 1915 Pays a Visit

DURING the commencement week of the class of 1925, there was a reunion of the class that had graduated just ten years before, namely the class of 1915. Howard Kistler one of our instructors was a member of the class. This reunion will in all probability be the beginning of a new tradition for Muhlenberg, for it was a novel idea and proved to be a great success. All of the members were clad in clown suits. The picture above shows a quartet of the men dressed in their clown suits, they are, Henry Snyder, a prominent attorney-at-law; Arthur Seidel, assistant prothonotary; "Woody" Frankenfield, professor of Physics at the Allentown High School, and Nevin Loch, who is also a member of the faculty of the Allentown High School. The orchestra pictured above, two of whose players were members of the class, was from Emaus. The third picture is one of Mr. Kistler, instructor of chemistry at Muhlenberg College.

There were two banquets held, one was informal, the other was a formal affair. The first was held on the evening before commencement at the Saegersville Hotel. After the banquet the members of the class spent a very pleasant evening, talking over old times. They continued to talk until the wee hours of the morning, later the same morning they attended the commencement exercises in a very sleepy mood. The second affair was a banquet held at the Hotel Traylor. The Melodyland Serenaders furnished the music.

At the reunion Stephen G. Simpson and Dr. J. Bossard were made honorary members of the class.

The present officers of the class are, President, Arthur Seidel; Vice President, Henry Bager; Secretary and Treasurer, Nevin Loch.

Since this affair proved to be so great a success and the idea is a new and very good one it is hoped that other classes will follow the example of '15 and hold similar reunions, thus helping to build up good traditions for Muhlenberg.

Our Alumni

Roy Clifford Edwards

Roy Clifford Edwards, better known as "Shorty", is one of Muhlenberg's foremost rooters. It is he whom everyone passes at the gateway to all the home football games. Little is thought of the man who takes the tickets of the fans of both sides.

"Shorty" attended Muhlenberg Academy in 1900 and to earn his schooling cleaned the rooms as well as held down a job at Peter and Jacoby's restaurant. Through the kindness of Col. Harry C. Trexler, he attended Muhlenberg College. He entered Moravian College and later the Seminary from which he graduated and was licensed and ordained in the First Baptist Church, Allentown, Pa., 1912.

For twenty-six years Shorty has been active in athletics at Muhlenberg. Since the starting of football at Muhlenberg, he has been taking tickets and without accepting one cent for his labor. His attendance at games reveals a remarkable record, having missed but two games on account of sickness, not including the time spent in his service in the war.

"Shorty" too has taken the responsibility to see the home games well advertised and places posters in stores, hotels, and tacks them on posts over a route that exceeds the longest of any newsboy's route in many a city.

Much praise should be given this faithful, loyal supporter of athletics at Muhlenberg. His record of service and attendance at all the games played by our teams should be the pride and envy of many an alumnus of Muhlenberg. May "Shorty" still keep his post at the gate and we bestow on him the greatest thanks and we have the highest praise for his services.

ATHLETICS

Celebration of Muhlenberg's Victory Over Lehigh and F. & M.

Review of 1925-1926

THE athletic year 1925-26 closed most gloriously on court, track and diamond. Our tennis team had shown the greatest success in years, the track team had come out well after a most disquieting series of injuries, and the baseball team had met with but one defeat, as it closed the season with a most sensational victory over Albright, gained in the last innings by men playing their last game for Muhlenberg. Thus it was that the new season opened with so great promise under our new coach, Harry Benfer.

Stroudsburg could not help but fall before the Berg juggernaut. One of the rarest events in the history of football—a touchdown by a tackle, Captain Clark—marked that contest. Next Lafayette, with a “mystery team of wonder” barely defeated our warriors in a nip and tuck contest on old March field, where Nick Borell raced at will through the Maroon for scores, the first registered against that eleven in many years. Albright bowed in defeat before our triumphal horde, but Gettysburg placed a blot on our otherwise spotless record by swamping us 21-0. Our men plowed through Lebanon Valley in a mighty struggle and the next week wallowed in oceans of mud to a scoreless tie with Dickinson.

So far we could not point to any extraordinary achievement. But what could the world say when Muhlenberg, displaying the best attack and defense in years, sailed through Lehigh, foeman worthy of our steel, tearing into ribbons the Brown and White cohorts, for a 9-7 victory, the second time that the Cardinal and Gray had returned from South Mountain triumphant. But this was only a prelude to a magnificent victory over F. & M. on Chrysanthemum Day, when the Blue and White was dragged in the mire of Muhlenberg Field and a 38-7 score chalked up against the Lancastrians. Then came the celebration of celebrations.

Monday was a holiday, of course, and all of us united to collect wood, paper, and other combustible matter for the biggest bonfire in history. Early in the morning we began our herculean labors and did not cease until the golden sunset had vanished and the stars shone dimly on the mountain of a funeral pyre that we had built for Lehigh and Franklin and Marshall, who stood on its summit in effigy, seeming to survey the chaos that would soon engulf them. Inflammable material had been collected from far and wide, just as they had collected the teams that we had so thoroughly demoralized.

Night fell, and we left the bonfire heavily guarded and went downtown in a splendid parade, singing our paeans of victory. Down at the square we made the welkin ring with our cheers, and John Sefing, our bugler of victory, made us a speech which set our hearts on fire. Then we returned again to school and gathered about the great dark mass while the Coach and Captain Clark and others who had been instrumental in gaining us these victories set fire to it in a dozen places. Hushed thousands gasped at the brilliant spectacle and then broke the silence with a mighty roar of joy which shook the distant mountains and awoke fear in the hearts of our future opponents. Then, as the image that was Lehigh caught fire, toppled, and plunged head first into that sea of flame, we cheered again and again, and as the flames reached their peak we joined in our Alma Mater. For hours that mound of flame dyed the skies a faint Crimson, marking the setting of the sun of defeat and the dawn of our new day of supremacy. So we departed thence and marched on to further exploits.

Catholic University could not defeat us, no matter how hard they and others tried, and again Nick Borrell gained us a game as he sprinted thirty odd yards for the lone touchdown of the day. And lastly, Villanova, coached by one of the immortal Four Horsemen, who was but "death" we believe, sunk us for the last time in defeat on Thanksgiving day, but only by a 23-9 score. So ended Muhlenberg's greatest football season, the only one which saw the fall of both Lehigh and F. & M., and the near-defeat of Lafayette.

FOOTBALL

The Football Season of 1925

THE football schedule announced for the fall of 1925 was one of the most suitable to all concerned that has ever been followed by a Muhlenberg team. Not only did our three old rivals, Lafayette, Lehigh, and F. & M. appear thereon, but Bucknell, our Nemesis, had been dropped and another ancient enemy, Lebanon Valley, been returned to the roster after a gap of three years since the memorable contest of 1921.

Taken as a whole, the team was very successful in its thrust for another championship. Lehigh was subdued and vanquished for the second time since football history began; Lafayette was scored on, yea, and very nearly thrashed, for the first time in another aeon; F. & M. bit the dust just as ignominiously as it had the year before. Coach Benfer can be highly commended on such a splendid showing, for his first year of coaching at Muhlenberg.

Stroudsburg Normal, our old trial horse, opened the season with a 36-0 victory marked up for us. It was a much smaller score than "Punk" Wood's eleven had rolled up, for there was no single feature play used, no effort made to chalk up a high score, and the first string men worked only half time. Nick Borell paved the way for the first touchdown by a splendid run from midfield and on the second play after he rushed over for Muhlenberg's first score of the year. Shortly before the end of the period he had added another, with "Winnie" Slemmer kicking goal, and this feat was duplicated in the second period. Winnie added a field goal a little later, and Nick another touchdown, but it remained for Captain Clark to make the first touchdown of his career by blocking a punt and falling over the line with it. This feat of prowess was really the most attractive feature of the whole game as further than that it was a mere succession of sweeping end runs and massive attacks on the line, series of which ended in scores without exception.

However, this monotony was broken on the next Saturday, when Muhlenberg opposed the big Maroon team on March field at Easton. Lafayette was reputed to have another of her "wonder teams" and lived up to her reputation. For the last time, Lafayette's famous Four Horsemen opposed the Cardinal and Gray, and did enough damage to make up for their loss. But it was Nick Borell—Nick the incomparable—who was the feature of the game. His splendid agility and high grade of playing made him the outstanding star in all that galaxy of talent. Twice, after fleeting runs that held the spectators breathless, he dashed across the goal line for Muhlenberg's first scores against Lafayette since 1918.

Both teams were wary in the first quarter, but in the second Lafayette got going for just long enough to send Kirkleski over with their first score. Ford kicked goal, and thus matters stood until early in the third quarter, Nick slipped away from his opponents and dashed 48 yards for a touchdown to tie things up. Slemmer made goal, but Lafayette, not at all paralyzed, came back with another touchdown on a pass to Marsh. Then the doughty Eastonians tried to launch an aerial offensive, but Dickert intercepted a pass, and another forward to Slemmer put Nick into position to score a second touchdown. The stands went frantic with joy over this unexpected piece of action. But Muhlenberg's last hopes for victory were dimmed as Captain Gebhard of Lafayette went over for the last score of the day, and Muhlenberg was "marooned" again. The final score, 20-14, showed what a titanic struggle it really was. Both sides were glad when it was over, and with reason.

Albright was the next victim, and Benfer had the satisfaction of seeing his former proteges get a thorough beating 21-0. All this scoring strange to say, took place in the second period, when the team went on a rampage and shoved over three counters in rapid succession. Nick made two touchdowns on line plunges and Dickert made the third after catching a pass from Slemmer. In the last quarter, Albright's zero very nearly changed to something else, for her star back, Angle, intercepted a pass very deftly and charged down the field at hurricane speed. Winnie Slemmer's old quarter-miler's stride proved equal to the occasion, and he forced Angle out on the five-yard line. This was the only time that Albright threatened seriously. The plucky little team from Myerstown deserved all kinds of credit for its game fighting against such heavy odds.

It was a bitter cold day when Muhlenberg journeyed away to Gettysburg to meet the Battlefield Collegians in their annual set-to. This game dimmed all our hopes of a brilliant year, for our line went all to pieces under the fire of the Orange and Purple, and only its pluck and endurance kept the score from mounting far higher. Gettysburg was all set to see Nick Borrell in all-American form and seemed disappointed when he did not beat their eleven single-handed. It was not like the game of the year before when Berg's overwhelming attack demoralized Gettysburg for a whole season, for all the Bullets' scoring took place in the first half, and in the second Muhlenberg played the home team to a standstill. Clark, Rice and Borrell fought valiantly for Muhlenberg, while Spangler, Fisher, Stumpf and Hubisack did the damage for Gettysburg. It was this game that first brought Spangler into the public eye.

From this depression Muhlenberg again rose to glorious heights when Lebanon Valley fell before her savage onslaught by a 14-0 score. It was the first time since the banner year of 1921 that Lebanon Valley had appeared on our field and the crowd was in proportion. Playing conditions were almost perfect. In the first quarter Gilbert, star of the Annville team, made two tries at goal but both failed because of the superior blocking of the Muhlenberg eleven. Both teams battled on even terms until about the middle of the second period when after fine offensive work by Slemmer and Dickert, Borrell crashed over for the first touchdown of the day. Slemmer kicked goal. Toward the end of this period the Muhlenberg team brought the ball all the way down to Lebanon Valley's one yard line but the snappy Black team kept it there in a heroic defense. The third period opened with both teams again on even terms but Nick's line crashing opened the way for his partner, Dickert, to go over for his second score of the season. The last quarter was scoreless, but Gilbert tried a last placement kick for the visitors, which Nick Borrell ran back to the forty yard line in the most sensational play of the game. However, toward the end of the struggle the Annville eleven began to push the Cardinal and Gray steadily backward.

Fortune favored the Dickinson team as it found Muhlenberg impeded by the ankle-deep mud on the field. Anxious to make up for their defeat of the previous year, the Carlisle lawyers opened up with a splendid offensive which bade fair to turn the trick. During the first two periods both elevens battled on fairly even terms, with Muhlenberg having a slight advantage. Soon the ball was on the 35 yard line, close enough for Slemmer to try a field goal. This attempt failed, and Dickinson, aided by penalties, put Books, the shining light of the game, into position for a try from placement. The ball went far astray, and for the remainder of the half the rivals wallowed in the mire, and made little progress. When the second half opened, the embryo lawyers suddenly launched an offensive that was as terrific as it was unexpected. Sweeping end runs were the means, and it was not until the Cardinal and Gray got onto the firm ground near the goal posts that it was able to check the onslaught. Borrell had been injured, and Greenberg now took his place. This stocky plebe, nothing daunted by rain, fog, or Dickinson, started a parade of his own up the field, showing his superiority in a muddy arena. His work stood out for Muhlenberg.

But what were these minor frays compared to the titanic conflict at Bethlehem, when Muhlenberg thundered through Lehigh at will trampling the Brown in the mire of Taylor Stadium? Never has a Muhlenberg team shown such splendid offense and defense as on that glorious day. 9-7 was the score the margin of victory being a field goal, which we owe entirely to Winnie Slemmer's trusty toe which came across with the goods where Lewin, Lehigh's famous kicking ace, failed miserably.

In spite of the fact that Lehigh had been told to "watch Borrell," or rather because of it, his work stood out head and shoulders above that of anyone else on the field. About all they could do was watch, as he crashed through the line, tore around end, punted, passed and received with precision, and as Dickert, phantom-like, snatched pass after pass out of the air after Slemmer had propelled it.

Right from the start it was plain that Muhlenberg had the better team. One little play did the damage, a double pass on a plunge through center, with Nick doing the plunging. Clymer and Dickert alternated with him and assisted tremendously in advancing the ball to within safe distance for Slemmer to try at goal. The stands were hushed with awe as this momentous try was made, and at once broke into thunderous cheer as it was seen to succeed. Lehigh had been scored on again! The Brown and White found it hard to get going after this reverse and had to punt to Muhlenberg in midfield, Borrell, Clymer and Slemmer almost at will tore down the field for gains varying from one yard to ten at a time, and at last, after Clymer had placed the ball on the one-yard line, Nick took the sacred oval and slid across with it. What mattered if Winnie's try at goal was wild? We were beating Lehigh 9-0 and the telegraph was already winging this story over the world. Now opened the third quarter—the "un-lucky" third, as tradition has it. Nor was the crowd disappointed, for when shortly after its opening Nick punted to Lewin on the home team's +2 yard line, Hess took the ball and on a line plunge went through, reversed his field, and flashed down to a score with the whole Muhlenberg team in pursuit. This brilliant exploit was followed by Lewin actually scoring the extra point. The rest of the game was a mad scramble for victory on Lehigh's part. Time and again, the toughest of tough luck allowed the warriors from the Holy City to place the ball within easy range for a field goal when Lewin proved incapable of sending it over. His own nervousness and poor protection from his own team were responsible. So the struggle, worthy of any epic, ended with the Cardinal and Gray triumphant on South Mountain. The score was not nearly indicative of the decisiveness of the victory, for Muhlenberg has amassed 17 first downs to Lehigh's niggardly five.

Followed this the Franklin and Marshall game, which gave us another glorious victory. Our ancient rivals from Lancaster had one severe thrashing to repay us for when they came up, and a second one, by a 38-7 score, added to it when they went back, in spite of all that a rather gorgeous band, resplendent in silver and fine ornaments, could do to the contrary. As a struggle it was a farce. The visitors began things as though they expected to win, but the spurt lasted for only a short time. Winnie Slemmer was the opening scorer with a field goal, which comprised the entire scoring of the first quarter, but two minutes later Nick went over for a touchdown, following it shortly later with another, and the fun had begun. The second period was just as unanimous for Muhlenberg. Dickert went over after about five minutes of desultory line plunging, Slemmer following with the extra point as usual, and then the round of substitutions began, ending scoring for a while. But Greenberg, who had turned the course of the Dickinson game, came in and twice in long runs cleared the enchanted line for more touchdowns. In the interval between them, Stehman, F. & M.'s vaunted fullback, managed to get loose and scored a touchdown, but it was sorely needed to prevent a total shutout. The game ended with Muhlenberg rapidly shaping another offensive. Thus perished our foes of Lancaster.

Catholic University was the next foeman to fall before our triumphal army. The team invaded the Capital City strong and hopeful, but found that combating not only a fairly strong team, but also the powers that be, was too strenuous. The first period of the game was hectic, the ball travelling up and down the field with extraordinary frequency, but never getting anywhere. Then, later on, in the second session, Nick Borell came across with the unexpected but necessary and sprinted 35 yards for the winning touchdown. His ever-dependable ally, Slemmer, kicked goal. From now on, the road Muhlenberg had to travel got rockier on every play, and some rather peculiar obstacles were encountered. The entire third period was just as inconclusive as the first, although it could easily be seen that Muhlenberg had a much faster and better team, but in the fourth the only really sensational incident of the contest occurred. Dickert fumbled the ball on Muhlenberg's own 37 yard line, Adams, of Catholic, recovered, but again fumbled and Donalson pounced on the ball. He kicked it however, on the way and was blocked with it behind the goal line. After discussion it became Catholic's ball on the two-yard line, but in four downs the distance was as insurmountable as Mount Everest. Thus ended this most disappointing game. Borell and Slemmer starred for Muhlenberg.

Last, but saddest, was the defeat at the hands of Villanova. Coached by Stuhl-dreher, hero of the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, the main Liners came up determined and confident. Using a wonderful aerial attack and an impregnable defence, they plowed through Muhlenberg at will. The game opened well enough, as Greenberg on the second play tore loose and hurtled down the field 55 yards for a touchdown, Muhlenberg's only real counter. It was also Muhlenberg's only threat. Outside of this little episode Villanova had things much her own way. Broderick scored twice and heroic Moynihan once, which with two goals from touchdown proved a sufficient obstacle to a Muhlenberg victory.

Thus closed the season. Six victories, three defeats and a scoreless tie marked our efforts, but the victories far outshone the defeats. It was the only year in which both Lehigh and F. & M. succumbed to our thrusts, and the first year in many in which Lafayette found her goal line crossed by our valiants. We consistently outscored and outplayed our opponents with slight exceptions. Hero of the year was of course Nick Borell, favorite son of fortune and half-back de luxe, but how can we pass by without mentioning giants like Slemmer, Dickert, Greenberg, Clymer, Clark, Rice and Black, whose playing stood out on every occasion? Truly it was a most successful year from all aspects, and one of Muhlenberg's most glorious.

Harry A. Benfer, Jr.

Coach of Athletics

WHEN Coach Benfer arrived at Muhlenberg, he found student spirit in that doubtful and gloomy state which every change of organization brings with it. However, he had not been here long before his qualities of leadership and coaching ability made themselves felt. He has in his short stay here produced one of Muhlenberg's best football teams and has led the basketball team to a repetition of its old successes. Coach "Haps" believes in playing the great game of life squarely and bravely, whatever the odds, and it is this doctrine which he has made a part of our school life. As an athlete Benfer has a brilliant record; while coaching at Albright he had great success, but his endeavors at Muhlenberg have within a very short time produced even more magnificent triumphs than those. "Haps" is an athlete first of all, but his abilities go far beyond that field. Without saying more, we can truly assert that Benfer is an ideal type of coach, vigorous, aggressive, and able, and that his short reign on the campus has already brought forth as great confidence from the students as can possibly be vested in a leader.

Our Gridiron Warriors

WILLIAM DOUGAL McALPIN
Philadelphia, Pa.

Big Mac has played his last game for the Cardinal and Grey. He was a tower of strength on the line and certainly did block enemy plays to perfection. His place will be hard to fill. As a guard, he has few equals and no superiors.

LELAND C. WINKLER
Alton, Ill.

"Jerry" has been with us only three years, but he will be graduated this spring, when Muhlenberg will lose one of her scrappiest linemen. He has pepped up things at tackle wherever he has appeared, and he will leave an aching void for the next season.

HAROLD GROVES
Detroit, Mich.

"Pat" has donned the togs for the last time in the interest of Muhlenberg. His vast bulk at guard checked many a hostile offensive and served to open the way for our backs to thunder through. He will be sadly missed next year.

PAUL FREED
Allentown, Pa.

"Bus" earned his letter away back in '21 under Coach Spiegel, but returned and served under both Wood and Benfer. He plays a smashing game at the wing position and often rushes in to break up hostile drives.

JOHN REUTLINGER
Philadelphia, Pa.

"Reut" has long been an outstanding contender for a tackle berth. This year, his last, has brought him the coveted "M" in reward for long, hard work.

MILTON STEINHAUER
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"Micky's" flashy work on the Freshman team of a few years ago are still fresh in our minds. While he has had a hard road to travel in the face of intense back-field competition, his senior year has found him with his long desired "M".

WINFRED T. SLEMMER

Philadelphia, Pa.

"Ben" is one of the greatest drop-kickers in the country, and has all by himself done Muhlenberg's scoring in many a tough football game. His work at quarterback has been a shining light of several seasons, and Muhlenberg will be sorry to lose him.

JOHN PHILLIPS

Lebanon, Pa.

Our Captain-elect is a fighting little end who always seems to be where the most action is. Perhaps he's the prime cause of the action. Fast on his feet and as plucky as they come, Johnny is an asset on any kind of field. We wish him all kinds of success with his team next year.

PAUL CLYMER

Allentown, Pa.

Pauly started out as an end on the Freshman team long ago, but what a half-back he turned out to be. "Rugged" is one of the sturdiest line plungers we have, and is a fast little traveler besides. The same is true of him as was said about Muhlenberg—"Little, but oh, my!"

NICHOLAS BORRELL

Grantwood, N. J.

Gettysburg decided that Nick was an All-American but it took the Lehigh and Lafayette games to prove it. He has been cited for many honors, but none can be greater than to be the man who played so wonderfully for his Alma Mater. We are glad that for two more years Nick will strike terror into our foes and his.

EDGAR DICKERT

Allentown, Pa.

This flashy halfback during the past season repeatedly brought the astounded throngs to their feet by his mighty line plunges and splendid defensive work, but most of all by the way he snatched passes out of the air. These exploits gained him the title of "Phantom of the Forward."

HALDEMAN C. STOUT

Wilmington, Del.

This big tackle came to us from Perkiomen Prep, and made good right away. This was his second year as a letter man, and few were the gains through his position. He was unlucky enough to be injured in the Lafayette game, but came back with a bang and fought all the way through the season.

WILLIAM GREENBERG

Crum Lynne, Pa.

This stalwart son of the Delaware bottoms is one of the hardest line-crackers in this part of the world. His sensational exploits against F. & M. and Villanova still linger in our memories along with his mighty drive against Dickinson. For a Freshman, he has a record to be very proud of.

JOSEPH EVANS

Easton, Pa.

The river city sent us this young brave whose work at end was one of the few redeeming features of the disaster at Gettysburg. Joe plays a fine, fast game, and his good start this year promises much better work in the future.

Freshman Football Season 1925

The Freshman football season of 1925 was the most successful one thus far. Coach Holstrum's proteges, although unfortunate in point of lack of experience and organization, soon overcame these difficulties and after the opening games of their season displayed fierce offensive and tough defensive capacities, riding rough-shod over some of the best teams in their class in the East.

Muhlenberg had a Freshman ruling this year which explains certain conditions: Only Freshmen are allowed to play on the Freshman team, but no Freshman shall be barred from the varsity. In consequence, this plucky little eleven lost some men who might have been their mainstays. Nevertheless, a record of five games won against two lost speaks for itself.

The season opened against Bethlehem High, which just barely defeated the Frosh, whose lineup was not yet settled, 12-7. The following week Lafayette Frosh, aided by fumbles, trounced the yearlings 32-0.

However, the team "got going" with the result that Temple Frosh went back to the Quaker city with a 47-0 thrashing on their hands. Gordon, playing center, made a touchdown—for a man at his position a rare and wonderful thing. Perkiomen Prep then lost to the freshmen on a sloppy field by the scant margin of a safety, which does not indicate the real edge the Frosh had.

West Chester Normal, with a heavy team of great experience, then visited us but went back with a defeat of 19-14 against them. Wentz' brilliant work receiving passes materially helped turn the trick. Then Rutgers Frosh, with as strong an eleven as could be found anywhere, was soundly trounced at New Brunswick by a 16-0 count.

Last of all, and most glorious, was the defeat administered to Lehigh Frosh. Lehigh had a heavier team but could not withstand the smashing offensive which the Bergmen unleashed. Smooth, finished work characterized our Frosh play. Ulrich scored all three touchdowns.

High lights of the season were the tremendous line plunging of Martin and the fast fieldwork of Ulrich; Pascal's generalship and excellent kicking; the work of Chapman, Neudorfer and Jacobs stood out on the line, while Wentz at end displayed wonderful talent. Gordon, at center, was a tower of strength.

BASKETBALL

Varsity Basketball Season 1925-26

WHEN Coach Benfer called out the basketball squad for its first practice, he found he had a large squad of experienced men from last year with which to work, and in consequence, the freshmen material was barred from varsity work. The veterans soon rounded into a very smooth-working, finished team, and from the first seemed headed for that coveted goal, a successful year.

The season opened against Penn at Philadelphia, where the Quakers with the best team in years gained a 27-16 victory. On the following Saturday, Mount Airy Seminary, the old trial horse, was handed a severe 60-13 lacing, and Moravian received another, 46-22.

Three consecutive reverses followed. Lehigh beat us at Bethlehem 40-27, Lebanon Valley revenged itself for a football defeat 34-28, and Lehigh again turned us back on our own floor for the count of 44-30. It seemed as though luck was against the Berg cagemen, and it must be accounted to their credit that their morale was not shattered.

The annual eastern trip came out more successfully than usual. Upsala, facing a Muhlenberg team for the first time, was nosed out 34-31, but Stevens Tech in a red hot game in the fair city of Hoboken won over us 31-24.

Now came the really glorious part of the year. Five consecutive victories rested with the Cardinal and Gray.

Benfer's men turned against their coaches old school Albright and destroyed its representatives 32-26; Villanova too succumbed 33-28 after a hectic battle. Then working like demons, the basketeers edged out Lafayette 25-24 in a phenomenal extra-period game.

As if to make up for their previously closer score against Moravian than was customary, the team now completely swamped their old rivals from the Holy City by a 55-20 count. Then followed what was in many respects the most sensational game of the year, against Haverford. The Little Quakers lost, 33-32, in the last half minute of play, as Nick Borrell turned in a one-handed shot from far beyond the middle of the floor, just as the whistle blew.

Villanova regained her edge in the interscholastic series by a 32-26 victory, the Blue and White getting an early lead and keeping it safe.

The season closed with a burst of speed against Lafayette. For the sixth consecutive time the Maroon yielded court honors to the Cardinals, by the lopsided tally of 36-15. It was a fit ending for a glorious season, and closed Captain Clymer's two years as leader of the team in the happiest possible way.

Lawson, forward, and high scorer of the season, was the shining light. His brilliant floor work and accurate shooting went a long way towards victory. Captain Clymer follows, of course, only for his speedy work and careful play, but Ziegenfus, center, only one point behind him in scoring and even with him in playing ability deserves credit. Borell and Freed, regular guards, must be mentioned for steady, consistent, but often brilliant services to their team. Schlums, captain-elect, and Coldren, with Dickert, and Wright, who was dropped early in the year, added their efforts in fighting through the season.

Prospects for next year are unusually bright. Only two men, Ziegenfus and Freed, are lost to the team, and a wealth of material from the present Freshman team is available. Under the leadership of Captain "Winnie" Schlums and the capable tutelage of Benfer, who knows what the Cardinal and Gray won't do in the future? Manager Gehringer has promised a heavy schedule, but we feel that with our old stars and the new reserves, nothing should stand in the way of another happy year.

WILLIAM DOUGAL McALPIN
Manager of the Varsity Basketball Team

Freshman Basketball Season of 1925-26

Freshman basketball had its formal inauguration at Muhlenberg during the past winter when under the guidance of Coach Holstrum, a team was organized and played a schedule of nine games. Five victories and four defeats were the sum total, and while in several cases the Freshmen won games by wide margins, only one of those against them could really be classed as one-sided.

Although in former years freshman teams had taken the field, or rather the court, this was the first time that a team had really been handled on a systematic basis. Manager Gehringer announced a schedule which was played through without the usual run of cancellations, and the results were really gratifying.

No freshman was taken onto the varsity squad so that a team of great strength was brought onto the courts in every game. High scorer of the season was Pascal, although Minka, Kiefer and Chapman gave him a great race for honors.

The men who formed the squad were: Chapman, Crowell, Empie, Evans, Frazier, Kiefer, Kimble, Martin, Minka, Pascal and Ulrich. All of these men did valiant service later in the intramural league.

Their schedule was as follows:

Muhlenberg Frosh.....	20	Pottsville High	26
Muhlenberg Frosh.....	32	Moravian Reserves	8
Muhlenberg Frosh.....	23	Moravian Reserves	14

Baseball Season of 1925

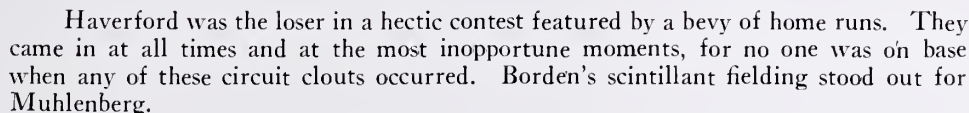

MUHLENBERG'S 1925 baseball season was a flash from start to finish. For the second year of organized baseball at any college the record of eight victories and one defeat would be glory enough, but the decisive character of the triumphs further indicates what a pennant-winning combination Coach Wood produced with the material at hand.

Two men were foremost in this procession of conquests. Coach Wood developed a formidable organization out of the squad which reported to him, an organization which was enough to frighten any opposing battery. To him goes the credit for training and teaching, but to Ziegenfus, star hurler, who is responsible for all but one of the victories, we must also pay a great tribute. Neither should we forget Conway, gallant captain; nor should we forget any man who did his best to add success to the year.

The team opened its schedule with a bang by defeating Villanova on the foreign field by a 10-5 score. Although the Main Liners started out bravely they could not cope with the avalanches of runs that Muhlenberg let loose, and the previous defeat in '24 was avenged.

The next victim was Lehigh. With the game scoreless for three innings, Adams of Lehigh passed several in the fourth, filling the bases, and Ziegenfus smashed out a homer that won his own game. Muhlenberg's brilliant fielding was largely responsible for this triumph over our old foe.

Shortly after, Villanova came up to Allentown in an effort to stage a comeback, but failed wretchedly. Again a barrage of safeties assailed the pitcher who had turned back Holy Cross, and again the score over this formidable team was doubled by the doughty Allentonians.

Cressman pitched Muhlenberg to a 6-3 victory over Stroudsburg Normal at Stroudsburg in the next game. Rain stopped the contest in the eighth inning, but Muhlenberg had sufficient lead to receive the decision.

Franklin and Marshall was now turned back by a 7-2 score in a game featured by the weirdest hitting imaginable. Of the twelve hits garnered by the two teams, all were singles. The visitors were held scoreless until the last two innings.

Swarthmore, the only team to defeat the Cardinal and Gray, did so only by a 2-1 shade. Muhlenberg was slightly off form, while the Garnet aggregation played as it had never played before.

A swift return to form saw Franklin and Marshall again trounced, this time by a 7-3 tally. The Lancastrians hadn't the least chance against the heavy artillery with which they were faced.

Finally, in the prime contest of the year, on Alumni Day, Albright fell before the onslaught of our boys by a 5-4 score. Four runs did the visitors amass in the almost fatal second inning, holding this lead until the ninth, when Ziegenfus drove in two men ahead of him, and collapsed at the plate in the intense heat. However, he was revived, and shut out the visitors in the extra session, when Witt and Conway playing their last game for Muhlenberg, together accounted for the winning run. It was one of the games you read about, but seldom see. Thrills held the spectators from start to finish.

Thus did Coach Wood's last team end its season. Not only the splendid record of victory, but the fine play of the team in the face of stiff opposition and considerable obstacles deserve our praise.

The prospects for a new season of success are bright. True, losses are heavy, for Borden, Hord, Conway, Witt, and Moll have played their last games for Muhlenberg, but new material seems promising and our new coach, Benfer, has a splendid record with which to inspire confidence. All success to him!

TENNIS

The Tennis Season of 1925

The tennis season at Muhlenberg during the past year was the most successful during the history of the college. The team won a match, tied one, and lost four. This is the first time in the history of tennis at Muhlenberg that a match has been won in this sport.

The first match of the season was played with Lafayette on the Lafayette courts at Easton. This match was lost 6-0. It was the first match of the season with Lafayette showing more polish than Muhlenberg, and their superiority finally asserted itself over our team.

The second match was played with Moravian College at Bethlehem which again resulted in a loss 5-1. The scores in this match were closer than in the previous match and Moravian was taxed to the utmost to wring victory from the Muhlenberg men.

On May 13 the Muhlenberg team traveled to Franklin and Marshall and here met a very superior group of tennis players, and again tasting defeat to the tune of 6-0. This was by far the best team that our men met throughout the entire season.

Two days later the club visited Mt. Airy Seminary and by a great comeback featuring Nolde, a former Muhlenberg star, the Mt. Airy team managed to wrest a 3-3 tie from our men. The Muhlenberg men showed a marked superiority over their former matches in this dual meet and seemed as if they were only coming into their regular form.

The next trip was to P. M. C. where the Muhlenberg men again tasted defeat. The score at the end of the match stood 5-1. This match was closer than the final score indicates, each set and match going well over the average amount of games and P. M. C. came out with flying colors probably more because of their knowledge of their own courts.

The next match with Moravian College was played on the courts of the Oakmont Tennis Club of Allentown and after a most bitterly fought afternoon of tennis Muhlenberg at last tasted the fruits of victory. Every match was hotly contested and Muhlenberg emerged victor only after many deuce sets had been played.

The final match of the season was scheduled with Gettysburg, but only two of the singles matches were finished, Gettysburg having won both. Rain prevented the remainder of the matches, the score being 4 to 2.

On the whole the season was a very successful one judging from the scores of previous years and with improvements for tennis being constantly made, Muhlenberg should soon be able to take her place in the tennis world which it should hold. Members who composed the team were: Walter Seegers, captain; John Haws, Elmer Schaertel, George Deisher, and John Jordan. Jacob Sotter was manager of the team with Charles Helwig as his assistant.

CRACK

The Track Season of 1925

AS indoor track and cross country had fully prepared many of the men during the winter, the opening of the open season for track raised hopes higher than ever for a prosperous year. Many veterans and a wealth of new material greeted Coach Robinson at the opening of practice, and his careful work speedily rounded the team into first-class condition.

The first meet saw Philadelphia Textile defeated by the wholesome score of 95-31. The Quaker athletes furnished very little opposition, and many men gained their letters for Muhlenberg on the basis of this meet alone.

Lafayette put the only real blemish on the season when in a mid-week affray the Eastonians romped away with the meet winning 91½-33½. Allen, star of the visitors, tucked away many good points and was high scorer in the meet.

In the last dual meet of the season, on a foreign track, the team nosed out C. C. N. Y. by a 59-53 count. The meet was featured by one event of significance—Henry crowned his long career by breaking the college record for the mile run.

In the Pennsylvania Central meet at Harrisburg, Muhlenberg placed fourth among Class A schools, with a total of 28 points. Gettysburg won with only 38. Kancko was the sensation of the meet, breaking the meet record in the javelin with a toss of 158 feet, and equalling the record in the low hurdles.

In the Middle Atlantic Meet held at Haverford, which Swarthmore won with 37 points, Muhlenberg did less than for a long time. Our men garnered only two points, Kancko coming in fifth in the low hurdles and Schrader doing the same in the broad jump.

Thus the season was really successful, in spite of the obstacles which were met with in the form of injuries to the men. Nevertheless, the showing was very good, and with a loss of but one man, Henry, prospects for another year are very bright.

The letter men are as follows: Huegel, Wright, Kancko, Snyder, Schrader, Henry, Lewis, Dickert, S. Miller, Steinhauer, Robinson, Coach, and Beck, Manager.

The Inter-Class Meet

The annual interclass track meet was held on Muhlenberg Field on Monday, March 29. It resulted in a sweeping victory for the Freshmen, who amassed a total of 56 points in the hour's pastime. The Sophomores gleaned 41 counters, the Juniors 26, and the Seniors 19.

The Sophomores, with the advantage of long training, had been picked to win, but the Frosh turned the tide by taking three places in the pole vault and after that were never headed. The upper classes competed only to avoid a blank.

High scorer of the meet was Kimble, with 15 points, for the Freshmen; Diamanti, Sophomore, had 10; Henrich, Sophomore, and Anderson, Freshman, had eight each, and Clymer, Junior, had seven.

The Glee Club of 1925-26

ORGANIZATIONS in a college are a more important factor than most people realize. Thru the activities of the various organizations the spirit of the college they represent is brought to the attention of the outside world. Who doubts today that a football team is the best advertising medium a college can have?

But there is a phase of college life other than athletics, which is not generally brought to the attention of the outside world, and that is the intellectual and cultural side of our educational institutions. And Muhlenberg is one of the colleges which has always striven to bring to the realization of her constituency the fact that a college is not solely an athletic playground. To do this there was started in the year 1903 the organization known as the Muhlenberg College Glee Club which has increased in fame with each succeeding year of its existence.

However it is not the purpose of this article to praise the Club indiscriminately, nor is that necessary for this group of young men is as well known to the followers of Muhlenberg as is her football team. But it will not be amiss to state briefly the evolution of the program. For many years College glee club programs were modeled along the lines of a slap-stick vaudeville program, and as such they pleased a certain element of the people only. But gradually there came the realization that such cheap slap-stick comedy did more to lower the ideals of a college in the eyes of the people than it did to raise them. Consequently the glee clubs were put in charge of competent directors who began to raise the type of the program to a standard hitherto unthought of. Instead of the cheap knock-em-down and drag-em-out stuff, higher class comedy and music more of a concert type were substituted. As a result most glee clubs today present a program which is well rounded and bound to please even the most critical audience.

The Muhlenberg Glee Club is typical of this evolution and today renders a concert of such rare quality and variety that she ranks among the leading glee clubs of the country. For the lover of music whose tastes run to the classical compositions there is the instrumental trio, which has never failed to please, as well as the concert work on the piano by Paul Held whose name stands high among the leading pianists of the East.

Then there is the incomparable jazz orchestra under the able leadership of Charles Bachman for those who like the popular music of the times. Even a touch of the dramatic is added in the form of the comedy skit which features the superb acting of Harvey Herring. Of course the chorus singing of the men is what makes the organization a glee club. Their numbers interspersed throughout the program seem to add the final touch to the success of the concert. The "Song of the Jolly Roger," "The Big Brown Bear," and the "Battle Song" are three numbers which will linger long in the memories of those fortunate enough to hear this club. And last but not least is none other than our able director, Prof. Harold K. Marks, to whom the club in a large measure owes much of its success.

Thus it will be seen that the field covered by the program is not a narrow one by any means. The aim of the club is to please and by means of its varied program these young men have pleased. Therefore in closing it can be safely said that to hear the Muhlenberg College Glee Club is not merely an evening's entertainment, but it is distinctly a privilege which comes but once a year. May the Muhlenberg Glee Club continue to be successful and may it reach even greater heights in the future than in the past.

The Glee Club Orchestra

THE Glee Club Orchestra had its beginning in, and is a direct descendant of the mandolin club of five years ago. The custom had been to form a club consisting of banjos and mandolins, which would travel with the Glee Club and appear at the concerts. In 1922-23 the force of modern music began to make itself felt in that there were not enough mandolins and banjos to form a club composed strictly of those instruments. Besides, the year before a group of students had formed an orchestra under the direction of Art Mickley who brought it to such a high perfection that it was drafted into service for the Glee Club.

With this precedent to follow in 1922-23 it was decided to form a combination of instruments as follows: Piano, Alfred Van Dusen; trumpet, Charles Barndt; saxophone, Edgar Knies; banjo, mandolins, William Hillegas and Stanley Schweimler; tenor banjo, Jacob Hartman; straight banjo, Leonard Deininger; violin, Charles Bachman. This combination was under the direction of Alfred Van Dusen and made a tremendous success playing all the popular dance music of the year.

The next year 1924-25 it was decided to form an orchestra with as near the proper instrumentation as could be secured in college. The following men made up the orchestra: Alfred Van Dusen, piano; William Hillegas, tenor banjo; Charles Bachman, violin; Harold Koch, trumpet; George Riggs and Edgar Knies, saxophones; Willard Baum, traps. The orchestra of this year continued the success of the year before in every way.

This year the orchestra is composed of the following members: Leonard Deininger, piano; Charles Bachman, tenor banjo; Robert Stauffer, tuba; Sidney Supowitz, traps; John Geissinger and Harry Reinhold, trumpets; Carlton Baum and James Drury saxophones. Having the advantage of more material to pick from, the orchestra is better balanced, and has been making a bigger hit than ever before.

In 1922-23 the orchestra was known as the "Cardinals," because of the vivid Spanish girdles worn. The last two years it has been known as the "Cardinal and Gray Orchestra," from the college colors; and bids fair to become the official name.

The Muhlenberg College Band

ABOUT the year 1912, several Muhlenberg students in order to stir up enthusiasm for an approaching athletic contest, gathered together some noise making devises and a few musical instruments, and thus in the spirit of frivolity formed the first Muhlenberg College Band. Some of the more serious minded in the next year or two collected the musical talent and formed the first real band at Muhlenberg. The "Old Timers" are still singing the praises of "Pop" Erickson and the wonderful band that he organized and directed.

Since that time a band has been maintained for the football games, but that was practically all. Much credit must be given Frederick Preuss '25, for his efforts in trying to form a band into a permanent organization on the campus.

This year a new regime was instituted. Prof. C. Spencer Allen, connected with the Lafayette College Band for years, took charge and put the band on a basis such that credit in music is now given for participation in band activities. The student body showed their interest in the organization by contributing the magnificent sum of five hundred dollars for instruments. The citizens of Allentown and many others assisted materially in making the band the decided success that it has been this year.

Uniforms were secured and worn for the first time at the now famous Lehigh football game. The cadet gray coat and trousers with the overseas cap all trimmed in cardinal would have not been nearly as attractive without the beautiful cadet gray cape lined with cardinal and displaying an old English "M" "C" in gray, when thrown back to display the cardinal lining. We have been called "the most attractively uniformed College Band in the Lehigh Valley."

Mr. William G. Genzler, of the class of 1926 has been the able director. Many are the compliments paid this able leader for the wonderful results he has obtained.

The band did not disband after the football season, but continued practising for concerts. On several occasions the band has been called upon to render a program of concert music. Several concerts are scheduled. At the College Day festivities, the band rendered several selections, on which occasions the Allentown Band usually participated. The promenade concert at Commencement this year will be given by the College Band. The band also participated at several basketball games this last fall.

These are only a few of the many things accomplished this year. Bigger and better things are looked for next year.

Review of Music at Muhlenberg

TODAY music in all its forms is found among the students of Muhlenberg. This is evidenced by the fact that each year sees the organization of some new musical group. We are always fortunate to have with us a few talented musicians who are able to please the various tastes on the campus.

The Glee Club, our most popular musical organization, has acquired throughout the east the reputation of presenting its music in a novel style. Each year an improvement which excels that of the preceeding year until now it compares with the best musical clubs.

This season we were again fortunate to have a College Orchestra which accompanies the Glee Club on all its tours. Reports tell us that it has made a hit wherever it played. The Orchestra is only a few years old, but the work it has done in the short time of its existence insures us of its ability to keep on improving.

The greatest step this year has been the reorganization of the Band. Under the directorship of one of our professors it has received an impetus that will enable it to rival the best College Bands. For the first time the members were in uniforms this season. At present regular practice meetings are held and with the experience it gets by playing at debates and other affairs, we predict an excellent Band for next year's football season.

The Trio is another group just started. It accompanied the Glee Club and from reports we are able to say that it is doing excellent work.

Deininger's Orchestra also appeared this year for the first time. It is already filling engagements down town to furnish dance music.

Music is gradually finding its place at Muhlenberg. Outside friends are beginning to support it as is shown by the late contributions of uniforms for the Band. We hope for the time when music will become a part of the curriculum so that all students may have an opportunity to learn to appreciate it.

The Druid Quartette

Last year another organization started, along musical lines, in the form of the Druid Quartette. This was composed of men who were interested in this line of work with no other end in view except the pleasure to be derived from it. J. Kenneth Christman, who has had a wide experience in directing musical organizations and who is student leader of the Glee Club, offered to help the quartette in their work. As a result the quartette was asked to sing on different occasions at meetings and church affairs. This year the quartette was reorganized and several concerts have been given. The season was opened by singing at an M. C. A. meeting and shortly afterwards at Fullerton. They have sung several times at St. John's Lutheran Church and also at others where they were received by a pleased audience. Radio concerts also have been given and requests have come for the quartette to sing again. After Easter several engagements have been made among which the most important are concerts at Wernersville and Stroudsburg. The programmes usually consist of not only selections by the quartette but also piano solos by Mr. Christman. In several songs the banjo and mandolin are used as an accompaniment. The quartette is composed of J. Carroll Wilkinson, first tenor; Paul Empie, second tenor; Gerald G. Neely, baritone; Claude E. Schick, bass and J. Kenneth Christman, director and accompanist.

Student Body

"Student self-government" has always been the motto of a progressive college and Muhlenberg holds out our student body organization as its logical creation on any campus. This is not a dead body by any means. Altho at times hampered by tradition, it has a number of beneficial duties. The Student Body is really the foundation of all our law and order, even empowering the Student Council. It authorizes athletic awards and makes necessary regulations, among which are the rules covering cars on the campus; speed limit, etc. The smokers before football games are the first evidence of its presence during the year. Every activity sponsored by the college is certain to have been started by the Student Body.

Student Council

Here is the Judicial body of the college, our local State Police. It is comprised of representatives from the different frats and the non-frat group so that it is a very democratic body. Its members may be distinguished by their black hats with white S. C.'s on them.

The first indication of the Council to the Frosh is a little slip of paper which conveys the information to the poor Frosh that he has less money than he thought he had. Later they meet the Council in Interclass scraps or perhaps in a more personal way at one of the trials. It seems to work in very nicely with the faculty for regulation of campus activities and has proven itself a very desirable group.

Muhlenberg Weekly

If you have ever attended this college, you will need no introduction to the much ridiculed combination of printers ink, wood pulp, and a vast amount of ingenuity which masquerades at the Weekly. Every one on the campus looks forward to it from week to week. Their interest is of two kinds: Some read it to hear of any new incidents on the campus while the others read it to find the mistakes in what is recorded on its pages.

The Weekly is very valuable in reaching our alumni with its account of the college and what it is doing. Students with a leaning toward newspaper work have found that it is a great help in learning a two letter word used in cross word puzzles.

The M. C. A. is a misunderstood but patient body ready with help whenever the students feel need of it. It initiates the Frosh into college life thru the books which are sent to them before coming to college in September, and continues the initiation when it gives the Freshman reception shortly after the beginning of school where the Freshmen are introduced to each professor and given some good advice.

Its work goes into a variety of subjects, among which may be counted the securing of chapel speakers, the placement of students into desirable positions, deputation work, and help in missions.

The Debating Team

One cannot help noticing the very evident progress made in debating at Muhlenberg this year. Last year due to the infancy of the activity four out of the five debates scheduled were lost but this year the schedule has been increased to eleven debates and at the time of this writing five victories out of nine debates have been credited to the team. Additional significance comes from the fact that the increase in the schedule has been made up of schools as Temple U., Dickinson, and the U. of Pittsburgh.

The attendance at the debates has been remarkable for fully 50% of the student body attends the forensic clashes which means that debating is attracting a student attendance second only to football. Some of the other fruits of debating are not yet evident but will be shortly. Before very long Muhlenberg will probably have it's first national honorary fraternity which will be one of the two foremost forensic fraternities in the country.

The team this year has been under the very capable captaincy of Walter Knittle who ofttimes turned the tide by his convincing oratory and sound logic. He together with Wm. Hudders and James Harrison will be leaving this year and although these three important positions must be filled by new men the rapidly growing interest in the activity insures us of very little difficulty in this respect.

Next year the schedule will be even better than this year in that there will be just as many debates but they will be confined to more representative institutions.

Members of Team: Wm. S. Hudders, Walter A. Knittle, Capt.; John S. Rhoda, John Henrich, Henry Scheirer, Russell Gaenzle, James Harrison, Howard Ross, Elmer Schaertel, Arthur Gillespie, Coach.

“Deutscher Verein”

The “Deutscher Verein,” which was organized on the afternoon of Thursday, April 4, 1924, by Dr. Preston A. Barba, is one of the active organizations on the campus. It has been and is the purpose of the Club to further the students acquaintance with the German language and German literature. German is the language spoken at the meetings of the Verein. It is in this way that the student receives what he probably would not receive in his regular class work.

Last year the Verein presented two interesting German plays. The parts were rendered in German and a large crowd enjoyed the comedies very much. Credit must be given to those male members who took the ladies' parts. In fact everyone who participated deserve praise. It was indeed a successful venture for the Club's strong supporter, Dr. Barba. He deserves much credit for his efforts.

The meetings of the Verein are held every two weeks. Often programs are rendered, German games are played and German songs are sung. It is at the conclusion of the program that the meeting becomes most delightful. For it is then that the members indulge in all the typical German luncheons that can possibly be obtained. The only difference comes in the drinking, which instead of the good old German beer, the club must resort to “Kaffee.”

Dr. Barba and Dr. Reichard are the faculty advisors and have often proved by their untiring efforts in the furtherance of the success of the club, capable and interesting entertainers.

The following are the officers of the Verein:

President	-	-	-	-	-	-	Albert Benfield
Vice President	-	-	-	-	-	-	Garford Graver

Le Cercle Francais

This organization is passing thru another successful year under the guidance of Mr. Bennett, who is teaching in the French and Spanish department, during the absence of Prof. Corbiere, who is studying in Europe. The purposes of the club are to promote a deeper interest in France and French literature and to hear French spoken outside of the classroom. The meetings are held in the College Commons or in a fraternity house. The time is spent by readings and talks on French literature and customs and French music is played and sung. After the meetings a luncheon is served which always pleases those present. Next year the interest will be much deeper because Prof. Corbiere will surely have some very interesting stories to tell about his studies and tour in Europe. Admittance to the Club is on merit of scholarship alone. The officers for this year are Garford Graver, president; J. Kenneth Christman, vice president; Harold Barnes, secretary, C. E. Schick, treasurer.

The Chess Club

The month of March, 1926, saw the inauguration of a new activity at Muhlenberg—The Chess Club—which from its beginning grew fast and soon became as well known as any like organization on the campus. A small group of excellent players soon drew in with them everyone who had talent or ambition along the line of Chess and after an organization was completed, a tournament was held and a team selected. To date no foreign match has been contracted for, but several are in process of conclusion and this new and most interesting diversion seems firmly established.

The officers of the club are:

President	-	-	-	-	-	Andrew Loeffler
Vice President	-	-	-	-	-	Henry W. H. Mattes
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	Norman Murray Schlegel

The History Club

After the beginning of the second semester five seniors with the aid of Dr. Mueller and Professor Swain of the History Department organized a History Club. The purpose of the club is to promote interest in the study of history. Along with the regular meetings open forum discussions are held on events of a historical nature. Besides having discussion on historical topics social events are also scheduled throughout the term.

Membership to the club is limited to students of the junior and senior class majoring in history and having an average grade of B or more in the subject.

The officers of the club are Walter Seegers, President; Richard Shelling, Secretary and Treasurer.

Senior members—Walter Knittle, Walter Seegers, Richard Steinmetz, Henry Wickert.

The Egotistic Frosh

I should like to fill several volumes with accounts of my various escapades with women; so fond are my reminiscences of them, and so numerous are they. I should like to write, above all, of one experience in particular. Her name was as sweet as the roses, and she had more curves than a French Horn—a million dollars please, you can keep the tin-foil, Ambrose. She was one of those pulse-quickenning, dashing, hug-me-tight, red-hot mammas, with the come-hither eyes; with a form just built for a Ford mudster.

This thrilling night-mare occurred on the night of the annual dance of the Nu Rho Delta fraternity, held at the Ben Franklin. I had grabbed off a cardboard, and phoned my sweet "sugar" to cinch the date. As per usual she tried to "high hat" me until I dangled my wares before her fetching optics. Quickly the frigidity of her haughty mien turned into one of warmth and feeling. Everything was "jake", and I was fully prepared for the occasion, I had secured a friend's "Leaping Lena" as the method of transportation, and was all "Tuxed out" raring to go.

Silently I glided up to the door of my "sugar", and after the usual preliminaries we were on our way to a night of supposed fun and merry-making. My gallant and noble steed refused to jolt along on two cylinders, and after much snorting and puffing, stalled. It did this little thing no less than five times, and of course every time it did so, I had to play "Joe the mechanic." By the time we drew up in front of Phil's White Elephant, the sweet young member of the "Speaker Sex" at my side was fit to be tied. Long before I had found out that she was no agent of commiseration and had resigned myself accordingly. We certainly did enjoy the dance, I think I had one dance with her all evening.

After the ball was over, and I had gotten my top-coat with a minimum amount of argument, we proceeded to the street. We alighted on the pavement without mishap, and my "sugar" struts right past "Ex-lax" and hops into a taxi. I stood there with my mouth open, and scratching my head, until she brought me to, with a "Wake up and hear the grass grow, Sap, hop in and give yourself up." Well from the experience I gained that night reading meters, I should now be on the U. G. I. inspection staff. I just sat there with my eyes glued on that money extracting device, and all the while squeezing my last five spot, until Uncle Abe lost his usual kind and jovial expression. My companion of the mordant wit used it very effectively during our drive home. She had me biting my finger nails, and I uttered a sigh of relief when the beautiful residential section of Overbrook became visible to my bloodshot eyes.

I discharged my liability without any formalities, and boarded a "Brill Special" for a morbid ride back to my "Leaping Lena." During that gloomy ride I managed to gather together sufficient energy to cross her name off my address book.—H.T.C. '29.

Will Wonders Never Cease?

Man in the course of his existence has accomplished works which even in these days are called wonders. I pause to mention the great Pyramids of the Ancients, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, the Sphynx, the Panama Canal, the Eighth Street Bridge, and others of the Seven Wonders of the world. Man has built mansions, sky scrapers, great dams, beautiful cathedrals, and schools of education. With electricity he has produced power to accomplish other wonders. Automobiles, Fords, airships, railroads, gigantic steamships and various modes of travel have made distance fade into a background. All things have become systematized, business, industry, commerce, all this and more. With wireless and radio communication has been made possible between the darkest darkies of South Africa and the dudiest dudes of England. The languages of every nation can be learned over night with scarcely an effort, by means of recognized correspondence schools. This in itself can be placed as an achievement that ranks with the greatest.

But what are all these? When wonders of wonders, Herb Horner, with three deft twists of his wrist succeeded in getting a remonstrative chug from the old tin can he calls "pard."

Sometimes We Know He Is Wise

Four or five would-be Latin sharks (Heist excluded) sitting in the back row in class evidently taking advantage of the Dean's good nature (possibly because they thought he couldn't see what was going on in class) were making use of "ponies" (you know what I mean.) Great was their surprise, when the Dean lay down his small pencil, looked up from his book and said, "Will the cavalry in the back row mount their trusty steeds, come galloping to the front, dismount, and rid themselves of a translation that one usually gets for twenty-three cents?" MORAL: Don't translate everything that is in the "pony."

STUDENT COUNCIL—Gets razzed by the faculty for not being on the job and by the students for being on the job too much.

M. C. A.—Never heard of it.

GLEE CLUB—A society of warblers and good lookers who spread the fame of the college, and learn by experience how to love.

DEBATING TEAM—Lets the other team shoot the bull and get away with murder.

PAN HELLENIC COUNCIL—It is, that's all.

WEEKLY STAFF—A chance for some boys to shine with names in print. (We wonder.)

COLLEGE BAND—Musical, but noisy.

CIARLA STAFF—This book squeaks for itself.

FACULTY—Can tell better after our class is graduated.

STUDENT BODY—Did you ever a better one? Lotsa pep. (?)

VARSITY "M" CLUB—Composed of all men who have risked everything to bring honor and fame to 'Berg. Hats off to you men.

COMMONS—For complimentary comment see Fritchman only.

MUHLBERG COLLEGE—Built on a bluff, as most other colleges are. But there is nothing better, boys. In years to come all our fondest reminiscences will be woven around this spot covering seventy-two acres—classrooms included.

GERMAN CLUB—The only organization seriously affected by prohibition, but there is still an incentive to become a member.

KISTLER CLUB—Fritchman's rivals in slinging food. Sally serves the kind of food that Winifred would like to eat himself.

SOPH CALENDAR STAFF—Prints the kind you can get anywhere for nothing and charges you one dollar for it and most of the fellows throw it away.

CEDAR CREST—Our sister's institution. A disturbing factor in our college life.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE—An extinct body of Sophs. The paddles still remain in the hands of those who were most scared when they were freshmen.

MATH. CLUB—An organization where the leaders couldn't agree.

The Sheik Meets His Waterloo

The sheik is indeed proud of his conquests. Triumphant he boasts of them to his friends.

"Well!" says he, in a worldly wise manner, as he sits on a chair and swings one leg gracefully over the other,—“just returned from another heavy date. Quite a woman, quite a woman,” he continues, as if to soliloquize, “beautiful, to say the least. Perfect figure, wonderful personality, and the face of a Grecian goddess. Grace is a nice girl, I like her a lot—but—oh these women. The same thing always happens to me. I meet a girl, take her out once or twice and she falls desperately in love. As a result I am forced to discourage her and seek another companion. I like the companionship of a beautiful, intelligent women—but to love and cherish one for aye—ah—that is an entirely different matter. Not for me. Ho hum.”

He rises to his feet, stretches himself, and struts out of the room. He leaves his friends sitting there as he found them. Any ideas that they may have had on the subject were uncalled for,—but just as well—they had listened to the words of a sage. Their knowledge of the subject was limited and mattered not. In the light of his superior knowledge their own was put to naught, just as the tiny lights of myriads of stars are blotted out by the superior brilliance of the sun.

Time has passed and a change has come over the sheik. It is true that his clothes are pressed as neatly as ever, his shirt is as immaculately clean, his hair is combed with the same old precision, his shoes are as neatly shined and he still wears the same old kind of flashy ties; but he is no longer the carefree and contented chap of but a few months ago.

It is in his general bearing that he is markedly different. He walks with “head in the clouds” and moves as if in a haze. He must be asked a question twice before he answers. No longer does he speak of his retinue of female admirers. In fact he speaks of scarcely anything, for he seems to be continually dreaming. Strangest of all, he has been seen not with a different girl each night, as heretofore, but always in the company of the same one. There is but one answer, one explanation to this situation—his infallibility is shattered—the sheik has met his Waterloo.

While walking with his friends his attention is no longer called to a pretty face or a shapely leg. When he is asked concerning the beauty of a girl that is passing by, even though her eyes be limped pools of loveliness, bright as the stars of the milky way, though she be as alluring as a Circassian concubine, though she possesses the form of a Roman Diana with the majestic beauty of face of the Roumanian queen, in his eye she is but like an Irish washerwoman compared with his girl, the only girl, the sweetest girl in the world.

She was slow to commit herself, this Sheba of his, and it was only after many weeks of suspense for the sheik that she finally added another fraternity pin to her collection. The sheik is cured for the present at least. He has found a remedy for his egotism. He has fallen. The tables have been turned. He is the vanquished. Poor sap, how he listens as she hands him, not the apple, as did mother Eve; but Evelike, the apple sauce of an undying love, while he reciprocates with the soft soap of his first love, his one love, the greatest love in the world.—JOHN H. HERSKER, '29.

The College

Three full courses leading to degrees, Arts, Science and Philosophy. For pre-medical students the biological course is unsurpassed.

The Extension Courses

Study while you teach. The College is making a large contribution to the advancement of education by offering courses at night and on Saturday. These courses lead to the several teachers' certificates and to the college degree. The attendance for 1923-24 was 1104. The Teacher's College is held for six weeks during the Summer. Summer Session July 5-August 13. Winter courses open September 25, 1926.

The Preparatory School

Prepares young men for any college or university, but chiefly for Muhlenberg College. Situated on the campus in an excellent new, fire-proof building.

Birds at Train Time

. Ye gods! One never realizes how many fool people there are in this dumb world until that time when it becomes necessary for him to hurry in order to catch a train. At this time, of all times, he will find that there is always a group of ignoramus blocking up each and every means of ingress to the waiting room. These groups may range, in the social scale, anywhere from fifth avenue tea-hounds to Pitts-ton bolsheviks.

After one succeeds in gaining entrance, the real test begins. It seems as though the whole world is lying in wait with mischievous countenance ready at any moment to trip up the unwary traveler. If he be in a hurry the hazards are increased tenfold. Banana peels, hand bags, protruding legs, umbrellas, canes, packages, all are ready to do their bit by sending him crashing into the hilarious part of a fat old gentleman or careening over the aching corns of some sour dispositioned old maid.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, madam. So sorry." (The h—l I am. Why didn't she keep that imp of a kid out of the way)—and very graciously I excuse my clumsiness, pick little Willy up, dust him off and give him a dime. Thus the indignant mother is pacified for my having stumbled over her offspring and having kicked her in the shins. Now I'm off in another direction in a wild endeavor to reach the ticket office. "Pardon me, sir," I say to a fat old "rummy" as I give him a spiteful jab in the "belly" while wading through his little tete-a-tete with some sweet young "things" just back from finishing school for their informal loaf. No doubt it wasn't a very nice thing for me to do; but there is nothing quite so satisfying to righteous anger as to feel one's elbow sink into, that boldest of all fronts, the blubberlike abdomen of a big, fat, self-conceited Romeo. He, who, instead of promptly relieving the congestion by withdrawing to a side, insists on gathering a group of sophisticated "honies" about him in a waiting room, most often where traffic is greatest, standing usually in direct line with the ticket office. He does not fit the gathering—'cocky as h—l he stands there—though distinctly out of place—A PLYMOUTH ROCK COCK AMONGST PEA-HENS.

"Hurrah for the ladies! God bless 'm;" but keep them out of the road when I'm in a hurry, and yet—when they're pretty enough, and my fat obstacles are not too stupid looking, I usually find a more roundabout course to a ticket office—but such is the way of all gentlemen.

I am now but ten strong smelling distances away from my objective. Momma and poppa garlick and all the little "garlickers," as well as a prolific few of the immediate relation, are gathered ten deep about the ticket booth. Gosh but I feel sorry for the ticket agent as he stands there tranquilly answering questions and waiting on these dusky sons and daughters of old Rome. I cannot help but admire his unflinching stand, no less courageous than the facing of mustard gas in a trench. The noble, self-sacrificing task of a ticket agent is not lauded enough by the press, and the part he takes in the assimilation of his country's millions should be sung through the ages.

At this moment I became conscious of another odor, the fumes of a strong smelling cigar. I had never thought it pleasant before; but now it seemed a godsend, a veritable Attar of Roses in direct contrast with the whiffs of Neapolitan zephyrs I had been inhaling.

Finally the loyal sons of Garibaldi disperse and I slip up to the ticket office. I say slip because I did slip—on a "hunk" of bologna that one of the youngsters had dropped. While in the act of purchasing my ticket I noted that the nostrils of the ticket agent were plugged with cotton. To the side of him I noticed, on the counter,

A 1000 Per Cent Investment

You naturally believe in life insurance policies and fire insurance policies, but did you ever stop to figure that an insurance policy against the weather is just as important?

U. S. Government figures show that each year ONE house in every FOUR is destroyed by the ravages of weather. Is your house the fourth? It may be, but you can make it one of the other three by just one method—the use of a good, reliable paint.

an uncorked bottle and an opened roll of cotton. This, then, explained his unflinching stand against this overwhelming odds of Mediterranean breezes. Listerine saturated cotton had been suggested by an onion ad in the "Post."

Now for the Holiday rush for the train. I pulled my hat more tightly over my head and do a Red Grange line buck into the crowd of struggling humanity. The people are so eager in their attempts to board the train that it becomes almost as great a task to get off as to get on. One very eccentric lady, in particular, laden down with a great variety of assorted packages and reminding one of an overloaded moving van, made her exit from the coach onto the platform. There she indignantly surveyed the struggling sea of humanity before her. The burly conductor stemmed the tide and she, after a moment's hesitation, hurled herself, bundles and all, with a Steve Brodie-like look, into the "maelstrom."

"Heavens alive! My stars! Do be careful, people—how the fools shove—my canary birds—my canaries—you'll crush them," she pleaded, as she struggled through the tightly packed crowd, holding aloft a small shipping cage in which were contained her recently purchased songsters. "Canary bords—hell," ejaculated a tough "bozo" beside me. "Jist so dis mob keeps offen me 'dogs' I'll be all 'Jake.'"

Time has passed, I am now aboard the train, I reflect. In a reverie I picture the tough bozo easing his sore, tired and corn infested dogs. I see my fat waiting room friend crowing to the pretty peahens. I see the bundle beladen lady hurrying homeward. I see her showing the canary birds to her husband; but like all husbands he is not interested in canary birds, blue birds or any other kind of birds—his thought is elsewhere—he is thinking of—; but now my reverie is broken by the gruff voice of the conductor. I see the lights of a great city, the voice of the conductor becomes more intelligible, HAZLETON—HAZLETON—he calls, and to me that name means HOME.—HERSKER, '29.

Places of Interest off the Campus

MUHLENBERG MISSION— Built on a small bluff across the hill from the campus, led by Wurtz and other prospective ministers.

ST. JAMES CHOIR—Christman is the organist. Shick also sings and many a Muhlenberg man has been led astray.

Y. M. C. A.—A place in the heart of town where more privileges are taken than in a taxicab. Say, may I borrow your card?

SALOON AT SEVENTEENTH STREET—More than one of our students has placed his foot on the brass rail already.

CEDAR POOL—Where Bennyhoff gives swimming lessons to the untaught Frosh. No casualties so far, which speaks well for his work.

READING AND KUTZTOWN LINE—Where more than one man of Berg has operated a car about twenty miles up and down and about fifteen-mile an hour ahead. Angstadt is one of those to whom we refer.

MIKE LANE'S—The fellows from the Commons must go down there once in a while.

THE OLD MAN'S—Peanut Sundae fifteen cents. Water in a glass free.

MEALY'S DANCE HALL—This place should be condemned as only the Frosh attend and the upper classmen are used to more elite dance halls.

Are you one of them?

Applause Applause Applause It passes in regal splendor, tall, upright, handsome, indeed a marvel of natural and awe inspiring beauty, watched by the crowds of eager students, admiring, wondering, trying to see as it passes. Who is it, yes who can it be? Is it the Queen of Sheba, the Prince of Wales or perhaps the inventor of the Ford? His garb is like that of an ordinary college student, so that theory is upset. Ah! I know. Like a ray of sunshine it beams upon me. Ah! 'Tis he, a pastmaster of the art of successfully passing a college course. The palm handler who has passed without more strenuous effort other than the perfect mastery of the previously unknown device of getting from the Profs. that which hard work cannot do. Ladies and Gentlemen, 'tis no other than the beaming personality of a successful hand-shaker. (Substitute names as occasion demands.)

A Male Siren

This man, all by himself, is one of the greatest portable necking parties on the campus. He does not possess in his general make-up, the semblance of one given over to that diversion, but rather his conservative dress, high forehead and horn-rimmed glasses produce an innocuous, scholarly appearance. This brief description may tend to make my committal seem inconsistent, but contrary to nature's laws he "necks," not a buxom young debutante, but we, the members of his Math. class. If you want him to explain a problem, he will blithely waft over you in bounding rhythmic strides, that makes him look as if he was chasing Peter Pan, and in a paternal manner slip his arm around your shoulder, moving his hand about in various directions while explaining the question that you "stumped." This consuetudinary habit of his may be the result of preoccupation, but I have my doubts.

He is one of the wearers of the "coveted" M, but has no claim to the privilege of being considered an athlete. The Ciarla of long ago reveals the fact that he was manager of one of our less notable elevens of the past, in the days when men were men, and women were double-breasted and a touchdown counted five points.

It cannot be denied that his clairvoyance and perceptibility in mathematical problems is astounding, but we students are aware of this and do not have to have it impressed upon us as he so often does. When we have a written paper, his pet expression is, "Well, you should be through now, as I have worked the four, and you should have your two done at least." This just grates on everybody's nerves, and as a result does not create such a favorable impression on his students.

He is a native of a town that is named after food that we have frequently served to us at the Commons. I don't think he bases his claim as a musical critic on that fact, but it is well known that his spare time is spent listening to the sublime strains of the opera. May he rest in peace.

Putting Them Together

An editor, just about to go to press, "pied" a couple of articles, one concerning a public sale and the other a write-up of a wedding. He asked the office devil to get the two together—and he did.

Here is how he put the two together, and the mixture was not known to the editor until an angry preacher and the mother of the bride appeared on the scene:

"William Smith and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at a public auction at my barn two miles east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests including three milch cows, six mules and a bob-sled. Rev. Jackson tied the municipal knot with about 200 feet of hay rope; the bridal couple left on one John Deere plow for an extended trip with terms to suit the purchaser. They will be at home to their friends with one good wheelbarrow and a few kitchen utensils, after ten months from date of sale, to responsible parties and some fifty chickens."—Exchange.

SWEET REVENGE

Little Jack pointed at his sister's sweetheart, Mr. Jones.

"That guy kicked me yesterday," he snarled, "but I got even with him, you bet your life. I mixed quinine with my sister's face powder."

" . . . TURNETH AWAY WRATH"

A local lady was waiting to buy a ticket at the theatre, when a stranger bumped her shoulder. She glared at him, feeling that it was done intentionally.

"Well," he growled, "don't eat me up."

"You are in no danger, sir," she said, "I am a Jewess."

FOR SALE. ALL MUST GO WITHIN THIRTY DAYS. CLEARANCE SALE.

FINE TROTTERS, PONIES, HORSES

This sale includes everything used by the present Juniors; also with each sale is included an efficient rider and full instructions. We specialize in horses with recognized pedigrees that date back as far as LIVY, CICERO, HORACE and SAL-LUST. The whole cavalry under the command of Lt. Charles Shimer will be disbanded and all horses sold at a sacrifice. As a special inducement we offer at a low rate those thoroughbreds formerly used by Chaplains Kapp, Jones and Heist. Althof offers for sale one handsome pacer personally trained in his stables; this goes to the highest bidder. Those used by Lumley, Andrews and Geissinger will be sold exceptionally cheap due to blindness, causing the riders to stumble in a hot contest. We specially recommend the one used by Wurtz, since with it goes the magical charm of handshaking, and the art of bluffing. This sale will be personally conducted by Kistler, whose knowledge of horse-breeding is astounding.

Soliloquy of an Inebriated Sophomore

If I speak with the tongues of Juniors and of Seniors but have not studied, I am become a babbling baby or a studdering simp. And if I have the gift of gab and know all mysteries and knowledge of the art of bluffing and have all faith in the art but have not studied, I have flunked. And if I bestow words of praise upon my professor and if I give my hand to him in greeting it proviteth me not. Bluffing suffers much and is amusing, bluffing is not envied, is not vaunted, is puffed up, becometh itself unseemingly, seeketh A's, is provoked when it taketh account of D's. Rejoiceth in flowery language, but rejoiceth not in quizzes. Bluffing ever fails. Whether there be ponies they shall be done away with, whether there be cribs they shall be taken, and whether there be exams bluffing ceases. For a bluffer knows in part and speaks in part, but when exams come that which is bluffing shall be done away. When I was a freshman I bluffed as a freshman, I cribbed as a freshman, I flunked as a freshman, but now that I am become a Sophomore I put away useless ponies, for now I see darkly in the distance, but when mid-years is come, then face to face shall I know fully what I now know in part. Now abideth these three things, Bluffing, Cribbing and Study, but the greatest of these is Study.—S. R.

If this Track Meet Could Be Held at Muhlenberg

The results of a track meet at Muhlenberg in which every one would have an equal chance, would read somewhat in the following manner. There could be no doubt about the results being correct if such a track meet were possible. The winners of this mythical meet have been selected with the greatest possible forethought and most careful deliberation.

Heist has been carefully selected as the winner of the 2-mile crawl.

The 32-inch sprint has been awarded to Lenge.

Honors in the pole-vault would be carried off by Barnes. Record, 1 foot 9 inches.

There can be no doubt about Beck winning the button-holing contest.

Neely wins the sleeping contest, handicapped as he is by flat feet. Fortunately for him Hirnisey is no longer here to participate.

Handshaking Contest claims Althof as a winner. Wurtz is barred on account of professionalism.

The hair raising match favors Dick Schoenly with a brass medal. No competition.

Wilkinson would naturally place first in the "Charleston" contest. His steps are all original.

Shimer easily carries off award in the long distance trot. His distance would probably amount to three laps around the Latin room. We figure that Gapp's pony would drop over at the end of about two laps from abuse and over work.

CLIPPINGS

When a diplomat says yes,
He means perhaps—
If he says perhaps,
He means no.
If he says no, he is not a diplomat.
When a lady says no,
She means perhaps—
When she says perhaps,
She means yes.
And when she says yes, she is not a lady.
—Pitt Panther.

Simpson—"What do you intend to do during the summer?"

Althof—"I'll find some odd jobs to do."

Simpson—"For instance."

Althof—"Massage the cat's ankle, wash the bee's knees, singe the snake's whiskers, trim the sardine's toenails, and can the applesauce."

Beyer—"You thought I didn't know."

Prof.—"I didn't know you thought."

Barndt—"I have one great problem in life."

Meyers—"Where does she live?"

Angstadt—"The tense is perfect."

Dean—"You mean the answer is imperfect, the tense is perfect."

Dean—"Who were the 'centumviri' of which Cicero wrote?"

Meyers—"They were men who were 100 years old."

Bowman—"Explain the meaning of Bean Culture."

Kistler—"That is a vulgar expression used instead of Mental Development."

Benfield—"Every time I open my mouth to talk I get twenty-five dollars."
